1965-66 was a great year for State . . .
the 75th Anniversary Celebration, with the Diamond Jubilee Cowboy Week . . . and most of all, it was The Year We BEAT OU . . .

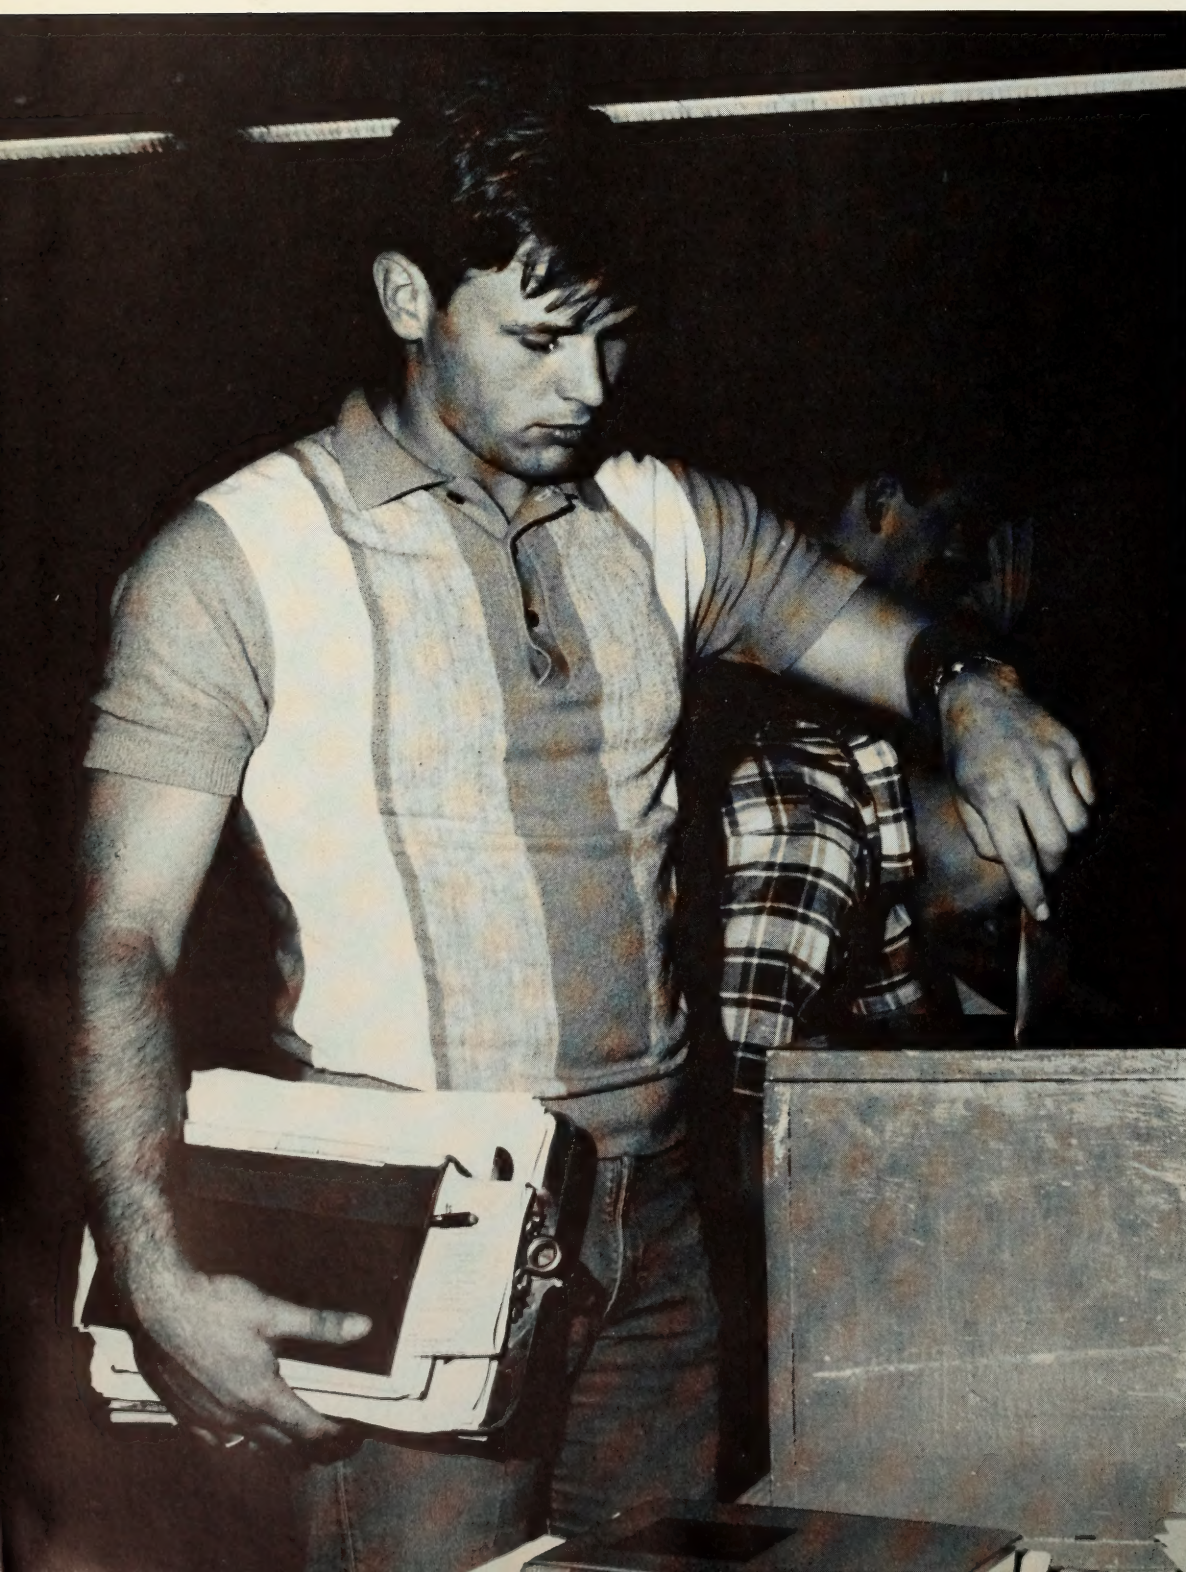

the fall was a busy time for all students as they started worrying about grades and the draft . . . but there was time for play: the Student Union Fair, cheerleader tryouts, the mad craze of skateboards . . . the start of football, even if the Tigers skinned us . . . but there was a serious side, whether in a silent moment in chapel or sitting quietly by Theta watching the ducks glide by . . .

there was controversy over the elections . . .
whether or not to have campaign signs, which party to join . . . but the football games were the real battles . . . Tulsa really made us happy, but that was the only one at the start of the season . . .

homecoming was something . . . staying up all night to poke one more flower . . . fighting the mobs to look at decorations . . . oohing and aahing during the parade and waving at friends on, in, and around floats . . . but the thing that will be remembered was The Game . . . 39 seconds before the end, we had upset Number 3 in the nation, and then they scored . . .

but Nebraska was just a start . . . we realized we had a team to be proud of . . . K-State bowed . . . and then Walt got his 2,000 yards and Durkee, mighty Durkee, put his toe to the ball and it was 17-16 . . .

every once in twenty, the campus goes wild . . . the brew of victory was sweet that night . . . there were warm days at the lake . . . and on campus . . .

but OSU is not just Stillwater . . .
it reaches to Ethiopia at Haile Selassie I University . . . there the students have similar programs . . . except that they are graduated by an Emperor . . .

instead of "If you are taller than the man in front of you" . . . the cry is often "Hurry up and wait" . . . however, not all the campus is so oriented . . . Key-Board brought two different groups to campus to entertain the troops . . .

rush week '65 was interesting from both sides . . .
the rushers and rushees . . . men rode in style while the girls walked . . .
under the watchful eyes of the fraternities . . .
Thursday was the big day for all . . .

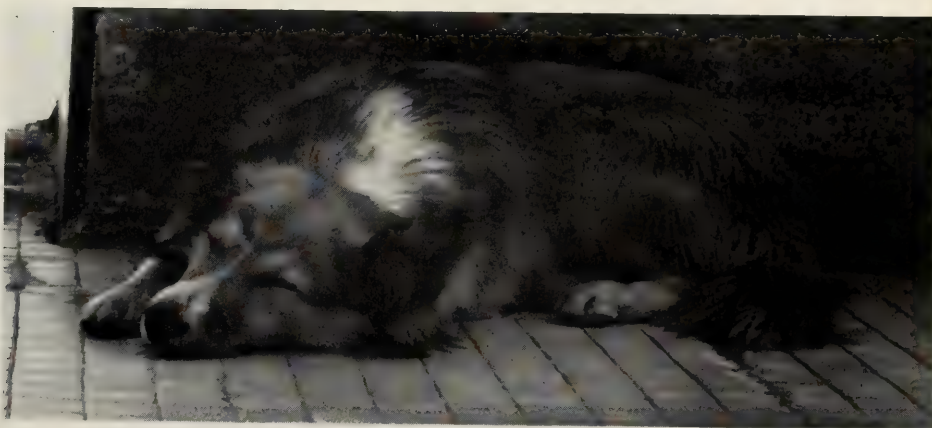

and then the weeks of school set in . . .
lake parties, often impromptu, offered diversion to some . . . Angels rose early to practice their stuff . . .
while others had trouble sandwiching it all in . . .
yet there was always one who found the answer . . .

football was the great pastime . . .
 Cooper and Cutchin watched over the team . . .
 as they beat Tulsa . . . the cheerleaders tried all through the season to raise the spirits . . .
 and there was yet another project
 by the freshman class . . .

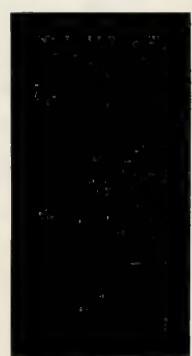

“pants in the library” was the cry . . .
carried to all by the promoters of Cowboy Week . . .
so, while the campus went groady,
the senators arrested those not in proper attire . . .
Pete enjoyed the whole activities, talking and shooting it up . . .

SUAB sponsored its annual fair . . .
 where else could you watch dancing maidens . . .
 dunk an Angel or a KD . . . play bingo . . . or see Carla crowned Fairest of the Fair to some, the year was not just for work . . .

there was that last little finesse on four,
in the cafeteria, at the house . . . music was heard in the fieldhouse or in the Foundation . . .
and there was always the library mob . . .

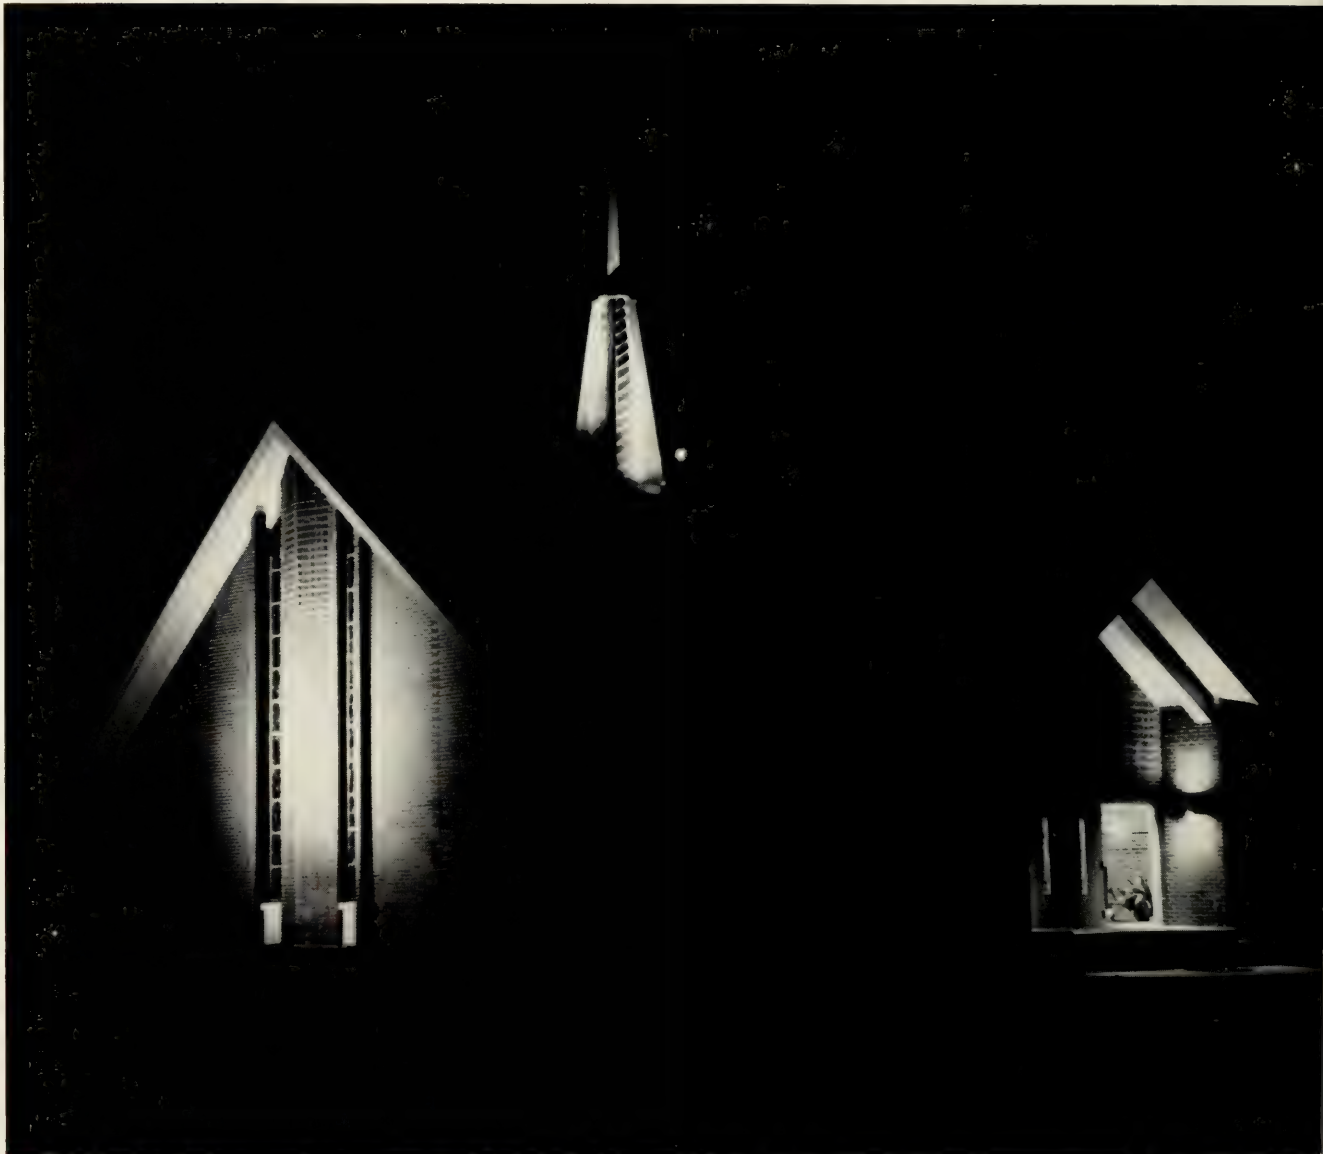

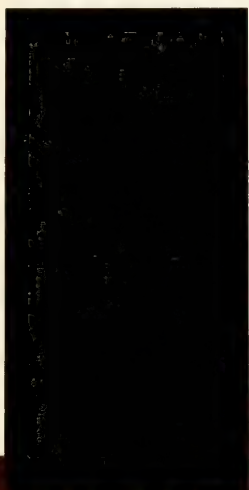

Stillwater can be beautiful at times . . .
a peaceful church at night . . .
the time when it snowed before Christmas when no one was here to enjoy it . . .
and in the fall when the trees by Williams came into their own . . .

this was the year of the exam . . .

first semester, tests as usual; second semester, a comprehensive finals week . . . people studied in the library, on the lawn . . . some people didn't study . . . they thought silently . . .
they talked in groups . . .

greeks and independents had their fun and games . . .

people raced in front of Willard . . .

people dressed in front of Willard . . .

people tugged in front of Willard . . .

there was a cry for culture at the cow college . . .

Williams, Gardiner, Crutchfield torn down . . .

new fine arts center planned . . . Allied Arts came back with Danish Gym Team . . .

Key-Board with Kingston Trio . . .

top group brought by Allied Arts was the Serendipity Singers . . .
singing of flying festoons, boa constrictors, crooked houses . . .

if there was a need for culture, it was filled . . .
by Jeannie Cooper . . . West Side Story, Bye-Bye Birdie . . . and this year, The Unsinkable Molly Brown . . .
our hats are off to this girl whose acting outclassed anybody on campus . . .

there were things to remember . . .
 pretty girls in majorettes uniforms . . .
 the clapper for the Old Central bell . . .
 the home wrestling match with OU . . .
 the miserable Oklahoma weather . . .

everybody had their bad days . .
animals reminded us of things we would be better off forgetting . . .
like crowded libraries studying for finals . . .

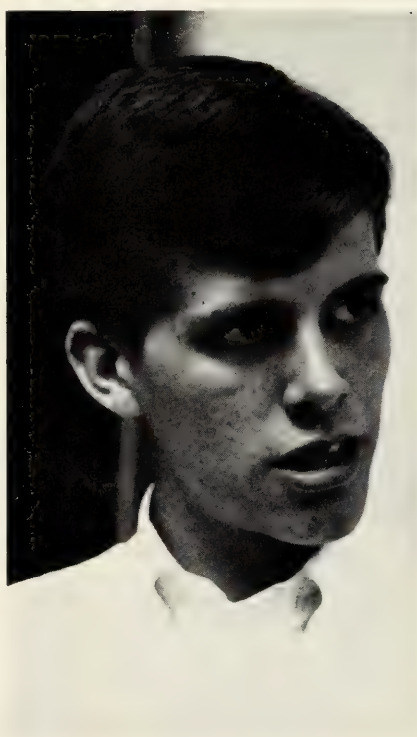

the year was one of end . . .
one of change . . . in the Spring
the Board of Regents chose Dr. Robert B. Kamm to be president of Oklahoma State University . . .
setting off a chain reaction that will carry State to the top . . .

1965-66 was a great year . . .
17-16, Kamm, finals, Viet Nam . . .
we have tried to bring it to you as best we could . . .
and here it is . . . REDSKIN 1966.

CHAPTER ONE

LEADERS

THE HONORABLE HENRY BELLMON
Governor of Oklahoma

A former Aggie, Governor Bellmon returned to campus to ride in the Homecoming parade.

Governor Henry Bellmon

Taking time from his busy schedule, Bellmon made several speeches here, like the one to high school journalists.

Seventy-five years ago OSU was established as a vital link in an educational system designed to bring opportunity for intellectual attainment and for developing new knowledge within the reasonable reach of all Oklahoma citizens. Since that time the State of Oklahoma has emerged as one of the truly great states in our nation.

The contribution which educated men and women have made to the progress and growth of the U.S. and of Oklahoma is immense. With the store of knowledge, and the instruments now available for its application, the potential for the future progress is infinite.

It is with pleasure and pride that I convey sincere congratulations to the members of the Class of 1966 upon the success you have achieved in earning the degrees you have diligently sought, and best wishes to the remainder of the student body as you strive to achieve this high goal.

HENRY BELLMON
Governor

DR. OLIVER S. WILLHAM
President of Oklahoma State University

Oliver Willham accepted an orange cowboy hat in preparation for Western Week.

President Oliver S. Willham

Accompanied by Abe Hesser, President Willham presented the Blue Key Parents' Day awards during the TU half-time.

A remarkable career of service to Oklahoma State University is being completed this year by Oliver S. Willham.

His tenure includes 31 years as a faculty member, 27 years as an administrator, and 14 years as president. He retires at the age 65 on June 30, 1966.

During his presidency the University has doubled its student enrollment, constructed $40 million in buildings, granted 35,000 graduate and undergraduate degrees, enlarged its international education programs, and achieved cooperation and stability in faculty, student and alumni relations.

Indicative of Dr. Willham, who is the first full-fledged OSU graduate to become president of the University and the only president to retire in office, is a statement made in 1950 by former President Bennet: "There is no one I know who comes to work earlier, works harder, stays later, and has the best interest of the University more in heart than Oliver Willham."

Studies Ended In Millions For Colleges

A series of self-studies begun four years ago by the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education have provided information to support fiscal requests for faculty, buildings and other educational needs of the 18 state-supported colleges and universities and seven other agencies under the coordination of this board.

The 1965 Oklahoma Legislature responded by increasing state funds for operations, and state voters have approved a bond issue to provide $38.5 million for college buildings.

This Board was established by a 1944 amendment to the state constitution. It administers three senior institutions and five junior colleges, which this year enrolled more than one-fourth of the 86,363 students attending college in Oklahoma.

College of Agriculture

O. BURR ROSS, PhD.
Dean, College of Agriculture

College Emphasizes Science and Business

Trends in agriculture today point toward more emphasis on science and business. Research conducted by highly trained scientists gives rise to most of the advancement which has taken place in agriculture. Translation of research findings into information applied to food and fiber production has revolutionized farming and ranching operations during recent decades. Agriculture has become a complex business operation both on and off the farm. Successful farm management requires both skill and knowledge to utilize effectively the technology and resources that are an essential part of modern agriculture. Likewise, there is a vast array of industries and business firms that constitute a major part of today's agriculture. Wide choices are available to students interested in working with the nation's most basic industry. With a 17% increase in agricultural enrollment this year, greater attention is given to student advisement to help personalize one's educational experience. New introductory courses that combine major areas of agriculture will be offered next year. More students are turning to graduate study after finishing the BS degree because of increasing educational requirements for most jobs.

Increasing emphasis is being placed on courses which expand the student's knowledge in such fields as communications, humanities and the social sciences. Students are being asked to have a greater part in the program of the College of Agriculture through an advisory board of 12 outstanding juniors and seniors who advise the dean of agriculture. Constant attention is given to improvement of teaching, revisions of the curriculum and developing strong faculty-student relationships.

Students in the College of Agriculture continued to learn the best procedures in grooming and showing prize sheep and cattle.

Much intensive research was carried on in horticulture this year, with the purpose of increasing yield and resistance to diseases.

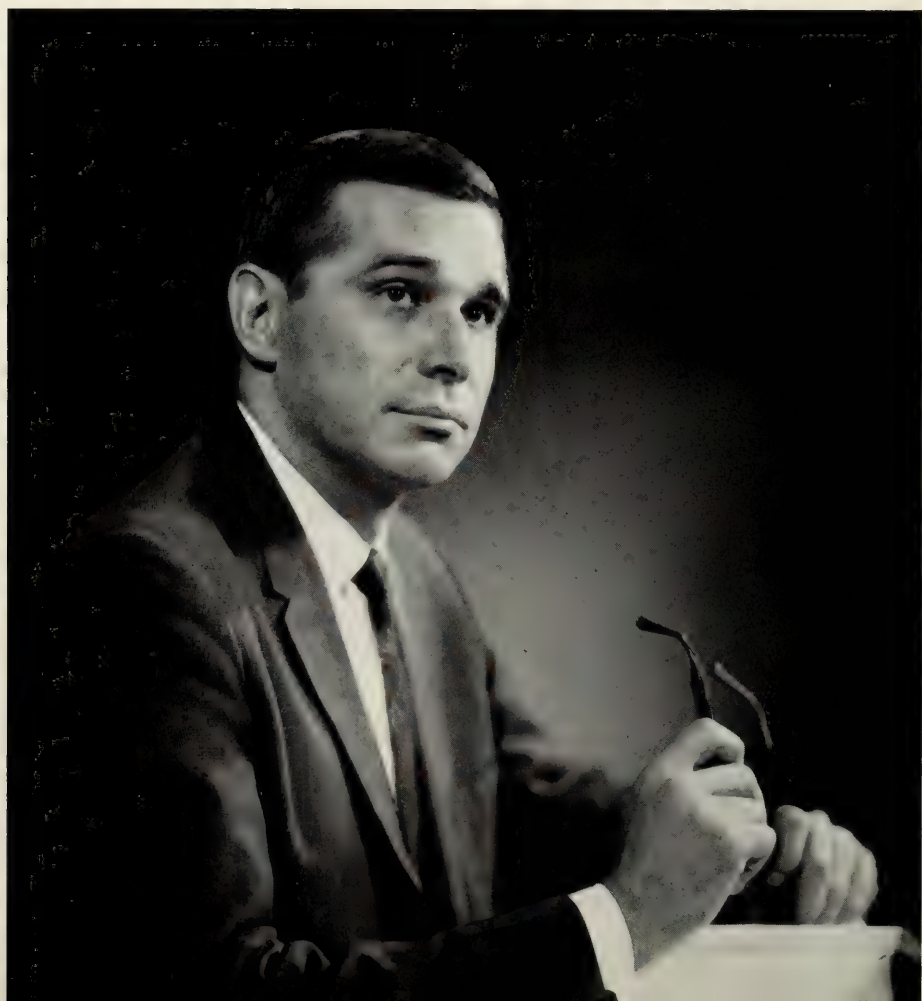

Arts and Sciences programs provide the students with many opportunities for cultural advancements. During the Christmas season Handel's "Messiah" was jointly presented by the University Choir and Symphony.

College of Arts and Sciences

JAMES R. SCALES, PhD
Dean, College of Arts and Sciences

Add New Foreign Language Requirement

This year the helm of the College of Arts and Sciences was formally relinquished by Dr. Robert B. Kamm, now vice-president for academic affairs, to Dr. James R. Scales, formerly president of Oklahoma Baptist University.

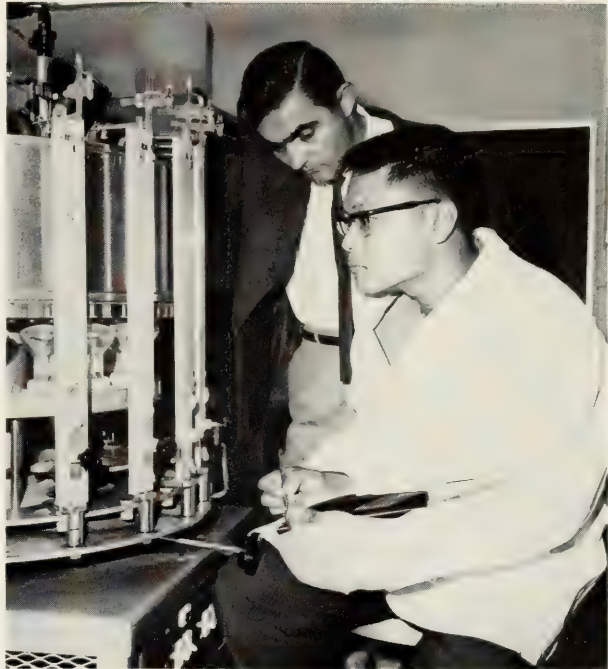

Also new to the College of Arts and Sciences this year is an addition to the bachelor of arts requirement: ten hours of foreign language. To further update the college, honors courses were added in math, English, chemistry, botany, political science, and the humanities. This is in addition to the honors program for outstanding freshmen and sophomores.

The development of the whole individual through his scientific and mathematical skills, his skill in music and writing and his hidden talents is the object of the College of Arts and Sciences of Oklahoma State University. Students are encouraged to recognize their talents and perfect them, a step in the direction of securing the intangible.

The College of Arts and Sciences is responsible for providing basic general education to all students at Oklahoma State University, as well as specialized instruction for majors in forty-five disciplines.

Because the College of Arts and Sciences is so intimately involved with the aesthetic and creative side of man, it cannot fail to encourage individual talent. It is a difficult task, as enrollment has surged upward to 4,153 majors.

This, the largest of the University's component parts is proud to have shared in bringing Oklahoma's intellectual climate from arrow to atoms—and now into outer space—better equipped to meet the pace, and perhaps change the pace, of a frenzied and complex society.

Graduate students worked on Stillwater's water purification problem. Projects like these gave valuable practical experience.

By learning sculpting and painting, the liberal arts major acquired the tools to express himself more fully.

To meet the expanding needs of the College of Business, the new building started construction in the summer of 1965. The new 75,000 sq. foot building stands as proof of Oklahoma State's expanding facilities.

College of Business

RICHARD W. POOLE, PhD
Dean, College of Business

College is Second Largest on Campus

A milestone was reached in terms of enrollment in the College of Business this year as 2,243 students were registered, making the college the second largest academic division of the university. Current enrollment represents more than a 25% increase over last year.

A new College of Business building containing 75,000 square feet and costing approximately 1.33 million dollars is now under construction. Special seminar and case study rooms will be provided in the new structure, along with research facilities and office space.

Although important, the physical and quantitative aspects represent only one phase of the growth and development of the college. Continued emphasis is placed upon curricular improvement and the maintenance of a highly qualified faculty. Many of our faculty members are nationally recognized authors and consultants. Research and extension work is an integral part of the professional responsibility of the faculty. Such activity complements and reinforces the teaching function.

A Business Hall of Fame was inaugurated during the past year as a part of the 50th anniversary celebration of the founding of the college. Seven outstanding graduates and successful business and professional men were so honored. These, as well as future honorees, will have a picture and plaque, which is inscribed "For eminent achievement and exemplary service to business and society" placed in the Hall of Fame in the new building.

The new dean of the College of Business is Dr. Richard W. Poole, professor of economics, who assumed the deanship of the college on September 1, succeeding Dr. Eugene L. Swearingen.

Many hours of practice on modern business equipment such as calculators provided the student with assets he found invaluable.

Now is the time . . . and so it goes for many a student in the College of Business. Regular drill helped to improve typing skills.

A good first-grade teacher must effectively communicate with her students, so she must get down to their level. To facilitate this, the library offers a room with children's books for education majors to do research on.

College of Education

HELMER E. SORENSEN, PhD
Dean, College of Education

Unique Individuals Prepare to Educate

Teaching is an old but satisfying profession. A rapidly increasing number of able students are discovering that the College of Education at Oklahoma State offers excellent programs for preparation of elementary school teachers, secondary school teachers, college teachers, and school service personnel such as school administrators, librarians, and counselors. It is not strange, therefore, that school officials from all over the nation come to the campus seeking to employ our graduates.

Though the enrollment in the College of Education is growing rapidly, the faculty still finds time to give each student the individual attention he deserves. Though the vigorous, resourceful, dedicated faculty in this college is gaining respect for its research and writing as well as for its service to public schools, it would like to be remembered as a faculty with concern for each student as a unique individual. One never knows exactly what one will remember, but, you can rest assured that each and every graduate will remember nine big weeks of testing, better known as "the block." The block, or student teaching, as it is officially recognized, consists of on-the-job practice.

Students in the College of Education are encouraged to become involved in campus organizations and activities. An unusually large number of majors in the College of Education are selected for positions of leadership in student organizations.

Thus while not neglecting academic achievement, it is hoped that the student will develop skills which will stand him in good stead. It is believed that the attention given to the full development of each individual will go far to produce outstanding citizens and able teachers.

For the undecided, one visit to the dean's office usually resulted in a four-year plan of study for another education major.

Many of the student teachers who were on the block found that learning to work with clay and other art mediums was fun.

The brow wrinkled with concentration is exemplary of the engineering student deep in his work. Undivided attention is required for the pursuit of knowledge in the technical and intricate field of engineering.

College of Engineering

MELVIN R. LOHMANN, PhD
Dean, College of Engineering

College is a Marketplace for New Ideas

The Oklahoma State University College of Engineering was dedicated to afford individuals the opportunity for engineering education and, through research, as a market place for ideas, to serve the State of Oklahoma in its industrial and economic development.

The College of Engineering enrollment—the eight engineering schools, the School of Architecture, and the Stillwater Technichal Institute and Oklahoma Branch Technical Institute—exceeded 3,000 students. Of this total, more than 500 are graduate students, giving Oklahoma State one of the largest engineering graduate programs in the nation. For the past four years Oklahoma State University has produced more MS and PhD degrees in engineering than any other school west of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio rivers. Several graduate engineering programs helped foster this growth. For example, Oklahoma State is one of few universities in the nation which supports its own postdoctoral fellowship program in engineering. Established this past year, this program provided special opportunities in research and advanced study to recipients of the engineering doctorate.

Additional facilities recently provided by OSU's new five-story Engineering building enables the faculty to improve and expand this complete program of engineering education which is dedicated "... for a greater Oklahoma." New laboratories included areas for research in thermal radiation, plasma dynamics, energy conversion, fluid mechanics, electronic computers, nuclear reactor analysis, work measurement and analysis, structures, industrial wastes control, to mention only a few of the numerous fields of specialization.

An engineer without his slide rule, pencil, and graph paper would be lost. These three elements are essential for all.

Civil engineering students grouped into surveying gangs found that mapping the campus was beneficial to future understanding.

Graduate students in engineering and other technical fields spent many a night poring over their decks of IBM cards for use on either the 1620 in the Engineering Building, or the new 7040 in the basement of the Home Ec Building.

Graduate College

JAMES H. BOGGS, PhD
Dean, Graduate College

Program Reaches New Level of Maturity

Graduate work at Oklahoma State University has experienced enormous changes in recent years. The program has reached a new level of maturity with important developments in many phases of its activity. During the year, the name was changed from the Graduate School to the Graduate College, in order to more appropriately describe the activities of the administrative unit. Extensive remodeling and expansion of the Graduate College offices was done to more adequately provide services to the increasing graduate enrollment of the university. Committees of the graduate faculty and the graduate council studied many phases of the operation during the year. Special attention was paid to redesign many of the Graduate College publications and forms to make sure that the graduate student, as well as the prospective graduate student, received the most appropriate information to assist them in their activities.

The University has granted more than 10,000 advanced degrees of which the doctors degrees are now approaching 800. The current level of degree production is between 500 and 600 masters degrees and between 125 and 175 doctors degrees per year. This degree production represents the work of approximately 275 graduate faculty members and 180 associate graduate faculty members. The university offers a large range of degree programs. The Masters degree is offered in 60 areas, and the doctors degree is offered in 33 areas. Of particular importance to students is a new approval during the year of the PhD degree in sociology.

An additional new offering came in the approval of the master of arts in speech. This program offers a wide variety of advanced training to students interested in speech, including courses in speech therapy.

A grad student has to maintain a 3.0 and this means that he will use his individual desk in the library often.

The heart of an individual graduate degree is the thesis or problem, requiring many hours of original research.

FRCD majors in the College of Home Economics found their weekly hour of observing children in the University nursery more entertaining than classwork. Students couldn't help but remember those days gone by.

Division of Home Economics

LELA O'TOOLE, PhD
Dean, College of Home Economics

College Education Enriches Family Living

The Division of Home Economics consists of the College of Home Economics and the School of Hotel and Restaurant Administration. Both units function to educate students for the professions and have an outstanding reputation throughout the nation. Students in each unit benefit by an effective combination of liberal and professional education.

Home economics is concerned with the family and the home in society. The new curriculum in home economics places emphasis upon individual and cultural development, and preparation for family living. The intercultural-international dimension of the curriculum is an additional new emphasis. Current curriculum revision in the School of Hotel and Restaurant Administration will enrich this program.

New demands for faculty leadership are related to child development programs at federal, state and local levels, and gainful employment of women at local levels. Both require leadership in training programs, research, and experimental centers.

The College of Home Economics is continually expanding basic research which contributes to enrichment of family life. Superior faculty enhances the contribution in teaching, research and extension.

During the past eight years the faculty has cooperated with the Ford Foundation and the Pakistan government in the development of three separate home economics colleges in East and West Pakistan with successful achievements. Additional requests for similar service in Latin America provide an historical challenge to Home Economics. Ford Foundation support is enabling faculty to expand and make their contribution more effective in international education and service.

"Hospitality Days" sponsored by the FNIA department, brought outstanding speakers in the foods field to the campus.

To pepper or not to pepper, that was the question. For two students in cooking class it was an important topic of discussion.

When working with large animals, there are certain ways to handle them so they don't hurt themselves during an operation, and these and other techniques were taught to students by live demonstrations during class.

College of Veterinary Medicine

GLENN C. HOLM, DVM
Dean, College of Veterinary Medicine

Students Began Operations in New Wing

Graduates of the College of Veterinary Medicine will have attained a high technical competence and a sound background in the application of their new skills. These professionally trained persons, representatives of OSU, will have earned a degree of knowledge that involves several fields of learning.

The practice, service and research opportunities for doctors of veterinary medicine continue to increase. The demand for men and women possessing these special skills far exceeds the supply of new graduates. It is hoped that Oklahoma State University can meet the growing demand of applicants. Increase in teaching space and staff would permit more individuals to enter their chosen field of training and occupy some of the positions now going unfilled.

The new research wing of the Veterinary Medical Center is now fully operable. This unit was financed with federal grant funds being matched by state bond and appropriated monies. The building and equipment cost approximately $2,000,000. It is a three-story brick and cast stone structure with almost 60,000 square feet of floor space.

The federal grant was made to provide more space for research in the health sciences. Research in surgery, pathology, physiology, pharmacology, toxicology and basic nutrition is being conducted in this unit at the present time. New projects, with federal support, are to be found in most of the departmental programs in the College of Veterinary Medicine. These investigations supplement studies supported by state appropriated funds. All projects are conducted to find answers that will aid the Oklahoma livestock industry and, at the same time, safeguard human health.

Though giving shots and medicine seems mundane, they are two of the most needed of all jobs in small animal clinics.

Boston Terriers are one of the most temperamental breeds of dogs, and vets must learn to care for each and every ailment.

The "learn by doing" method of instruction allows future technicians and craftsman to acquire skills in shops filled with equipment identical to that which they will use after they graduate into the world of industry.

Oklahoma State Tech

WAYNE MILLER
Director, Okmulgee Branch,
OSU Tech

Student Center, Men's Dorm Completed

Oklahoma State Tech adds practicality to education in teaching future technicians and tradesmen the "How" along with the Why."

At the Okmulgee branch, OSU Tech, are enrolled 2,300 students following different paths to future success through studying the more than 30 various courses offered.

During the two years or less required to complete any of the technical, vocational or business courses offered, students gain both practical and theoretical knowledge. Classrooms feature the latest in industrial equipment so that practical application is made as theory is studied.

Scientists and engineers need the support of many more technicians. Conservative estimates show that it takes at least seven technicians to support each engineer. Nearly one-third of the entire work force are those with technological knowledge and manual skills. This has resulted in national attention being focused on Tech and a continual increase in enrolment.

As Tech begins its 20th year, the enrollment is five times greater than that of the first year, keeping officials constantly looking forward to increased facilities to meet the growing need.

New classroom shops featuring the most modern industrial-type equipment for students to use gives them experience for industry.

Additions to the sprawling campus, which has 17 acres under roof, include the culinary arts laboratory, automotive building which houses four large service-shops, modern electricity-electronics classrooms and a new wing on the diesel mechanics building.

To meet the changing needs of students and increasing enrollment are the student center, completed this year, and the new dual-wing men's dormitory.

Practical skills are taught in all courses. A typical study project involves student participation in campus construction.

Classrooms for automotive study are spacious industrial-type shops in which students make practical application of theory.

ACADEMIC COUNCIL

Council Is President Willham's Innovation

The president of Oklahoma State University has always had the advice of other administrators in determining policies and carrying out the operations of the University since its founding in 1890.

Soon after becoming president of the University in 1952, Dr. Willham decided upon a formal organization which he named the Academic Council. In addition to the deans of the six undergraduate colleges on the main campus, the dean of the professional College of Veterinary Medicine, and the dean of the Graduate College, President Willham added other administrators. These included the vice-presidents, the registrar, dean of student affairs, director of public information, the vice-chairman, vice-chairman-elect and secretary of the Faculty Council. Currently, there are 20 members of the Academic Council, including the assistant to the president, Kenneth Ricker, and Willham. This council meets monthly, except during August, and is on call.

Historically, the functions of this council have been basic to resident instruction, and to faculty and student relations. This has included determining standards for student admissions and retention, establishing the academic calendar, approving curricula, course changes, graduation requirements, and the candidates for degrees.

FACULTY COUNCIL

Council Represents General Faculty Views

The Faculty Council is the working arm of the general faculty. It is composed of the president of the University, the vice-chairman; the vice-chairman-elect; the secretary; and twenty-two members who are elected by the five subject matter groups, and seven undergraduate colleges of the University.

The primary function of the Faculty Council is to formulate and recommend policies to the University administration concerning those matters which are of vital importance to the general faculty. These include:

(1) Academic policies, such as admission, retention, and graduation requirements, the academic calendar, honors programs, research, and curricula.

- (2) Policies affecting faculty morale and welfare, such as budgeting of funds, the selection of administrative officers, salaries, promotions, tenure, retirement, leave, and policies affecting campus facilities and the library.
- (3) Policies affecting student morale and welfare, such as guidance, discipline, health, employment, awards, social and athletic activities, student government, and intercollegiate athletics.

ROBERT KAMM
Vice-President for Academic Affairs

BURR ROSS
Vice-President for Agricultural Sciences

University Administrators Unite Campus

Throughout the campus, the university administrators were found solving the major and minor problems which continuously arose. In order to have a co-ordinated program each of the independent functions of the University must be efficiently run by an expert in that field.

Upon the July 1, 1966 retirement of Dr. Oliver S. Willham, the vice-president for academic affairs, Dr. Robert B. Kamm, was unanimously selected as the new president of Oklahoma State.

Kamm has 18 years of educational experience at three universities, Texas A&M, Drake and OSU. As dean of A&S at OSU, Kamm was responsible for 60 percent of undergraduate instruction for the entire University, as well as for research and public service programs in arts and sciences.

STUDENT SENATE

Government Became More Progressive

Student government at Oklahoma State University is divided into three distinct and separate branches. The executive branch is under the direction of the president of the Student Association. Each department of the executive branch has a head which is appointed by the president of the Student Association. In addition to directing the executive branch, the president of the Student Association delivers a "State of the Campus Address" and represents the student body in working with faculty and administration.

A second branch of student government is the legislative branch, which consists of senators elected from various colleges and living groups. The vice-president of the Student Association serves as president of the Student Senate. Legislative acts passed by the Student Senate may be reviewed and vetoed by the Student Association president subject to overruling by a two-thirds majority of the Senate. The Student Senate has the power to pass any legislation, making rules and laws, which will affect the student body as a whole.

The judicial branch of student government consists of a Supreme Court and a Student Association Lower Court.. The Supreme Court has original jurisdiction and can review the constitutionality of legislation passed by the Senate and decide other issues brought before it.

REDSKIN Congratulates

RAY PREWETT . . . for his contribution to student government. Ray served as president of the Student Association and as Agriculture Senator. He is also a member of Blue Key, FarmHouse fraternity and was listed in Who's Who.

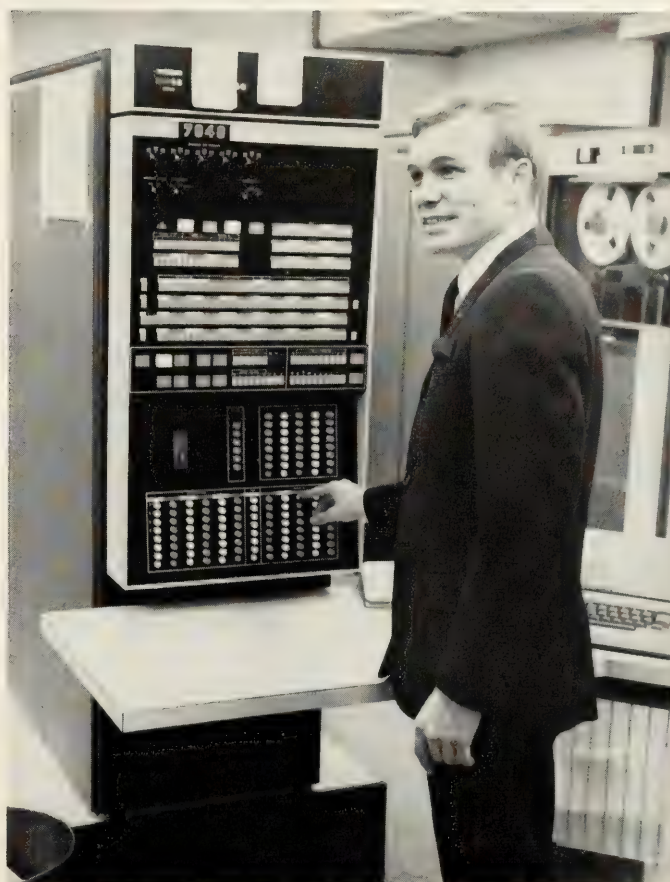

CHARLES DURKEE . . . and the OSU football team for the combination of a magic toe and team spirit which led the Cowboys to a 17-16 victory over the Sooners for the first time in 20 years.

CHERYL BITTLE . . . for her leadership of independent women. Cheryl was president of Murray Hall, WRHA Senator, and a member of the AWS Legislative Board. She was also a member of Mortar Board, Home Economics Student Council, twirler in the OSU Marching Band, and in Who's Who.

JIM HOLLAND . . . as an outstanding student in the College of Engineering. Jim was an Engineering Senator, vice-chairman of the Student Senate, president of Omicron Delta Kappa, president of AIChE, and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. In addition to being listed in Who's Who, he graduated number one in chemical engineering.

JEANNIE COOPER . . . for the bright sparkle her enthusiasm and red hair added to the OSU campus during her years as cheerleader. Jeannie, a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, has been active in Theatre Guild and had the lead or major parts in many campus productions. Many will remember her as Molly Brown. She has been a REDSKIN Beauty and Miss OSU. Among her other accomplishments are Mortar Board and Who's Who, while maintaining a 3.9 grade point average.

REDSKIN Congratulates

REG POORBAUGH . . . for his contribution to independent students in the area of student government. Reg has served as president of the Independent Party, MRHA Senator and as legislative advisor to Student Senate. He was coordinator of Cowboy days, Blue Key Parents' Day, and, in addition, was president of Blue Key and listed in Who's Who.

RICK MESSER . . . for his contribution to the College of Business as president of the Business Student Council and chairman of Business and Professional Week. Rick has been director of Key Board Commission, president of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, treasurer of Blue Key, president of Intercollegiate Knights, and Who's Who.

AWS

Eleven-Thirty Hours Tried During Finals

Every woman at OSU is a member of the Association of Women Students. This organization's purpose is to regulate all matters pertaining to women students which have been delegated to it, such as the setting of women's hours and the visiting hours in the living groups. AWS is responsible for a Freshman Orientation Program and Style Show at the beginning of each school year. It also sponsors the Campus Chest drive which is the big fund-raising event of the year for charity. The Miss OSU Contest is also an AWS project.

AWS is a national organization and as such has a sound knowledge of women's affairs which it has obtained from universities all over the United States. This year the Regional IAWS Conference was held on this campus, with AWS officers from all over the southeast in attendance.

In other fields of responsibility, AWS worked closely with the "Mom's Club" officers in planning our second Mom's weekend.

AWS ends each year with a banquet honoring all women leaders on campus, recognizing both their high scholarship and outstanding leadership.

AWS is a growing organization and works hard to provide women students with the standard of government they deserve.

AGRICULTURE STUDENT COUNCIL

"Aggie Round-Up" Acquainted Freshmen

Through its projects and activities throughout the year, the Agriculture Student Council strives to co-ordinate the activities of the various departmental organizations, and to strengthen student-faculty relationships.

The council's activities start in the fall with the "Aggie Round-Up," which enables freshmen and transfer students to become acquainted with their fellow students, the faculty, and departmental clubs in agriculture.

In the spring semester the council coordinates "Agriculture Week," which is held in conjunction with the State FFA Convention. Also held during this week is the Agriculture Awards Banquet, at which agriculture students are recognized for their achievements, the Aggie Princess is crowned, and an Outstanding Club Award is made.

The council publishes an Agriculture News letter to promote student and other interest in the numerous agriculture activities on campus.

The council is comprised of the elected officers and senators of the agriculture student body plus representatives from the departmental clubs and organizations of the College of Agriculture.

Council officers for the 1965-66 year are Scott Sherrill, president; Johnny Kusel, vice-president; Isaac Wilbur Higdon, secretary; Barry Bloyd, treasurer, and Bill McGowan, reporter.

ARTS AND SCIENCES STUDENT COUNCIL

Honors Banquet Held for 3.3 Students

By far the most outstanding event of the Council is the annual Arts and Sciences Honors Banquet. Each spring the arts and sciences students compiling a 3.3 average in their fall semester are honored at this banquet. This year Governor George Wallace was unable to attend as banquet speaker; however, Honors Society Shingles, sophomore Scholarship and the Kenny Gallagher Award were presented as scheduled. Dean Scales was also formally introduced to the college.

Composed of one student representative from each department within each college, the council sponsors such programs as the Arts and Sciences Honor Society, the Kenny Gallagher Award, a student-faculty reception, two sophomore scholarships, and the arts and sciences outstanding instructor and alumni awards.

The main work of the council this year centered around the study of a possible journal of undergraduate research. Major changes in the Arts and Sciences Student Council included a revamping of the outdated constitution and a thorough reorganization of the process by which members of the council are selected.

Officers of the council are David Haddock, president; Billie Jo Matthews, vice-president; Judy Orbison, corresponding secretary; Delaine Jones, recording secretary; Bill Gentry, treasurer, and Dr. Dan Wesley, Advisor.

BUSINESS STUDENT COUNCIL

Business and Professional Week Changed

The Business Student Council, acting as the voice of all business students, provides a means of communications between faculty and students. Its objective is to create a better understanding of the business world, mainly by bringing outstanding businessmen in various fields to the campus. In this way students are given an opportunity to better acquaint themselves with all facets of their particular fields of interest.

In the past this was accomplished through Business and Professional Week. This year's progressive council has shortened the week to one day, called the College of Business Day. The purpose of this move was to present a single outstanding man in the field of business whom all students would like to see. To supplement this, well-known speakers in various fields would appear on campus throughout the year to speak at meetings of the professional societies.

Also, a new program was developed in which council members visit state high schools to talk to seniors and tell them about Oklahoma State University and the program of the College of Business here.

The officers of the Business Student Council for the school year 1965-66 included Rick Messer, president; Sheryl Stice, vice-president; Carol Nickles, secretary; Bob Fowler, treasurer, and Richard Poole, advisor.

EDUCATION STUDENT COUNCIL

Children's Tutoring Program was Initiated

The major responsibilities of the Education Student Council include preparing and directing Education Day, Education Week, and the education coffees. All of these activities provide a means for the students in college to get acquainted with the faculty and also to learn various practices and policies in the field of education. Another function is the sponsoring of the Education Honors Banquet honoring all students in the College of Education who have high scholastic achievements. As its civic duty for the year, the council tutored children from culturally deprived areas.

Education Student Council, the link between the students and faculty of the College of Education, is composed of three representatives from each class, one from industrial education, one from the Student Education Association, one from the Association of Childhood Education, and the two education senators. The council directs the general activities of students in the College of Education and strives to promote activities which will be of interest to all students and also broaden their knowledge of the field of education.

Officers for 1965-66 were Ann File, president; Sharon Gafford, vice-president; Jill Harris, secretary; Susie Scarborough, treasurer; Judy Blackburn, historian, and Jo Ellen Johnson, Freshman Council chairman.

ENGINEERING STUDENT COUNCIL

St. Pat's Salutes, Ball Top Activities

The primary purpose of the Engineering Student Council is service to the College of Engineering. Council membership is composed of a representative from each of the professional and honorary engineering societies, a representative from the Oklahoma State Engineer, and the Engineering senators. Dean Rollo Venn served the Council as advisor during the school year '65-'66.

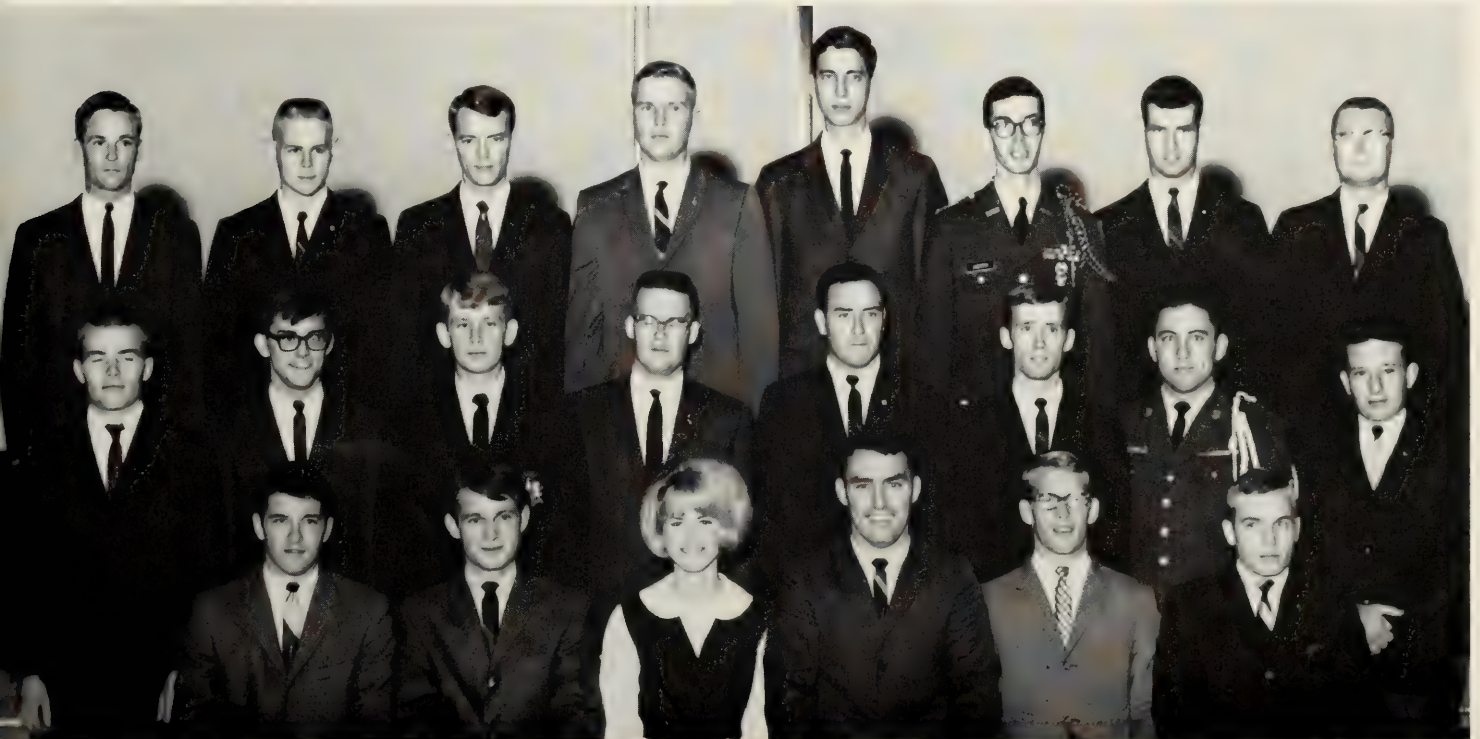

Within the College of Engineering the council serves the students by sponsoring review sessions for the annual "Engineer in Training" examination. It also recognizes outstanding graduating engineers by awarding St. Pat's Salutes; sponsors the Honors and Awards Banquet; supervises selection of the Engineering Queen; serves as the liason between the faculty and student body and remains on call for service to the college. Activities aimed at service to the University include the annual Engineering Exposition, which is designed to acquaint non-engineering students and faculty with the several disciplines and wide applications of the engineering profession.

The officers serving the 1965-66 Engineering Student Council were Chuck Shipley, president; Herk Trussel, vice-president; Paul Baker, secretary; and Jim Randall, treasurer. The Engineering Queen for 1965-66 was Carolyn Pool.

HOME ECONOMICS STUDENT COUNCIL

Body Coordinates Students and Faculty

Serving as a coordinating body, Home Economics Student Council works between the faculty and students in the seven divisions of the college—Clothing, Textiles and Merchandising, Home Economics Education, Family Relations and Child Development, Housing and Interior Decoration, Food, Nutrition and Industrial Administration, Hotel and Restaurant Administration and Home Management.

The council itself is composed of representatives from each departmental club and the individual classes.

Major projects include Home Economics Day each spring. This high school recruitment day attracts over 500 seniors annually from all parts of Oklahoma and neighboring states.

The project involves all home economics majors in preparing programs selling the departments, the home economics college and the University.

The council also sponsors coffees to provide opportunities to strengthen relationships between faculty and students. It also helps with various campus drives and activities.

Another project is sponsorship of a needy Stillwater family.

Officers of this year's council are Janice Ellison, president; Pat Ward, vice-president; DeAnn Stinchcomb, secretary; Jerry Banks, treasurer. Advisors are Mrs. Beulah Kinney and Miss Mary Leidigh.

STUDENT UNION ACTIVITIES BOARD

Region XI Student Union Boards Hosted

The Student Union Activities Board serves as the principal student governing force in supervising student activities in the Union. Through its various components, such as the executive committee and the program committee, it plans and executes student events for the year and helps determine Student Union policies.

The six members of the executive board guide the seven committees and five representatives in developing a new and stimulating program for each new school year. Heading this year's activities was the SUAB Region XI Conference of Student Union Boards held at Oklahoma State. At this time Union boards from a five-state area met to exchange ideas for improvement in programming for SUAB.

Annual events which the group sponsors consist of the Howdy Dance, Sadie Hawkins Dance, Freshman Talent Show, and Favorite Film Series. Also, many of the receptions and lecture series in the Union are sponsored by this group.

In developing new programs for the year the board attempted to utilize all the facilities made available to them by the addition of the new wing. New programs which were possible as a result of the expansion included such things as a charm course and a Christmas dance, with proceeds going to charity.

BLUE KEY

Campus Leaders Sponsored Kingston Trio

Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, was organized on the OSU campus May 18, 1932. Members of Blue Key are recognized as college leaders of all-around ability who possess outstanding characteristics of scholarship, leadership, and character.

Blue Key strives to enrich students' lives by sponsoring such annual activities as Parent's Day, Outstanding Teacher Award, and Key-Board Commission entertainment events. This year Blue Key co-sponsored a dessert for freshmen National Merit Scholars on campus and a dinner for National Merit Scholarship finalists in Oklahoma high schools and mailed cards congratulating all students in Oklahoma high schools who were listed on honor rolls.

The Key-Board Commission is composed of Blue Key and Mortar Board members. Their purpose is to bring big name entertainment to campus. This year the Brothers Four and The Kingston Trio were presented. Proceeds will be returned to students in the form of scholarships.

MORTAR BOARD

BWOC Honored Ten Outstanding Frosh

"A few rare and precious ones" is the meaning of Achafoa, Oklahoma State University's chapter of the national women's honorary organization, Mortar Board. Outstanding junior women are selected to Mortar Board on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and service.

In the area of scholarship, Mortar Board sponsors Orange Quill, honorary for freshman women, and Orange and Black Quill, sophomore women. Each year Mortar Board holds a banquet for these women. This year Mortar Board went further to encourage freshman women by recognizing ten on the basis of scholarship, service and leadership. Also in conjunction with Blue Key and Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board sent congratulatory letters to outstanding high school seniors throughout the state.

Service is emphasized by Mortar Board in several ways: They sponsored the annual AWS election in December, and throughout the year spoke as a panel to a number of groups on the subject of alcoholism on college campuses. The twenty-two coeds also sponsored annual Penny Night, sold calendars, and joined with Blue Key to sponsor the Brothers Four and The Kingston Trio, to provide scholarships for students at Oklahoma State University. Mortar Board sponsored the International Students Tea in conjunction with the Community Hospitality Committee.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Circle Includes Men of Varied Interests

Omicron Delta Kappa, a national honorary leadership fraternity, was organized on the Oklahoma State University campus May 8, 1954. Purposes of the fraternity are three-fold: First, to recognize men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities and to inspire others to strive for conspicuous attainment along similar lines; second, to bring together the most representative men in all phases of collegiate life and thus create an organization which will help to mold the sentiment of the institution on questions of local and intercollegiate interests; third, to bring together members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual understanding.

Omicron Delta Kappa places emphasis upon the development of the whole man, both as a present member of his college community and as a prospective contributor to a better society. The society encourages and recognizes achievement in scholarship, athletics, student government, publications, and speech, music, drama and the other arts.

Membership is awarded to undergraduate junior and senior men, and to members of the faculty and administration and alumni who exhibit exemplary character, responsible leadership and discriminatory service in campus life, consecration to democratic ideals, and superior scholarship.

CHAPTER THREE

ATHLETICS

OSU Coaching Staff

The coaching staff at State has always worked to help make OSU great in athletics, and their successes are shown by the fact that only one other college in the nation has won more NCAA championships.

Football coach Phil Cutchin topped off his career with the 17-16 win over OU; swimming became a full-fledged sport when Col. James Cutter was named coach; and coach Myron Roderick's wrestlers won the Big Eight and NCAA championships again.

Varsity Scoring was Lead by Jim Feamster

The Cowboys, hit heavily by graduation losses, didn't set the world on fire with a 4-21 record and a Big Eight record of 2 wins and 12 losses, for the 1965-66 season.

Although it may not have been an extremely talented basketball team, we did have a team that played exceptionally hard.

State's wins over Santa Barbara and Arizona State (non-conference wins) and Missouri twice, helped them to finish seventh in the conference, rather than the cellar. This was the worst season the Cowboys have ever had under Coach Henry Iba.

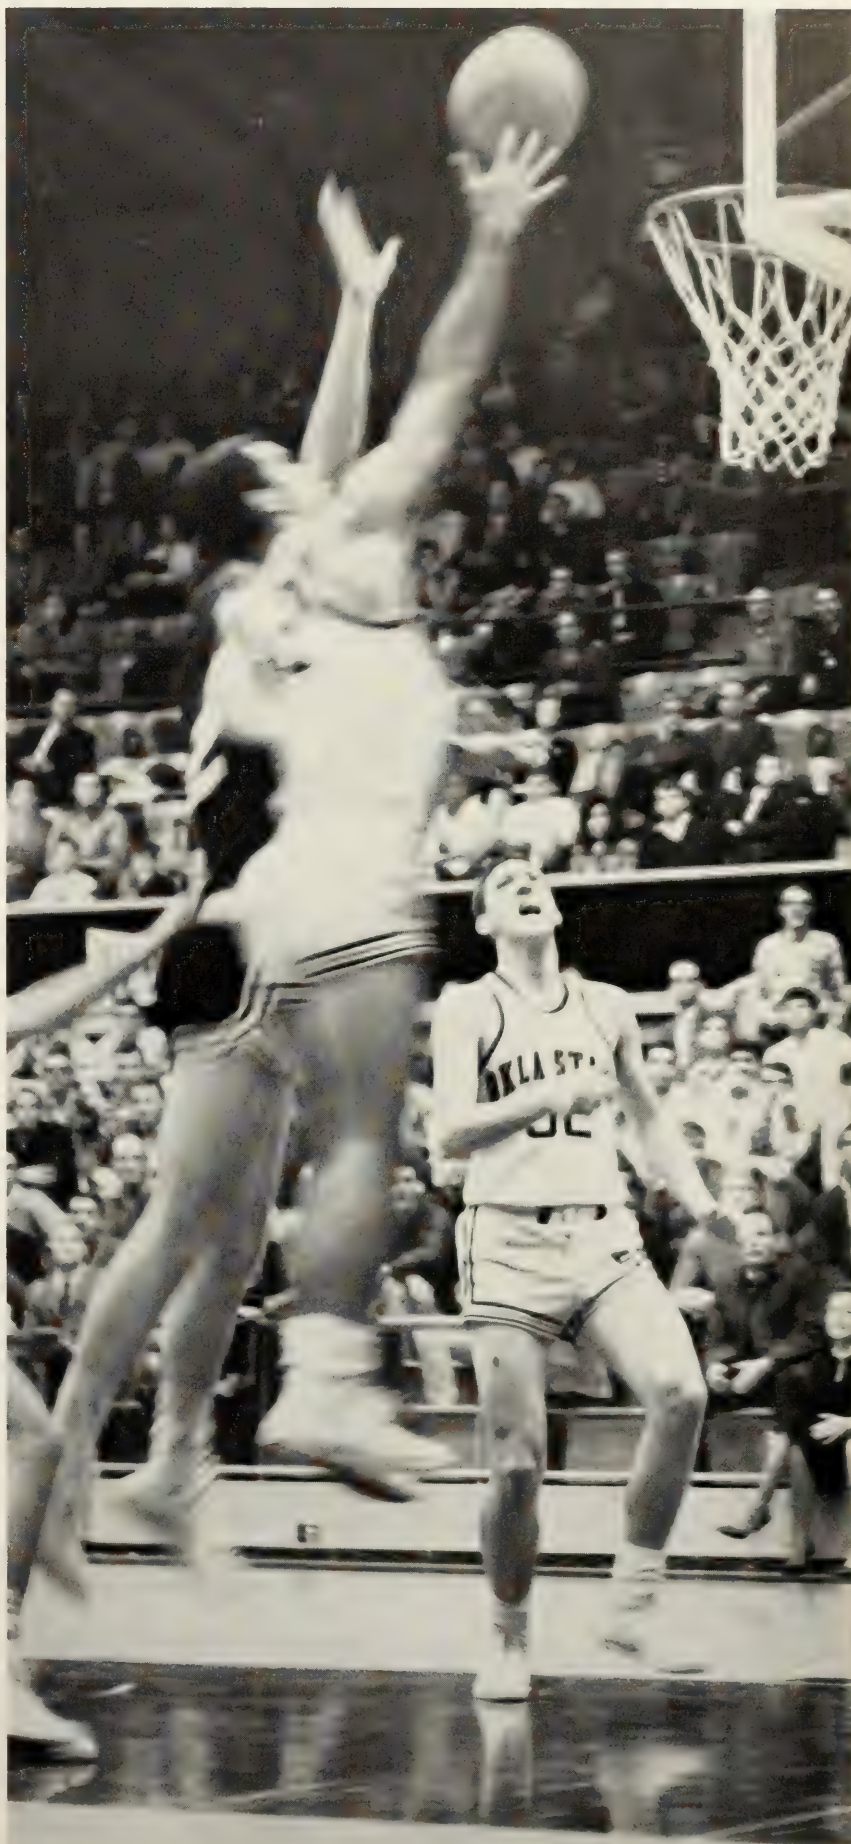

Junior center Jim Feamster led the varsity total scoring with 295 points and an average of 11.8 points per game. His high score in one game this season was 18 points. Behind Feamster in total scoring was forward Keith Branch, who totaled 214 points and an average of 8.6.

The Pokes were led in the field goal department by Feamster, who hit 104 of 209 for almost 50 percent. Leading free throws, Feamster made 87 gift shots out of 130 attempts.

Branch, Berryhill and Skip Iba ended their basketball careers this season. Berryhill was fifth in total scoring with 116 points and Iba was sixth with 101. Berryhill hit 50-144 from the field and 16-25 from the line. Iba scored 43-112 from the field and 15-36 on the line. OSU totaled 1,344 points for the season while being led 1,523 by their opponents.

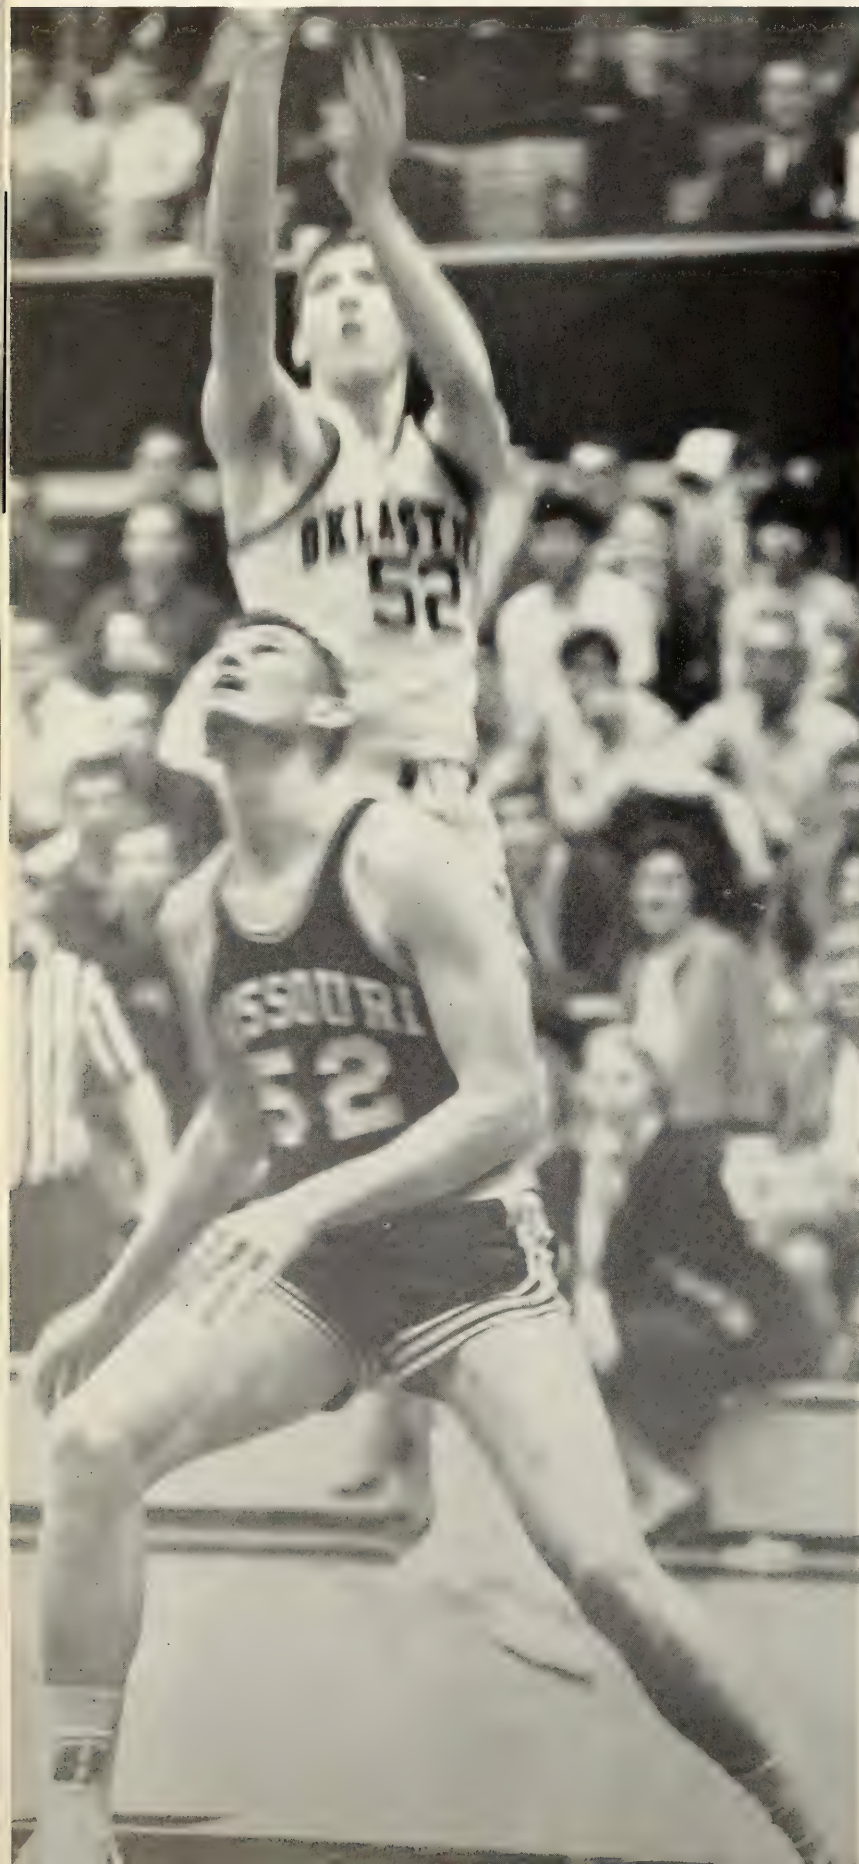

Oklahoma State University didn't finish at the bottom of everything in the Big Eight. They almost topped one of the statistical divisions when the final standings were posted. Coach Iba's Cowboys placed second in the free throw race with 68 per cent. Oklahoma was first in this division with 69 per cent.

Senior Lester Berryhill placed fifth in total scoring for the Cowboys with 116 points. He hit 50-144 from the field and 16-25 from the charity free throw line.

In the eyes of Oklahoma State football fans, the Cowboys finished their best season in twenty years this fall when they defeated the Oklahoma Sooners, 17-16, in Norman, and when they were named the champions for the state of Oklahoma with their defeat of the University of Tulsa, 17-14.

All-America honors went to Walt Garrison, fullback, and Charlie Harper, guard. Harper and Garrison were also picked for the Big Eight team and played in the East-West Shrine game and the Senior Bowl.

Other outstanding players for the Cowboys were Charles Durkee, kicking specialist, who was the leading scorer for the Pokes and won the Daily Oklahoman's Sportsman of the month award for his outstanding ability in the OSU win over the Sooners.

1965 Football Classic...OSU 17....OU 16

Oklahoma State's 3-7 record doesn't show the true season. Cowboy gridders fought down to the line, losing three of the games—Nebraska, Texas Tech, and Iowa State—in the final seconds.

Oklahoma State opened the season in Little Rock against the number one team in the nation, the Arkansas Razorbacks, to lose 28-14. Missouri then slid by the Cowpokes, 13-0, in a hard fought battle at Stillwater. O-State then avenged their last year's loss to the Tulsa Hurricanes, 17-14, at Stillwater.

The Cowboys took to the road, losing the next four to Colorado, 34-11, Texas Tech, 17-14, Kansas, 9-0, and Iowa State, 14-10.

In their third appearance at home the Pokes showed the Nebraska Cornhuskers a hard fought victory, with the lead changing hands twice in the final minute, with the Cowboys losing, 21-17, before a sell-out Homecoming crowd. The Pokes then defeated the Kansas State Wildcats, 31-7. On their final road trip, the Cowboys defeated the Oklahoma Sooners, 17-16.

Cowboy rushing honors went to All-Conference Walt Garrison for the second straight year, as he plowed the line with his power running.

Charles Durkee puts through a goal for 35 yards and a 17-16 victory over the Sooners.

Poke Wrestlers Win 25th National Title

Oklahoma State won their 25th NCAA team title and YoJiro Uetake climaxed his glorious collegiate wrestling career by winning his third national championship.

Uetake pinned Joe Peritore of Lehigh in the second period to complete his Cowboy career, undefeated in 57 bouts.

He was also awarded the tournament's most valuable wrestler trophy for the second straight year.

Gene Davis and Bill Harlow also joined King's Row as OSU amassed 79 points. In addition to its three championships, O-State placed Fred Fozzard second, Tadaaki Hatta third, Jim Rogers and Mike Reding fourth, and Bob Drebenstedt, sixth.

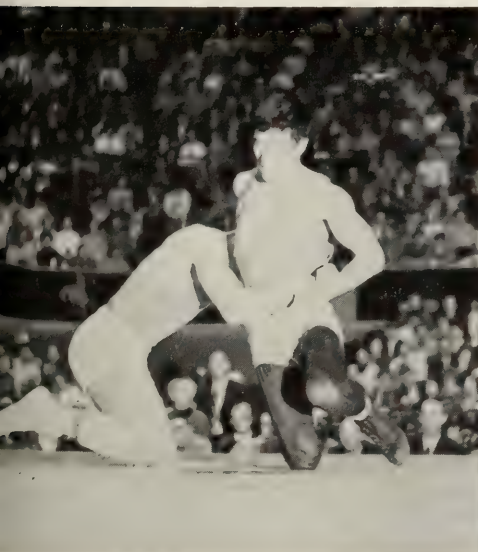

In Big Eight competition the Cowboys brought home another crown by five points over the Sooners. O-State crowned Big Eight champions at 115 with Taddaki Hatta, 130 YoJiro Uetake, 137 Gene Davis, 145 Jim Rogers and 191 Bill Harlow.

Second place went to Grady Sells and Fred Fozzard. Oklahoma State also got assistance in the consolation bracket from heavyweight Ron Gabbett, 167-pounder Bob Drebenstedt, 160-pounder J. Robinson, and 152-pounder Mike Reding, as the Cowboys drove from behind to win.

Third Place in Big Eight

Congratulations for a job well done are given by team members after another run is brought in by one of the O-State players.

Sluggers Finish Third in Big 8 Conference

During Chet Bryan's first season as coach, the Oklahoma State baseball team finished third in the Big Eight conference.

The Cowboys won 14 out of 25 games and in conference play they won 12 out of 21. In Big Eight play the Cowboys won three games from Kansas State University, two from Oklahoma University and three from Iowa State University. To highlight their 1965 season, Missouri won the Big Eight with an 18-1 season. The Tigers went all the way before bowing to St. Louis University in the NCAA finals.

Tony Sellari, catcher for O-State, was the leading batter, with a batting average of .379, and Richard Frank was the leading pitcher, with a 2.15 earned run average. Oklahoma State's only series outside the Big Eight was with the University of Houston, with the Cowboys tying 2-2 in the series.

Fred Moulder hit a home run and gave the Oklahoma State baseball team the needed run for another Big Eight victory.

OSU's catcher, Tony Sellari, took his turn at the plate, with hopes of adding another run to bring up his season's total batting average.

World 2-Mile Record Posted by O-State

At the California Relays in Fresno, the Oklahoma State 2-mile relay team set a new world's record with a time of 7:18.3, breaking Villanova's old record of 7:19.

In the Big Eight conference, Oklahoma State finished fourth behind the University of Kansas, University of Oklahoma and the University of Missouri. Oklahoma State won the triple crown in the relay championships, winning the Kansas Relays, Texas Relays and the Drake Relays in the two-mile event.

All-America honors went to Chris McCubbin in cross country, when he finished fifth in the NCAA finals, and Tom Von Ruden for his performance in the 880-yard run.

With three of the four relay record holders returning—Tom Von Ruden, John Perry and Jim Metcalf—the Cowboy relay teams led the team in the indoor season by winning the 2-mile relay at the NCAA indoor track meet in Detroit, Michigan.

World record holders in the 2-Mile relay, Tom Von Ruden, Jim Metcalf, John Perry and Dave Perry set the record in 7:18.3.

After having a bad year, one of Oklahoma State's broadjumpers tried to place during the last track meet of the 1965-66 season.

Golfers Take Eighth Big 8 Championship

Bob Dickson, low medalist in the Big Eight tournament, lead the Cowboys to eighth straight conference golf championship.

The Cowboys, under Coach Labron Harris, have never lost a team title in the Big Eight tournament since joining in 1958. Last spring they won their eighth title by defeating Oklahoma by 28 strokes.

Junior Bob Dickson led the Pokes by firing rounds of 71, 75 and 72 to capture the individual title. His closest competition was teammate Don Lackey, with a total of 222.

In regular season, the Pokes finished with a 14-3 dual record, winning two ties by having the low medalist score. In tournament competition, the Cowboys placed first in the Oklahoma intercollegiate tournament defeating the University of Houston twenty-five strokes.

In NCAA competition the Cowboys finished ninth—the lowest they have placed in the past several years. Bob Dickson was awarded the plaque for the leading golfer for Oklahoma State last season.

Dave Eichelberger, top Oklahoma State golfer, was in action at the Masters Tournament at the Augusta National golf course.

Team Ties For Second in Big Eight Loop

Oklahoma State's No. 1 doubles team, Bob McKenna and Nick Saxton, lead the team in the Big Eight Championships.

Losing only two matches in the regular season, the Cowboys showed an improvement over last year when they finished with a 3-5 season.

In Big Eight competition the Cowboys captured three of the top five singles positions but finished in a tie for second with Oklahoma University. Kansas scored 16 points to win the tournament, while OSU and the Sooners each scored 12.

Bob McKenna, Bob Howard, and Nick Saxton were singles champions for the Cowboys. McKenna won the No. 1 title, Howard won the No. 2 crown, and Saxton copped the No. 4 bracket.

McKenna and Saxton were beaten in the semi-finals of the No. 1 doubles. Howard and Grose were beaten in the finals of the No. 2 doubles. Bob McKenna was selected as the outstanding senior of last year's squad.

No. 4 singles champion Nick Saxton won over Jack Richards in the dual with the Sooners, 6-3, 6-3, led the Cowboys to upset.

Swimming Team Broke Even For Season

In the third year of organization the Cowboys' swimming team is showing a great deal of improvement. Although it finished sixth in the Big Eight, the team improved over last year's seventh place.

Dave Johnson surprised the veterans in the Big Eight swimming meet by capturing the 200-yard free-style in 1:49.6, a new meet record breaking the old record of 1:50.

Johnson also placed fifth in the 100-yard free-style, David Phillips placed fifth in the 200-yard backstroke and the 800-yard free-style relay team took fifth place in that meet.

In the dual season the Cowboy tankers broke even in their meets with a 7-7 season. The outstanding freshman team, which beat the varsity in a pre-season meet and placed third in the Big-Eight postal match, should add more depth and more power to the team.

Another aspect of OSU's Varsity swimming team is the skill shown by men who swim a most difficult stroke, the "Butterfly."

Off to a good start, the varsity swimmers try to start off the season with their first dual meet against Missouri University.

Intramurals Offer Participation in Sports

Participation in men's intramural sports was extremely voluntary and was established so that men of different organizations can participate in friendly competition.

The main purposes of intramural sports are to provide a sport which each man enjoys playing and a team for him to play on. Intramurals help to keep the student physically alert as well as mentally alert.

Men of OSU had 14 sports to compete in, including everything from football to table tennis. They may play in any of the four leagues, open independent, club or dorm, fraternity A, and fraternity B, with the winner of each league playing the other winners for the all-university championships.

As the intramural golf tournaments came to an end, we found two golfers still out on lucky thirteen.

After many closely contested games the men of Delta Tau Delta emerged as the winner of the all-university men's volleyball championship.

In intramural football the teams from the Betas and the Sig Eps played in the semifinals for the fraternity championship.

In intramural volleyball, the secret of how to win is to slam the ball just over the net, a process commonly known as spiking.

WRA Honored Women at Banquet

The Women's Recreation Association was founded on the Oklahoma State University campus in 1920 to encourage participation in women's sports. The club extends membership to coeds who have participated in two intramural activities in one semester.

In sponsoring the program, the WRA presents awards each year to sorority, sorority pledge class and independent teams having the highest accumulation of points for participation in various sports. In addition to the team awards presented at the banquet held each spring, individual "O" awards and outstanding senior awards are given. Sportsmanship, participation, and skill are the basis for the selection of the "O" awards and the outstanding senior awards.

Womanly grace and charm took second place as each girl helped her team on to victory and finally to the women's intramural championships.

Sore muscles but healthy exercise were the rewards for those who participated in the volleyball intra-murals.

CHAPTER FOUR

ROTC

Tours and Flights Were Part of Training

The AFROTC program includes studies of the development and traditions of the military profession, the role of the professional officer in our American Democracy, major ideology conflicts and aerospace power factors in the preservation of national security.

The advanced AFROTC program leads to commissioning as a second lieutenant in the Air Force. It is available to full time students who can meet physical and mental standards. Advanced students study leadership and management, communication skills, military justice, and problem solving. Also studied are the Air Force today and how it has evolved, and current developments in aerospace power and their implications as a means of providing national security.

During the year, Honorary Cadet Colonel had a chance to review the AFROTC cadets during their weekly drill period.

One of the prime objectives of the ROTC program is to build men that will serve the nation's defense, here and abroad.

During a field trip taken by sophomore cadets to McConnell Air Force Base, the innards of a rocket were explored.

General Carpenter, commander of the United States Air University, was greeted upon his arrival by the Air Force Gallant Guard.

In the sophomore year, munitions and weaponry were explained to cadets through lectures, using mock-ups of the actual weapons.

Inspecting Officers Reviewed the Troops

No patriot questions the desirability of maintaining a military posture which will insure continuation of our freedoms and way of life. To this purpose, we devote our material resources, the genius of our scientists and engineers, and the unparalleled productive capability of our industry.

Since its founding in 1891, Oklahoma State University can point with pride to the fulfillment of its responsibility for development of leadership qualities of our youth—adaptable to a chosen vocation—or as citizen soldiers—if, and when, required.

The Army ROTC is proud to be part of this program in the development of leadership and fulfillment of our privileges and responsibilities of citizenship.

Presentation of Honorary Colonel Cindy Davenport was done by Cadet Col. Russ Richardson during an Army drill session.

As part of the initiation requirements for Scabbard and Blade cadets portrayed Army equipment in a mock war beside Theta.

At the end of each day at the Oklahoma State University campus the members of the Pershing Rifles held retreat ceremonies.

Advanced Army ROTC cadets are required to attend a six-week summer camp to be eligible for a commission in the regular army. While training at Fort Sill last summer the cadets were reviewed by Col. Tutin, professor of military science at Oklahoma State.

During the year, honorary colonels are chosen by two select panels of Army ROTC judges to represent the feminine side of the ROTC program. This year's honorary colonels are being escorted by the senior army officers, for their induction into the Army ROTC.

COL. BILL J. TUTIN, Professor of Military Science

COL. JAMES D. BERRY, Professor of Aero-Space Studies

Leadership Helped to Mold The Future

Col. Bill J. Tutin assumed his duty as professor of military science at the start of last year. Prior to the current assignment, Col. Tutin commanded the 18th Artillery Group, a Nike Hercules Missile unit which provides air defense for the vital industrial and population complex of Pittsburgh. Just prior to this, he was assigned as army attache in the United States Embassy, Tel Aviv, Israel.

Col. Tutin received his initial reserve commission through the ROTC program in 1935. Since that time he has completed more than 28 years of active commissioned service. Of this service, nine years have been overseas in four theaters of operations.

Col. Tutin is a graduate of the Artillery School, The Command and General Staff College, The Army War College, and the Strategic Intelligence School.

Completing his 31st year in the Air Force this spring, Col. James D. Berry will also end his fourth year as professor of aero space studies at Oklahoma State.

Before his assignment to OSU in 1962, Col. Berry had served with Headquarters, 5th AF Southwest Pacific, 1944; Headquarters, Far East Command, 1946-1948; and with the director of installation, USAF, Washington, D.C. In 1959, prior to becoming PAS, Col. Berry was vice-wing commander of the 36th Tactical Fighter Wing in Bitburg, Germany.

Col. Berry has attended both academic and service schools including the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va.; the Air War College, Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.; and the University of Maryland, where he achieved his bachelor's degree in military science.

AIR FORCE PERSONNEL

Duties of the personnel staff for the Air Force ROTC include instruction, training, supply, examination, guidance and counseling.

In order to fulfill his tour of duty each man receives specialized training that will enable him to attain the required proficiency in his particular field. The men, after successfully completing this specialized training, are selected by their respective departments for assignments and are considered to be among the best available.

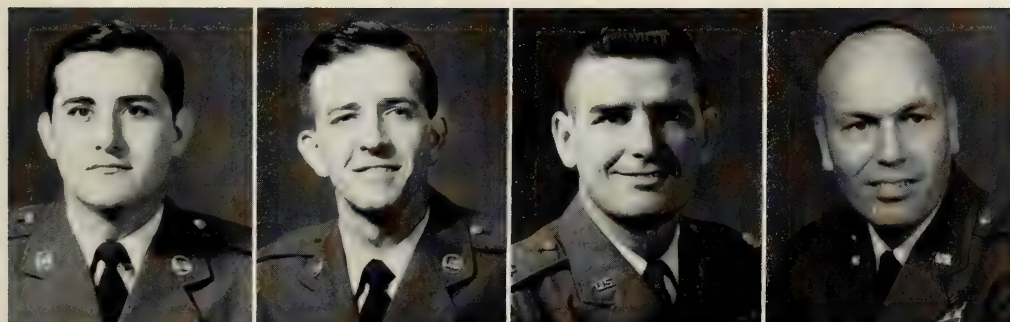

The personnel staff's aim is to produce junior officers who have the best qualities essential to the development of the Air Force and to form the foundation of intelligent citizenship within the student.

Army personnel assigned as instructors in the OSU ROTC program are selected because of their military background, leadership ability, and instructional potentials. They are responsible for training the cadets who will be officers and future leaders in the service.

In addition to their primary role of training and commissioning the young officers, the army personnel have an additional duty of developing in all Oklahoma State basic cadets a deeper understanding of their present and future civic responsibilities to their community, their state, and their nation.

The staff often supplements their schedule by attending classes to complete their bachelor or master's degree.

CADET OFFICERS COUNCIL

Coordinating Council Plans Military Ball

The Cadet Officers Council was organized to bring about a closer relationship between the Army and Air Force ROTC cadets, and between these cadets and their military instructors. The Cadet Officers Council conducts the activities of the combined Army and Air Force ROTC Cadet Officers Club. The sponsorship of the council and also its official positions are rotated each year between the Army and the Air Force.

The council members, who are elected from each of the eighteen class sections in both corps, are responsible for conducting the colorful military ball, which is the highlight of the military social season. During the ball the honorary Air Force and Army cadet colonels are formally presented for the first time by the council.

Members of the Cadet Officers Club display a fine example of the leadership that is striven for in the ROTC program and proven in later national service.

Leading the Cadet Officers Council this year was Neil Bynum, president. Assisting him were Paul Harper, vice-president; Jerry Hurst, secretary; Jerry Custard, social chairman; John Finley, treasurer; Dennis Crook, information service officer; Major Charles Mercer and Colonel Walter Price, advisors.

AIR FORCE GALLANT GUARD

Freshmen, Sophomores Comprise Guard

The Seventh Ceremonial Squadron, as it is formally known, is a precision drill team made up of freshman and sophomore Air Force ROTC cadets who are highly proficient in drill and ceremonial procedures and who possess leadership potential.

Members of the team, referred to as the Gallant Guard, are selected primarily on the basis of desire, initiative, and an interest in advanced ROTC. Training and experience gained by membership in the Gallant Guard lead to a more profitable future in advanced ROTC and later in Air Force life.

Each year, the Gallant Guard participates in numerous parades in Oklahoma. At the Cushing, Oklahoma, parade they were voted the best drill team in Oklahoma.

Selected members of this unit formed the honor guard for Lt. Gen. John W. Carpenter during his visit to Oklahoma State University. The Gallant Guard was commanded this year by Cadet Maj. Roger G. Burns.

ARMY BLADES

Drill Team on Statewide Television

The Army Blades continues to grow in status and prestige since its founding in 1963. Highlights for the Blades include their performance for WKY-TV, their reception by Governor Bellmon at the State Capitol, and their annual trip to Fort Sill. Army Blades projects include managing the concession stands during football season and ushering for all home basketball games.

The 40 members of Army Blades represent a highly select group, chosen from all women's residences, and are selected on the basis of academic excellence, leadership, ability, poise, personality, appearance and interest in promoting the Army ROTC program. They serve as hostesses at all Army events and perform precision drill at athletic events, parades, and competitive drill meets.

Stimulating student interest in the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps is the main objective of the Army Blades. They serve as an auxiliary drill team to the Army ROTC Cadet Corps, participating in extracurricular activities which contribute to the prestige and welfare of the U.S. Army, OSU and the Army ROTC department.

Officers for this year included Susie Scarborough, commander; Jo Ellen Johnson, executive officer, and Capt. Ray Weston, advisor.

ANGEL FLIGHT

Air Force Academy Trip Highlights Year

The Thunderbird Angel Flight has traveled far since its founding on the OSU campus in 1960, attending the Inaugural Parade in 1961 and 1965, visiting the USAF Academy in Colorado Springs in 1963 and 1966, the American Royal Show in 1963 and NASA, Houston, Texas, in 1964.

Each of the 40 co-eds who make up the Oklahoma State University Angel Flight are selected on the basis of interest in the objectives of the Air Force, personality, appearance, poise, academic standing, and interest in the Angel Flight organization. Angel Flight is sponsored by the AFROTC Arno'd Air Society, with the purpose of furthering the U.S.

Air Force by promoting the interest of college students in the AFROTC program.

The officers for this year included area commander Marilyn Moore, flight commander Charlotte Brown; executive officer Beth McGraw, administrative services officer Karen Hove, information officer Mary Ila Bandy, drill commander Gretchen LeMaster and comptroller Liz Davies. Other officers included materials officer Lynda Keas, projects chairman Carla Gaither, and civic affairs officer Karen Walker.

Angel Flight officers are chosen on the basis of outstanding contribution to and participation in Angel Flight functions.

ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY

Group Sponsors Many Worthy Projects

The Thunderbird Squadron of the Arnold Air Society was established at OSU in 1950, taking its name from the Air Force precision flying team, the Thunderbirds. Yearly projects include participation in area and national conclaves, sponsorship of underprivileged boys' basketball teams, two campus-wide book drives, foster child program, sponsorship of the OSU soccer team, and a scholarship award to a worthy cadet. They also sponsor the Angel Flight and the honorary girls' drill team of the Air Force.

The Arnold Air Society is a professional honorary military organization of AFROTC cadets from 170 of the nation's colleges and universities. Named in honor of the late General H. H. "Hap" Arnold, the society serves to further the purposes and traditions of the United States Air Force and aid in development and production of Air Force officers.

The Arnold Air Society is a highly selective organization, available only to advanced Air Force cadets with a minimum grade average of 2.5 in their Air Science courses. New pledges are selected twice a year, based on scholarship achievement, military attitude and bearing, and interest in the Arnold Air Society objectives.

Officers for this year were Don Jensen, commander; Richard Lemon, administrative officer, and Major A. C. Neimeyer, advisor.

The Angels on the Area Staff have the responsibility of overseeing all Angel Flights in Oklahoma, Texas, and Arkansas. They also promote the objectives of Angel Flight, Arnold Air Society, and the Air Force. They are sponsored by Arnold Air Society on the OSU campus.

Capettes Kept Busy With Trips and Activities

Capettes have been very active with trips to San Francisco, Dallas, Miami Beach, New Orleans, Wichita, and Wright-Patterson AFB. On these trips Capettes learn about the activities of the United States Air Force and the Civil Air Patrol. Capettes participated in the SUAB Fair and Homecoming parade and are sponsored by the Stillwater CAP.

Military Engineers Helped Further Understanding

Chartered in 1939, the OSU student post of SAME is dedicated to the furthering of understanding and cooperation between civilian and military engineers. Military engineers build for the armed forces. Their duty is to assist the nation in the work of its preparedness.

Girls' Rifle Team Place Second in Kansas Meet

The OSU Women's Rifle Team, sponsored by the Army ROTC, entered the OSU Invitational, the Kansas State Turkey Shoot, the Nebraska Invitational, and the West Texas State tournaments. The cowgirl shooters placed second among women's teams at the Kansas State Turkey Shoot.

ROTC Rifle Team Won Many Honors & Awards

The Army ROTC Rifle Team is among the best in the country. Among its accomplishments are: National Hearst Trophy championship, three Intercollegiate All-Americans and placement of members on the U.S. Army International Rifle Team.

Varsity Rifle Team Competed in Annual Match

The Varsity Rifle Team, sponsored by the Army ROTC, consists of both ROTC and other student competitors. It competes in Big 8 and other Intercollegiate NRA events. The team sponsors an Annual Invitational Rifle Match on the OSU range. Joe Schneider and Kenneth Hopcus are the captains and Capt. Lembcke, advisor.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

Men Raise Military Education Standards

Located on 177 college campuses throughout the United States, Scabbard and Blade, national military honor society, has a membership of 95,700. "K" company, the local unit, marked its 35th year at Oklahoma State University this spring.

The purposes of Scabbard and Blade are to raise the standards of college military education, to bring closer the military departments, and to promote friendship among cadet officers.

Membership is by election only. A student must be in the upper third of his class and must possess outstanding leadership qualities.

A few of the company's many activities include the sponsorship of intramural football, basketball and softball teams, and a sabre drill team. The organization supervises a military wives' orientation course, a summer camp orientation course for advanced Army cadets, and many other social events during the year.

In conjunction with the Army ROTC department, "K" company co-sponsors the Army Blades, women's drill team.

PERSHING RIFLES, CO. C-7

Company Strived to Develop Leadership

Pershing Rifles is among the foremost national military fraternities for ROTC cadets. With its beginning on the OSU campus in 1928, company C-7 has continuously strived to develop the leadership abilities of its members and to be a service to the University.

The members of the organization are picked for their leadership qualities, scholastic achievement, and interest in the military service.

The principal functions of the society, as set forth by its distinguished founder, General John J. Pershing, are service to the Corps and honor to the individual. Outstanding in the training phase is the opportunity for members to perform under combat conditions in supervised field problems, participate in drill and rifle teams. C-7 assists in firing "Packy," the touchdown cannon, during home football games, directs traffic at all home football games and Homecoming each year. Also special honor guards and firing squads are part of each semester's activities.

Highlight of the year for members is the annual White Rose Formal, held in honor of new C-7 members.

Executive officers for this year included Michael Smith, commanding officer; William Wilson, executive officer; Dudley Smith, adjutant; James Fitter, operation officer.

PERSHING RIFLES, REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS

Regimental Group Heads Five-State Area

Comprised of thirteen companies, the Seventh Regiment and its headquarters includes a five-state area of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri.

The headquarters coordinated the activities of the companies in the regiment and acts as an intermediary for the companies and the national headquarters. It also expands the number of units by introducing its program to those campuses which do not have a Pershing Rifles unit.

Each year the regimental commander and members of the headquarters staff inspect each company in the five-state area. Each year, the headquarters instills competitive spirit in the members through Regimental Drill and Assembly.

Among the main responsibilities of the headquarters staff are the promotion of initiative and leadership among the members of the Pershing Rifles. This mission is accomplished by presenting awards and decorations for outstanding service to the society.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS

Supervising Group Reorganized Itself

The academic year 1965-66 will have been one of great change and greater activity for the Board of Publications. Early in February, a complete revision of the Board was carried out by Executive Order Number 1. The President of the University then appointed the faculty and student members from lists submitted by the Faculty Council and the Student Association presidents.

The primary objective of the revision is to take the Board from under the supervision of the Student Association and establish it as an independent agency. The first work of the new Board was its organization and the writing of a completely new constitution. Under the new constitution, the faculty members serve for a term of five years, one new member succeeding each year. The student members also change each year, two members in the first year and three in the next, alternating back and forth. The chairman of the journalism school and the dean of student affairs are ex-officio members.

The Board is charged with the selection of staff members for the paper and yearbook, to which they are responsible. Also, a complete financial report of the Board and its publications is made public at the end of each semester.

Campus Publications Handle Big Job

The OSU campus, as in any other community of its size, requires an enormous amount of communication and information distribution in order to be kept up to date. Part of this job is handled by the various campus publications.

Each day, a constant stream of campus, state, national, and world events must be recorded, sorted, analyzed, and written for distribution to the students.

In years to come, the yearbook will provide for each student a wealth of memorable experiences with which he may remember his years at Oklahoma State.

Mr. Woodson, as director of student publications, is charged with maintaining high standards of the REDSKIN and O'Colly.

Greeting everybody with a smile and a friendly "Hi!" was Pam Rogers, the secretary to the director of student publications.

1966 Redskin

When we were selected as the staff for the 1966 REDSKIN, we decided that it was time for a change, to paraphrase a quote that made the rounds this year.

We looked for a theme, but decided that OSU was too big to tell its history by sticking to a theme. But if there was any central idea, it was to attempt to portray the spirit of the students and faculty here at State.

With this in mind, we set out, changing and revising, trying to modernize the book. The cover is bold and simple, which is the physical representation of our idea. The lettering on the cover has been carried over into the opening pages and the division pages, giving unity. We adopted the magazine layout, with just enough copy to tell a story and a judicious use of white space to make a pleasing combination. The type faces have all been changed, from the black type in the opening section to the Stellar headlines in the rest of the book. By a new process, we were able to reduce the cost of color process enough to make color pictures possible for the REDSKIN. And all of these changes have been coordinated to bring you a book that is worthy of Oklahoma State University.

sincerely,

Daily O'Collegian

No day is exactly the same; things change. The Daily O'Collegian, a campus daily newspaper known affectionately as "The O'Colly," true to its purpose, reflects these changes and transmits them to the students.

Independent of the School of Journalism, the Daily O'Collegian relies on voluntary help, most of whom are potential members of the working press.

The Daily O'Collegian moved into new quarters this fall, which included a large news room and editorial offices. Soon to be added is an adjacent, fully-equipped darkroom. Indeed, the area bears rather close resemblance to the "city room" of a metropolitan newspaper, with news desk, reporter's area, social desk, and sports desk.

OKLAHOMA STATE ENGINEER

Magazine Enjoys Increase in Circulation

The Oklahoma State Engineer, in its 30th year of continuous publication, for the first time has added a feature that is of interest to more than the engineer who reads the six issues per year purely from a technical viewpoint. That feature, which was obviously borrowed from a Chicago magazine for the less technically-minded man, was the idea of having a girl of the month to adorn the interior of the otherwise serious material.

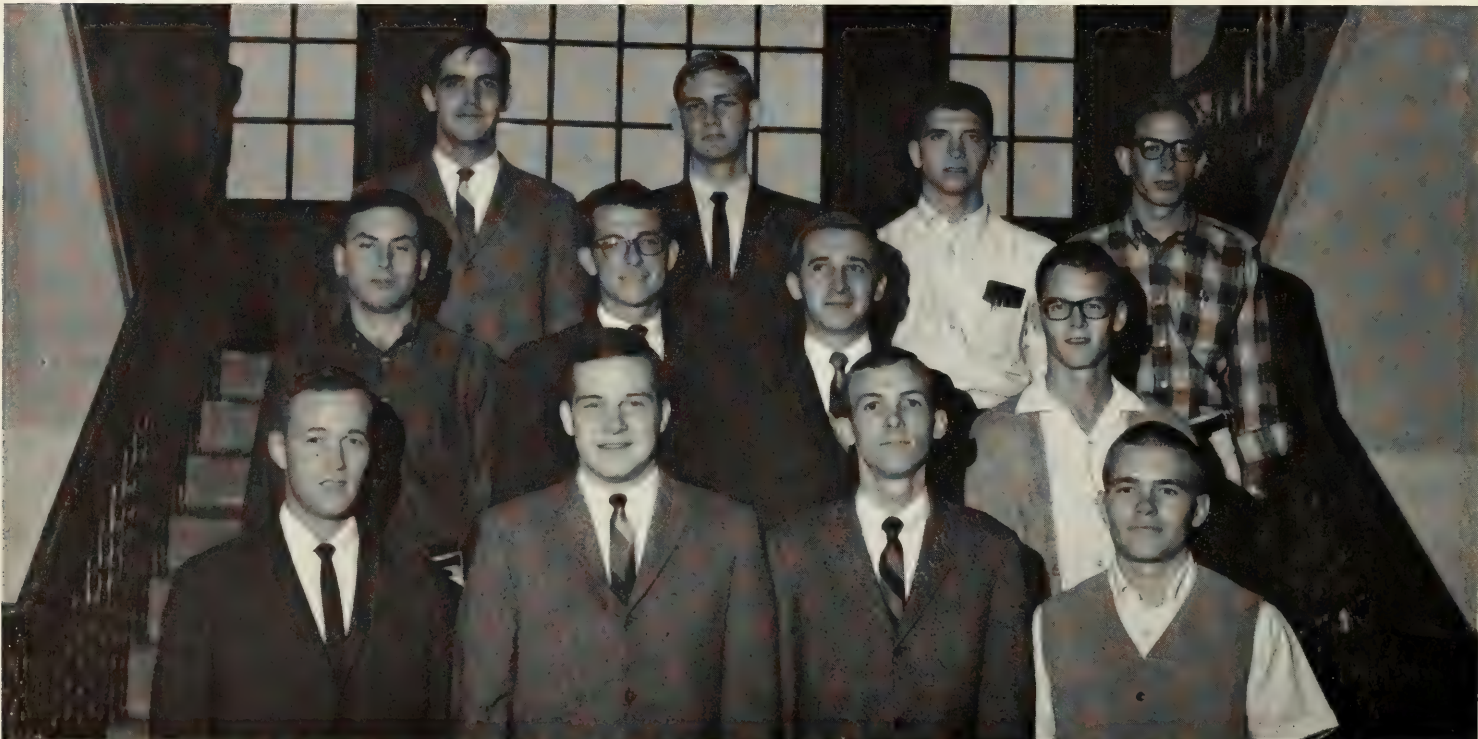

Due to this feature, the rapidly deleting distribution boxes have caused the editor to seriously consider the expansion of the local, state, and national circulation of 3,000 copies.

A cultural aspect of campus publications is the Soliloquy, the student literary magazine published by the Board of Publications.

This year, for the first time since its inception, an edition will be published in the Fall, as well as the regular Spring edition.

Representing the original works of students and faculty, the magazine contains a contemporary and classical cross-section of short-stories, essays, prose, and poetry, complete with illustrations.

Each issue also announces the winners of the Sigma Tau Delta Composition Awards.

Disregard this picture. It was taken by a photographer at a time when the editor was in one of his more depressed moods.

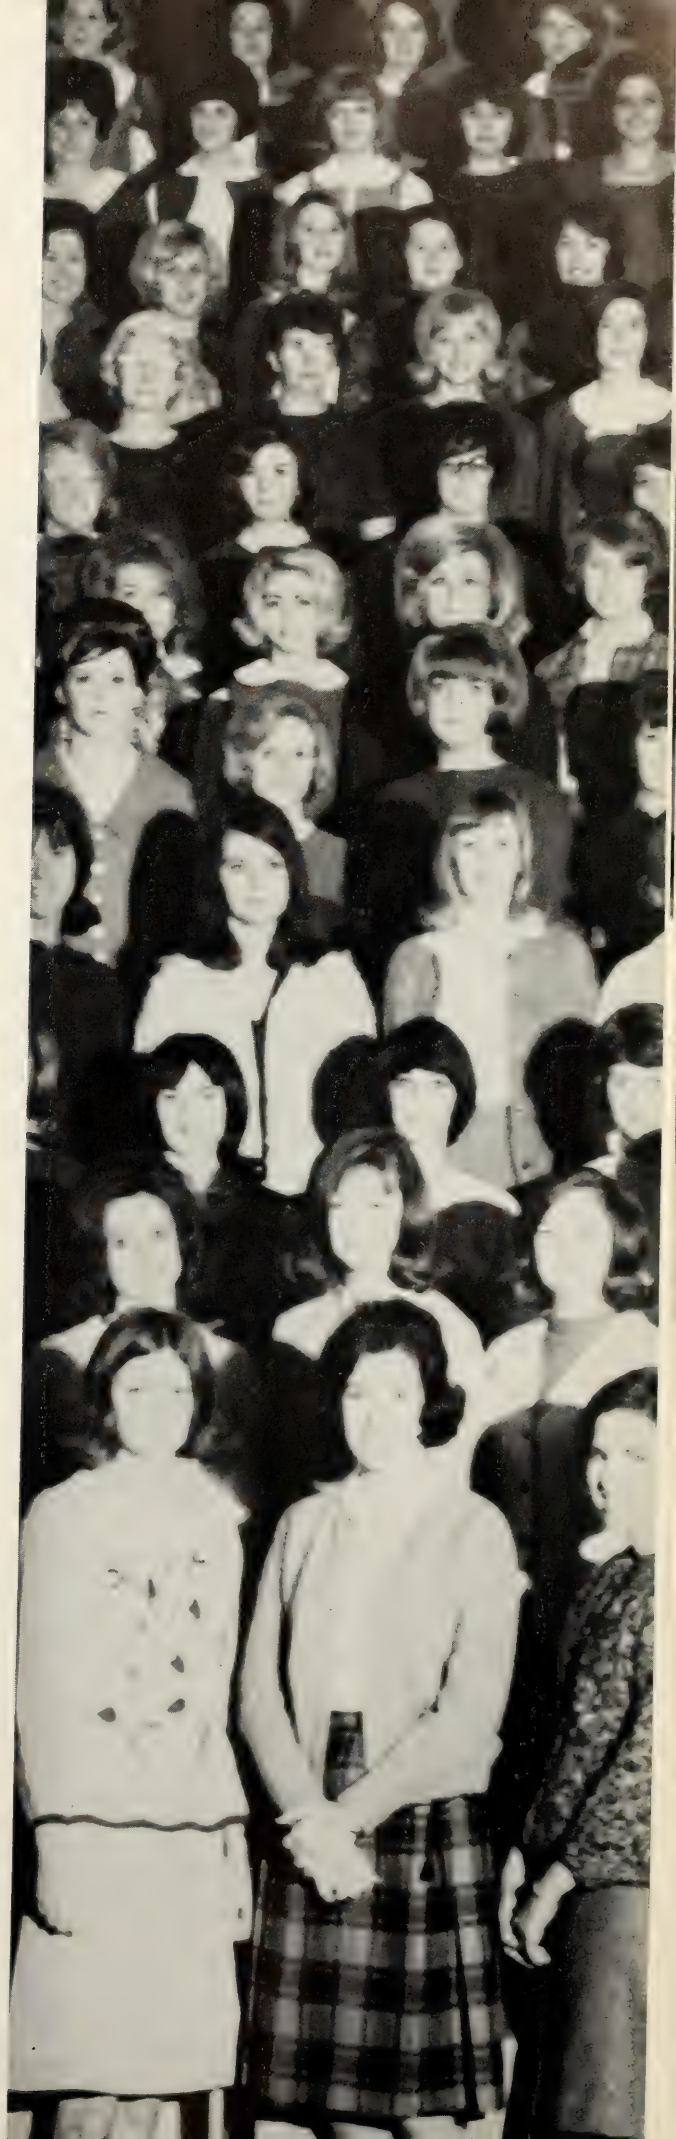

For the semi-finals judging of the REDSKIN Beauties three men from Oklahoma City radio stations came up to look at the girls.

In his second year as head photographer for both of the publications, Barry Blackman was usually on the go many hours a day.

ORGANIZATIONS

KEY-BOARD COMMISSION

Brothers Four Entertained The Campus

The Blue Key-Mortar Board Joint Commission for University Services was established in the spring of 1965 in order that these two national senior honorary fraternities may better serve Oklahoma State University in a joint effort. Key-Board Commission is composed of three members of Blue Key with one acting as director and three members of Mortar Board with one acting as associate director. The presidents of the two honoraries shall be ex-officio members.

The purpose of the commission is to select, contract, and manage entertainment of national renown and to offer this entertainment to the university community at reasonable prices. The proceeds of this effort shall be returned to the students by means of scholarships and campus improvement in addition to the added highlight of bringing outstanding entertainers to the campus.

Since its origination, Key-Board Commission has brought to Oklahoma State University such outstanding artists as the "Christy Minstrels", the "Brothers Four" and "Peter, Paul and Mary". With these proceeds, Key-Board Commission has contributed to the Bob Swaffer Fund and to Government Week. It is the commission's ambition that through combined efforts, it may continue to serve the university in an effective and efficient manner.

Rick Messer and Billie Jo Matthews served as director and associate director, with Abe L. Hesser as advisor.

IK Gave Campus Tours to Guest of University

Intercollegiate Knights, national honorary service fraternity for sophomore men, was active on campus this year by participating in such projects as the Arnold Air Society blood drive, ushering at Key-Board presentations such as the Brothers Four and Peter, Paul, and Mary, and by giving campus tours to guests of the university. Socially, the IK's had a pushball game with the women of Orange Quill at Boomer Lake which was a memorable occasion for both groups, even after the game broke up for tea and glee.

Phi Eta Sigma Issued a "Study Hints" Booklet

Phi Eta Sigma has been recognized at OSU by way of "Hints on How to Study" booklets given to incoming freshmen during orientation and by their "scholars caps" worn during pledging. The 3.5 membership requirement, though hard met, is greatly rewarded by the steaks served at the initiation banquet held each semester.

Orange and Black Quill Gave a Children's Story

Orange and Black Quill, honorary organization for active junior women with outstanding grade achievement, provided such community services as a Christmas party for underprivileged children and a tea for international students. Other activities included a breakfast for Mortar Board members and a Smarty Party.

Orange Quill Exemplified High Scholarship

Tutoring grade school children at Lincoln School and selling candy for a freshman scholarship were among the activities of Orange Quill the past year. Dean Zelma Patchin and

Rev. Irving Smith spoke before the group and a "smarty party" was held for all 3.5 first semester freshmen that qualified for membership.

LASSO'S and LARIATS

Homecoming Queen Sponsored 1st Time

As the only honorary organization on campus that offers membership to both men and women, Lassos and Lariats was formed for the purpose of promoting school spirit and pride in the university through scholarship, leadership, and service. Each living group was allowed one representative a year from its sophomores and juniors who have maintained a 3.0 grade average. Pledging lasts through most of the fall semester and entails fund raising projects and out-of-town trips.

For members, the principal project was the selection of the two Homecoming co-chairmen and coordination of the annual Homecoming activities in conjunction with the Alumni Association and student activities office. Other events sponsored by the organization included pep rallies, school spirit dances, and the flash card section.

Evidence of the leadership training function of Lassos and Lariats were the numerous positions of leadership its members have held. Among these positions are presidents of the Student Association, Intercollegiate Knights, Phi Eta Sigma, Student Education Association, and Orange and Black Quill.

Officers of the club this past year were Royce Singleton, president; Jim Schuelke, vice-president; Delaine Jones, secretary; Jane Sample, treasurer.

O-STATERS

Members Sell Pep Ribbons Before Game

O-Staters, a campus pep organization composed of freshman and sophomore students, has completed another year of active participation in the job of school spirit. The membership was comprised of two representatives from the freshman and sophomore classes from each living group on campus.

Members participated in cheers as a group at all football and basketball games during the year, and attended one basketball game played away. They also assisted the Lassos and Lariats in organizing and promoting pep rallies before each game.

O-Staters were seen scurrying around campus early Homecoming morning hanging black and orange streamers from the radio antennas of all the cars on campus. They distributed OSU pep ribbons in the Student Union before each football game and near the "jail" during Western Week. This year initiated a new home football game extra entertainment—a flash card section. Also, for the Homecoming game O-Staters acquired a bell which they pushed around the field before the game and during the parade.

Requirements for membership are a 2.0 grade point average, freshman or sophomore standing, and an interest in promoting and showing their own school spirit.

O-Staters was established in 1960 by Lassos and Lariats and has grown greatly to become one of the largest organizations on campus. In six years, O-Staters has grown from under 50 members to well over 160 members. The rise of O-Staters has been attributed to the eagerness and contagious enthusiasm of the members to boost the spirit of OSU. Through this eagerness O-Staters has been able to sponsor several functions to promote spirit, such as their pre-football game activities and competition for largest group attendance at pep rallies.

O-Staters Acquired Bell for Homecoming

Officers of O-Staters this past year included Larry Mueggenborg, president; Susan Gahn, first vice-president; Jody Walls, second vice-president; Donna Aboussi, secretary; Marilyn Mengedoht, treasurer; and Bill Norris, social chairman.

O-Stater's executive council proudly showed the bell they secured to ring at O-State victories, especially like down South.

INTERCOLLEGIATE PARTY

Students Experience Practical Politics

The Inter-Collegiate Party, with membership open to all students on the Oklahoma State University campus, was founded in 1952 to further the interests of student government. The party structure is designed to give practical political training through campaigning and electioneering for party candidates.

The ICP is the largest political organization on campus, with over 3,000 members. In past campaigns, the majority of student senators and class officers have been elected on the Inter-Collegiate Party ticket. The ICP is governed by its executive council and the central committee, under the chairmanship of the first vice-president. The party maintains an office in the Student Union.

New for the fall of 1965 was the election of ICP officers each semester, providing for a slate of officers for each campus campaign. The election of IFC officers was held after each campus-wide election. The fall election was held in December and the spring election in late April.

Fall semester officers of the Inter-Collegiate Party were Gene Dorris, president; Pete Harvey, first vice-president; Barry White, second vice-president; Paula Steeper, recording secretary; Sherrill Anne DuFour, corresponding secretary; and Susan Bailey, treasurer.

UNIVERSITY PARTY

Party Organized To Improve Gov't

The University Party is open to all students of Oklahoma State University who do not already belong to another campus political organization. The presence of all campus living groups in its membership during its first year on the campus enabled the party to fulfill its purpose of promoting good student government by representing the students in all facets of university life. It is through the political parties at the university that students may attain knowledge of government.

Feeling a great need for improved student government, the men of Cordell Hall formed their own political party this past year and invited other students to join. Feeling three parties would be detrimental to the two-party system on campus, the Independent Party disbanded. Through the work of the officers and members, the University Party was able to elect 75 per cent of its candidates to the Student Senate.

The party began its activities this year by selecting officers for the coming election in its regularly scheduled annual meeting.

Officers for the University Party for the 1965-66 school year were Ron Shirley, president; Janet Carpenter, vice-president; Sharon Davis, secretary, and David Harris, treasurer.

ALPHA ZETA

Ag Education Promoted by Exchange Visit

This has been an outstanding year for the Oklahoma chapter of Alpha Zeta since the national president is Prof. Fred LeCrone, director of student personnel for the OSU College of Agriculture. Also, the local chapter is celebrating its golden anniversary. It was founded on April 24, 1916, and has since provided 50 years of service to agriculture. This year's banquet was dedicated to Alpha Zeta's past leaders. Lt. Gov. Leo Winters was the speaker.

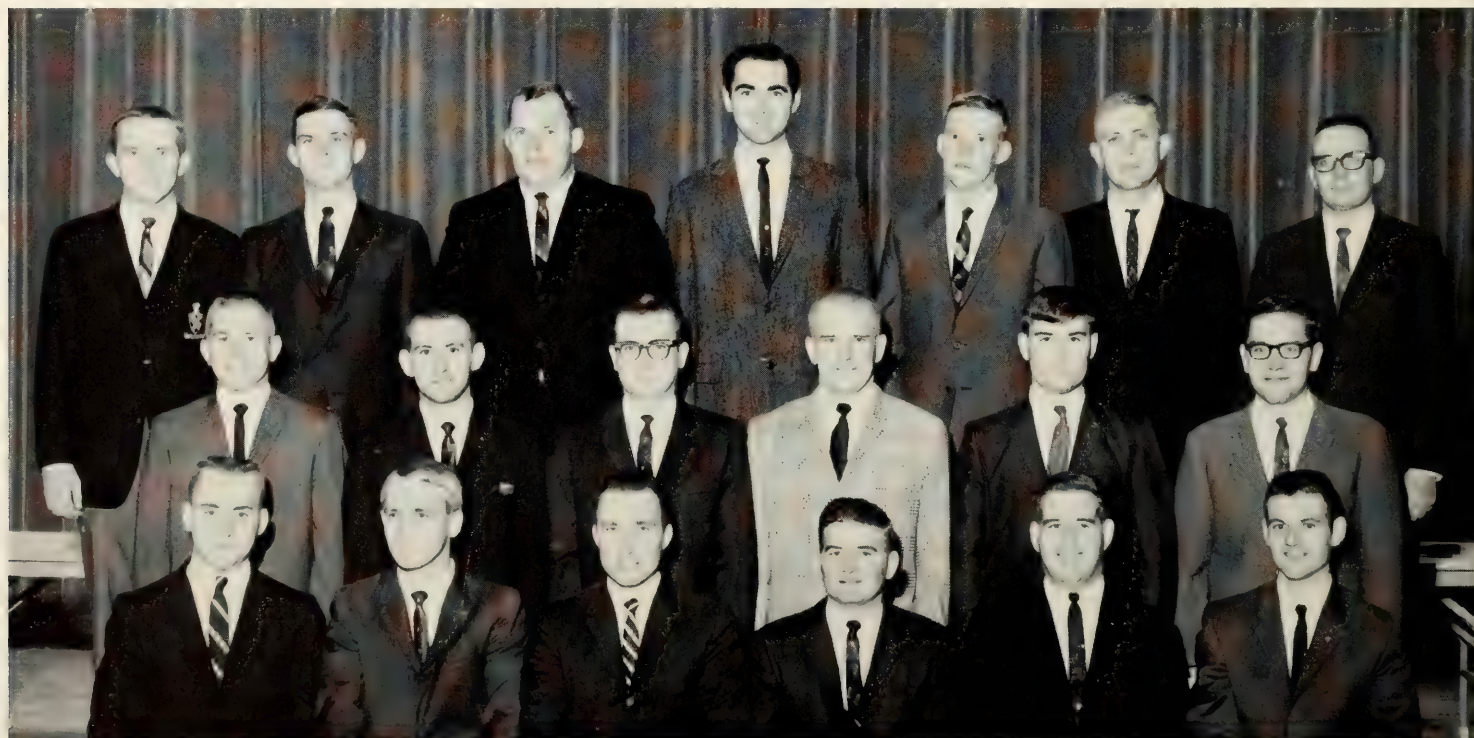

Alpha Zeta's primary goal is to help promote agriculture. This goal is sought in several ways. First Alpha Zeta helps promote agriculture and Oklahoma State by assisting with career or college nights held in the state's high schools. Second, Alpha Zeta recognizes an outstanding instructor from the College of Agriculture at an annual spring banquet. Also given special recognition are the outstanding female students majoring in agriculture. A final example of Alpha Zeta's goal achievement efforts is shown in the chapter's effort to foster the education of outstanding agriculture students by providing substantial scholarships.

Officers were Ladd Hudgins, president; Bob Staigmiller, vice-president; Steve Armbruster, secretary; Glen Stiles, reporter; Scott Sherrill, treasurer; Gary Mennem, sergeant-at-arms, and David Chandler, Agriculture Council representative.

AGGIE-X

State Ag Establishments Were Observed

Aggie X, a student agricultural economics club, has taken on a new slate of activities, including educational field trips within the state to observe some of the more highly intensified agricultural operations. This year's trips included Altus and Gumon, where new types of agri-business establishments such as meat packing, cotton, and fertilizer companies were observed.

A newsletter was published by the members to all graduates of the department. The members were encouraged also to prepare debates, speeches, and research papers for the national conventions held at different universities each summer. Jon Ford was chosen at the convention to be the national president of the student section of the American Farm Economics Association. Another honor was received by Gary Butler for his outstanding speaking ability.

Monthly meetings were held with planned programs featuring speakers who discussed the subjects in the varied fields of agriculture of particular interest to the members. Of special interest was Per Anderson from Denmark, who spoke on agricultural cooperatives in his country.

Aggie X officers were Jerry Zahl, president; Richard Crow, vice-president; Barry Bloyd, secretary; Larry Heard, treasurer; Joe Hinz, council representative; and Dr. John Goodwin and Dr. Dan Badger, advisors.

Aggie Toastmasters, the oldest toastmaster organization on campus, was formed by agriculture students who wished to improve their public speaking ability. Main events of the year included semi-annual ladies' night banquets and exchange meetings with other toastmaster clubs. Regular meetings featured discussions on speaking improvement.

ASAE Exhibited in the Engineering Exposition

Yearly activities for the American Society of Agricultural Engineers included the honors and awards banquet, the faculty-student picnic in the spring, the exhibit in the Engineering Exposition, and the field trip to observe agricultural engineering as carried on by industry. ASAE encourages fellowship between students and faculty.

AGRONOMY CLUB

State Toured for Better Understanding

The OSU Agronomy Club, since its establishment in 1923 as the Klod and Kernel Klub, has strived to further education and interest in the field. It became a chapter of the Student Activities Subdivision of the American Society of Agronomy in 1932.

The membership is composed of all those persons interested in the progress of agronomy. The club added 23 members during the fall semester.

Touring sections of the state helped to foster an understanding of material not learned in the classroom. The informal affair afforded recreation and related text book material to the business world. Club-sponsored judging teams in the agronomic fields of crops, soils, and range management ranked high in national competition. It helped with state high school interscholastic crop and soils contests. It also sponsored two intercollegiate crop contests for OSU students.

At the annual Agronomy Club Awards Banquet, the club recognized those individuals who had shown outstanding performance in the club and its activities. It also acknowledged individuals and groups in the field of agronomy.

Officers for the past year included Glen Price, president; Walter Reick, vice-president; Dennis Ressel, treasurer; Leroy Johnson, recording secretary; Ronnie Brewer, corresponding secretary.

ALPHA TAU ALPHA

Group Hosted Future Farmers Convention

Alpha Tau Alpha, a national and professional honorary fraternity, strives to improve and advance agricultural education. During one meeting each year, senior members present problems and experiences they encounter during student teaching. Other activities included presentations by professional educators, visits to vocational agriculture departments, and exchange visits to Alpha Tau Alpha chapters in other states. A visit to Stillwater High School's new farm shop was interesting and informative of the changing role of farm mechanics. Service activities included being host to the State Future Farmers of America Convention held in Gallagher Hall and assisting with state

Future Farmers of America interscholastic contests.

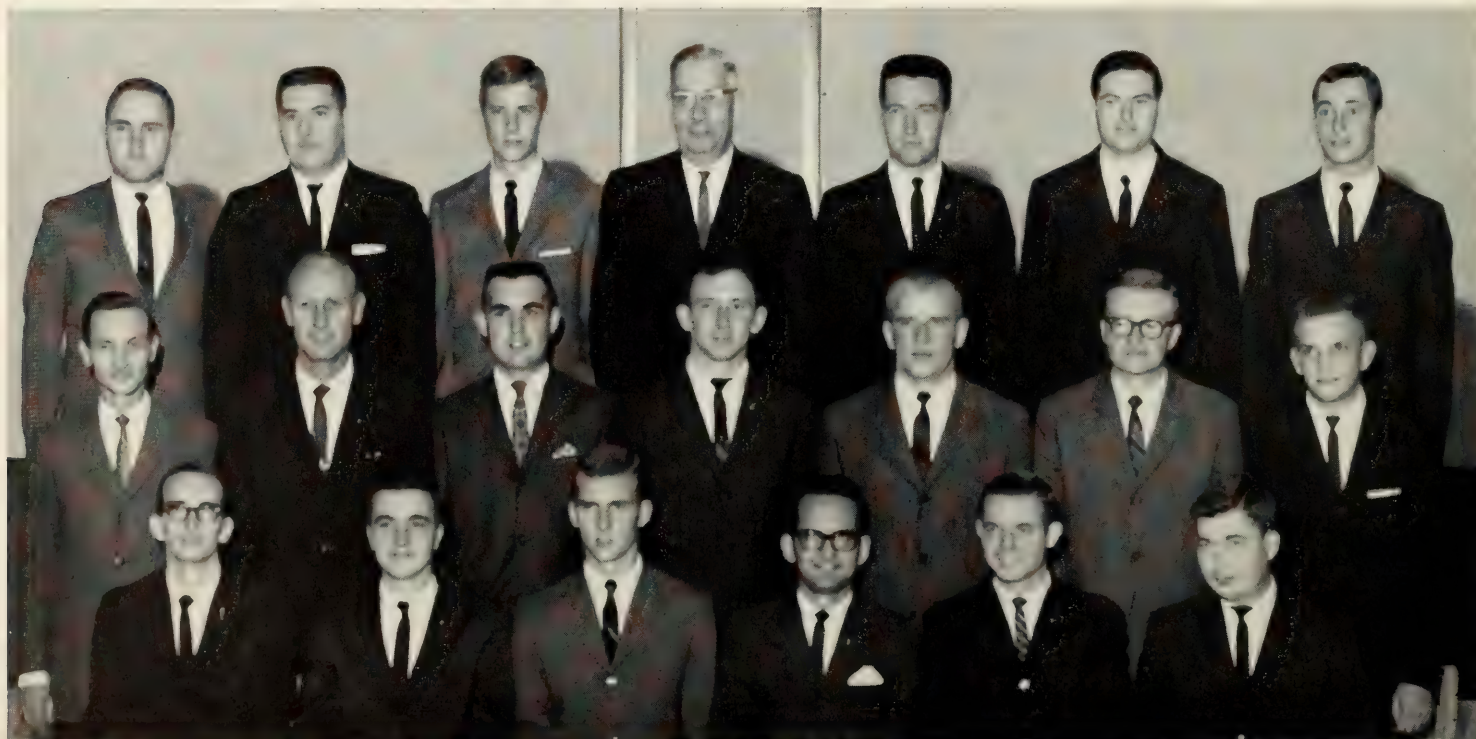

The requirement of a 2.7 grade point average stimulates a high level of scholarship among agricultural education majors. The organization requires 45 semester hours or one semester of residence credit for transfer students.

Alpha Beta chapter of Alpha Tau Alpha was organized on the Oklahoma State University campus in 1963.

DAIRY SCIENCE CLUB

Cheese Festival, Banquet Were on Agenda

The Dairy Science Club is composed of students from Oklahoma State University who are interested in the science of dairy production and the technology of dairy manufacturing. The primary purpose of the club is to promote cooperation and understanding among the students.

This year the club enjoyed several speakers at its meetings. Dr. Milton E. Wells of the dairy science department spoke on agriculture in Ethiopia and Lloyd Stinett showed pictures of the Sudan where he spent four years in agricultural work and dairying. Two members of the judging team, Kenneth McDaniel and Randall Brown, showed slides of their trip to Mon-treau, Canada for a judging contest. Phil Bornemann showed slides from his summer as an official guide at the World's Fair.

This year the Dairy Science Club also sponsored a club queen contest and chose Miss Beverly Beachboard to reign as queen for the 1965-66 school year. The club assisted with the Cheese Festival, published a yearbook, and had an annual banquet and spring picnic.

Officers for the past year included Kenneth McDaniel, president; Charles McFate, vice-president; Arlis Unrau, secretary, and Sherrell Griffith. H. C. Olson and Robert L. Von Gunten served as faculty advisors.

BLOCK AND BRIDLE

Club Sponsored Little International Show

The Block and Bridle Club was the sponsor of several events during the year. Two rodeos, one in the fall and one in the spring, were the main money-making events for the club. Each rodeo made a net profit of around $1,110.00. The rodeos are open only to OSU students and are held in the Animal Science Arena.

The club also sponsored a Little International, a showmanship contest for students. Cattle, sheep, swine, and horses were the types of livestock shown and were furnished by the Animal Science Department.

A yearbook has been published each year for the past three years by the organization. This is the newest activity that the club has undertaken. Every year all Block and Bridle clubs in the United States send in scrapbooks and annual reports to Chicago for competition. The books were judged at the National Block and Bridle meeting. This year the OSU Block and Bridle Club placed third on its annual report and fourth on scrapbooks.

Block and Bridle Club had a large party each semester. During the fall semester a Christmas party was held. All members and the faculty of the Animal Science Department were invited. The second party was the spring dinner dance, during which awards were given to outstanding animal science students.

The National Commission Company presented two $300 scholarships, one to a sophomore and one to a junior. This year's winners were Ernest Parker, Lindsay, and Scott Sherrill, Apache.

The Block and Bridle Club's main objective is to provide money for the livestock and meats judging teams, which travel to Denver, Ft. Worth, Kansas City, and Chicago.

Officers are elected for each semester. The fall semester officers were Bob Regnier, president; Ken Holloway, vice-president; Larry Miller, secretary; Lilla Coddling, treasurer; Gary Harding, marshall, Sam Houston, parliamentarian, and Scott Sherill, reporter. Faculty advisors are Dr. Richard Willham and Dr. Irvin Omtvedt.

COLLEGIATE FFA

Purebred Livestock Sent to Panama Group

The first collegiate chapter of the Future Farmers of America was founded in 1932 at OSU. Since then it has trained many teachers of vocational agriculture.

While promoting vocational education in Oklahoma's secondary schools the chapter attempts to provide a variety of the type training needed by its members. Annual activities included assisting the state association with district speech and chapter meeting contests, state interscholastics, and the state FFA convention.

During the year the chapter had a donkey ball game and a banquet. The banquet, held each spring, is in honor of the student teachers in vocational agriculture and their cooperating teachers. The chapter's special project of the year was sending purebred livestock to the Panama FFA chapter. As well as improvement of their livestock, it is hoped that this program of international scope will improve understanding among the Future Farmers of Panama and the Future Farmers of America.

Collegiate FFA Queen for 1965-1966 has been Judy Herring, a Tulsa junior majoring in math.

First semester officers were Tobie Titsworth, president, Terry Dibble, vice-president, Don Proctor, secretary; Bill Hager, reporter; John Crowley, treasurer, and James Birdwell, sentinel.

COLLEGIATE 4-H

Strived for Rural Problem Understanding

Consisting of over 100 members, the OSU Collegiate 4-H is active throughout the year. Participation in the annual 4-H Round-Up was one of their major activities. Each summer 4-H club boys and girls from Oklahoma high schools come to the OSU campus to participate in workshops and compete with each other by presenting demonstrations and speeches. OSU Collegiate 4-H members act as official hosts and group leaders for the workshops.

A Christmas party for underprivileged Stillwater children was given by club members at which time they gave clothes. Members also participated in weiner roasts and square dances to exemplify their variety of activities.

The Collegiate 4-H strives to further the understanding of rural problems over the world and stressed useful citizenship and leadership in the community, while maintaining a social fellowship with one another.

Officers for the school year 1965-66 included Mickey Vanderwork, president; Earl Cinnamon, vice-president; Deann Stinchcomb, secretary; Carol Vanderwork, treasurer; Larry Swanda, Agriculture Student Council representative; Jerry McPeak and Joy Whitson, social chairman, and Donnie Tallent, parliamentarian.

FORESTRY CLUB

Log Jam Picnic Proved Fun for Everyone

The objectives of the Forestry Club are to promote the academic, social, and professional interests of its members. Striving to meet these objectives, the men of the Forestry Club held the first social event of the school year, the Log Jam Picnic, at Lake Carl Blackwell. A skillet throwing contest for the women, a log sawing contest for the men, and much barbecued chicken for everyone hit the spot for loads of fun.

This year, the club selected as queen, Miss Verna Hooper to succeed Miss Mary Lee Williams. Her duties were to represent the Forestry Club in the Homecoming parade and Aggie Princess contest.

During the Homecoming festivities the club was busy with a float. This and other activities of the Forestry Club were financed by membership dues, cutting and selling firewood, Christmas trees, and operating a concession stand at the home football games. The club annual, The Forester, is to record the activities and events of the Forestry Club for its members and alums. Space was sold to forest industries to finance it.

This spring the Foresters' Field Day was held at Theta Pond, and club members competed in forestry skills and technical events to determine who would represent OSU at the forester's conclave sponsored by the Association of Southern Forestry Clubs. Last year the foresters journeyed to Raleigh, North Carolina, to represent OSU in the conclave and compete against eleven other forestry clubs.

Foresters Place in Conclave Competition

The OSU foresters brought back a new chain saw for second place and several individual first place trophies.

At the spring banquet awards were presented to the freshman with the highest grade point, to the junior who had the best attitude and interest in forestry, and to a sophomore a scholarship to help pay camp expenses.

The OSU Forestry Club was named the outstanding club in the College of Agriculture by Agriculture Council of Departmental Clubs.

Officers of Forestry Club were James Ramey, president; Bob Pratz, vice-president; Ron Johnson, recording secretary, and Edwin Y. Wheeler, club advisor.

Energetically cutting firewood into ricks and cords, members of Forestry Club were preparing for their money making project.

HORTICULTURE CLUB

Pecan Scion Wood Sale was Major Project

Pecan growers from over the state have waited for the Horticulture Club's annual pecan scion wood sale. The grafting wood results in improved varieties for paper shell pecans and in providing the club's major source of income. The organization also held a coleus sale in the Student Union the weekend before Mothers' Day.

Through such activities, the club's 28 members continually worked to perpetuate horticulture and demonstrate its ever increasing importance in Oklahoma. It was for this purpose that the OSU Horticulture Club was established in 1917. Members are interested in nursery production, fruit and vegetable growing, landscape design and floriculture.

Jim Samley, Dan Hanna, and Eddie Pledger were the club's delegates to the National Society of Horticulture Science meeting. Club members were divided into teams to compete in flower judging. The three top winners went to the national judging competition.

Bi-monthly meetings were highlighted by speakers from many fields of horticulture, who spoke on various topics relating to the field.

Serving as officers were Jack Norton, president; Eddie Pledger, vice-president; Michael Rosebeary, secretary, and J. Dan Hanna, treasurer. Advisors were F. A. Romshe and R. N. Payne.

OSU Botanical Club Kept Publications Library

The OSU Botanical Club stimulated an interest in botanical sciences and promoted cultural interchange among American and foreign students. Numerous informal coffees to foster better student-faculty relations, a library of current news publications, an area for study, refreshments, and relaxation were club sponsored activities.

Soil Conservation Society Participated in Fairs

The student branch of the Soil Conservation Society sponsored the OSU Soil Judging Team which was active in the county, district, and state fairs this year. Other activities included the annual spring educational tour to such places as the Noble Foundation in Ardmore and the Cherokee Experimental Station near Salt Plains Lake.

POULTRY SCIENCE

Judging Team Set All-time Scoring Record

Queen election is always a popular time for Poultry Science Club members. This year Miss Karen Tredway was selected to reign as queen for 1965-66.

Turkey for everyone was served at the annual Christmas honors banquet, especially for judging teams, scholarship winners, and guests. Poultry judging teams have set records and also won their share of the prizes. At the Chicago International Livestock Show in 1965, the judging team set an all-time team scoring record and had first, second, and fourth place individuals. Eleven wins in 15 contests is the record held by Dr. J. C. Gilbreath and his judging teams during his past seven years at OSU.

Leadership, fellowship and brotherhood are the three objectives of the Poultry Science Club, formerly called the Spur and Comb club. Officers for the school year 1965-66 were Benny McDonald, president; Donald McDonald, vice-president; Wilbur Thomas, secretary; Erwin Igo, treasurer, and Dr. George Newell, advisor. These men are in charge of seeing that the club dresses broilers and turkeys in the fall, of planning the annual alumni spring picnic, of helping with dinners for various poultry meetings, and of publishing their annual, The Avian Age.

Wildlife Conservation Society Studied Resources

The OSU Wildlife Conservation Society has as its purpose the uniting of the members of the organization with those conservationists now working in the field toward a common goal of study and conservation of our wildlife resources. A continuing objective has been the preservation of the state's wildlife for vacationers to enjoy.

E. Bennett Council Brought IOA Ranch Boys

The East Bennett Council this year undertook several major projects that included the annual Big Eight Dance, the Blazer Ball, and a prize-winning entry in the SUAB Fair. The council, also, brought the boys from the IOA Ranch to OSU for the excitement of Homecoming, instead of entering the traditional homecoming competition.

STUDENT AVMA

Kansas AVMA Chapter Hosted OSU

AVMA provided its members with numerous activities. Each year they participate in Homecoming with a float. All vet students were invited to be the guest of the Kansas Student AVMA chapter for a weekend in the fall. For Christmas a party was given for the children of all veterinary professors and students.

In May the Awards Banquet recognized many outstanding students. The following awards were presented: Merik Award, Auxiliary Award, Phi Zeta Award, Dr. Irwin Award, Dean McElroy Award, and the Nordem Award.

Meetings which were held twice monthly included the following speakers and topics: Mr. Mitchel Hutchinson, "AVMA Insurance"; Lt. Colonel Kirk and Captain Harwell, "Veterinary Military Service"; Dr. John Azlin, "Utilization of Modern Veterinary Hospitals"; Mr. Rader, "Stockmarkets"; Dr. Armestead, "Futures of Veterinary Medicine", and Dr. Kammerlocker, "Exotic Diseases."

Vet med has two fraternities, Omega Tau Sigma and Alpha Psi, which are approximately equal in size. Both of these professional fraternities have many chapters at other vet schools in the nation. Pledging and the various fraternity functions gave students a break from their strict curriculums. Those who qualified for membership were rushed with a series of parties during the early part of the second semester.

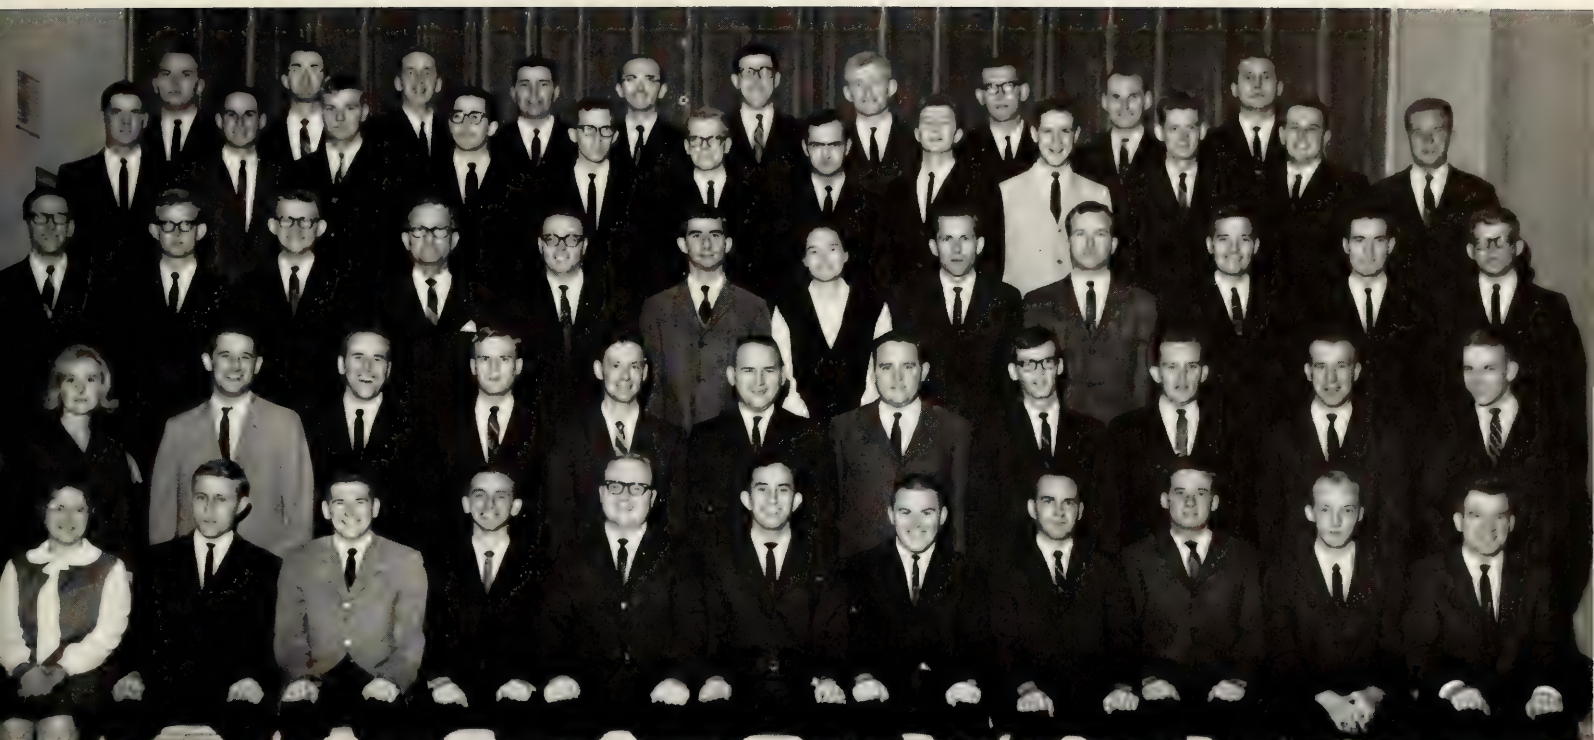

The AVMA students also produced their own yearbook, "Caduceus". Each year the

Alpha Kappa Psi Took Field Trip to Kansas City

Various types of businesses were represented by speakers at meetings of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity. Representatives came from Phillips Petroleum Company and the AFL-CIO, and Mr. J. W. Gardner, vice-president of the First National Bank in Stillwater, spoke to the group. Last year Alpha Kappa Psi traveled to Dallas, Texas, to tour Texas Instruments, Ford Motor Company, and the First National Bank. This year the club took their field trip to Kansas City, Missouri.

Beta Alpha Psi Toured National Bank of Tulsa

Beta Alpha Psi, honorary and professional accounting fraternity, included in its activities field trips, meetings, and banquets. Highlights of the year featured a trip to the National Bank of Tulsa and Mr. Lee Teague, FBI Special Agent in Oklahoma, speaker at a meeting. The group also sponsored tutor sessions for elementary accounting students.

SOCIETY FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT

Managers Learned to Activate Success

This year SAM has enjoyed speakers from the Loveless Personnel Agency in Tulsa and from the OSU campus. A field trip to the Lone Star Steel Plant and the Dallas Morning News highlighted some of this year's activities.

SAM's international appeal is shown through the membership of many foreign students. These students will undoubtedly use the knowledge and experience gained through SAM to benefit their home land.

The bridge between science and management is the goal of SAM. Management is needed to convert disorganized resources of men, machines, and money into a useful enterprise. Managers conceive of the service an enterprise can render, mobilize the required means of production, coordinate activities both within the enterprise and with the outside world, and inspire people associated with the enterprise to work toward common objectives. Managers are the activating element of success.

As a national professional organization composed of students interested in the science of management, SAM serves as a medium for the exchange of information, policies, and methods of management.

Officers were Richard Gilby, president; Bennie Cravatt, vice-president; Jim Boiles, treasurer; Phil Reneau, recording secretary; Steve Green, corresponding secretary.

MU KAPPA TAU

Field Trips Taken to Dallas and Houston

Stimulating interest in marketing through field trips and contact with the faculty and business men is the main purpose of Mu Kappa Tau. Outstanding businessmen presented programs to the students. From Phillips Petroleum, Jim Fitchette, manager of chemical products advertising, and Warren J. Wallgreen, creative assistant of sales promotion, presented a program with films and slides, showing students how promotional tools are used at Phillips. Mr. Harry Bullen, assistant advertising manager of the "Oil and Gas Journal," explained how advertising space is sold to prospective firms. The assistant manager of WKY-TV spoke to the club on the media selling process of advertising in the television industry. The executive vice-president of Lowe Runkle Advertising Agency presented to Mu Kappa Tau the operations and functions of an advertising agency.

Members of Mu Kappa Tau had the opportunity to take field trips to several large business centers. Dallas offered such places of interest as Neiman-Marcus, Olenn Advertising Agency, The Merchandise Mart and Sears. Houston offered Humble Oil Company, Foley's Department Store and other interesting places.

Officers were Don Bates, president; Ron Grother, vice-president; Jan Reeher, recording secretary; Tom Reams, treasurer.

Outstanding Businessmen Spoke Here

In addition to field trips and outside speakers, the organization sponsored parties and other social activities while encouraging fellowship among the business students.

MKT was founded in 1939 by Dr. John Waggle, head of the marketing department, and was incorporated in 1949 under the laws of the state of Oklahoma. At the present MKT is one of the largest and most active professional organizations on the OSU campus.

Thus, classroom theory became real and meaningful to Mu Kappa Tau members as they viewed the classroom principles applied to actual problems and situations in modern business.

Confidence, poise, and public speaking were among the side benefits gained by the officers at the meetings.

HOTEL AND RESTAURANT SOCIETY

Hospitality Days Highlighted the Spring

The Hotel and Restaurant Society strives to develop professional bearing and hospitality among the students, to include cooperation with the School of Hotel and Restaurant Administration and with the industry. Guest speakers at bi-weekly meetings have included Andrew C. Caine, representing a large Dallas Hotel accounting firm and A. J. Pennella, vice-president of the Sheraton Oklahoma Corporation. Mr. Pennella was also host to the Society on its field trip that included a tour of the facilities of the Sheraton Oklahoma in Oklahoma City.

The organization, one of twelve nationally, was established in 1956 on the OSU campus. Those eligible for membership must be enrolled in the School of Hotel and Restaurant Administration.

The highlight of the year's activities was the annual Hospitality Days held in the spring. During this weekend representatives from the industry spoke on topics of general information and subjects specific to the field. Also, at that time, awards and special recognition were given to outstanding students in their profession.

This year's officers were Norman Schnieder, president; Eric Behnke, vice-president; Alan Cambra, secretary-treasurer; Roberts Gray, corresponding secretary; and R. J. Ross, student council representative.

Beta Gamma Sigma Based on Scholarship

Thirty-nine College of Business students, selected on the basis of their high academic standing, were initiated along with two faculty members at the society's fall banquet. Beta Gamma Sigma also sponsored the outstanding freshman and sophomore award, which was presented at the yearly Business Day Banquet.

Beta Upsilon Sigma Open to all Business Majors

Beta Upsilon Sigma is open to all girls enrolled in the College of Business and is not limited to specific majors. It is the only business organization open to freshman women.

Speakers told about business opportunities open to women. Dr. R. B. Griffith spoke at the November meeting on opportunities for women in business education.

Delta Sigma Pi Pledges Sold Parents' Day Mums

Delta Sigma Pi is a professional organization to promote closer affiliation between the world of commerce and students of commerce. During the first semester pledges sold mums for Parents' Day. The organization visited Star Manufacturing Company, where an executive spoke to their group. A state day was held in Oklahoma City.

Iota Nu Sigma Visited Insurance Underwriters

The major field trip of the year for Iota Nu Sigma was taken to Oklahoma City to an insurance underwriters meeting. Through the organization, scholarships are donated by insurance companies. Insurance men from the Stillwater and Oklahoma City areas spoke this year on such topics as life, property and casualty, and group insurance.

SOUTHWESTERN SALES EXECUTIVE CLUB

College Summer Program Organized

The Southwestern Executive Sales Club was organized on the OSU campus in 1963 to promote kinship among campus men working as salesmen for the Southwestern Company, one of the oldest publishing firms in the nation. A program has been established including regular sessions for the training and instruction of these men in such a manner that the standards and integrity of the Southwestern Company and the individual student employees will be upheld. For the many students who depend almost entirely on their summer earnings for money to meet school expenses, the Southwestern Company has had a college program that, since 1868, has enabled thousands of students to pay part or all of these expenses. There exists a close relationship between each student and his sales manager. The sales manager learns much about the student's problems, ambitions, strong points, and weaknesses and tries to develop the individual capacities as much as possible. This year there were over 300 students from OSU selected to take part in the training program.

Officers have included Gene McKown, president; Bob Sherrer, vice-president; Dewey Williams, treasurer; Alvin Beadles, reporter; Alton Robertson, program chairman, and Edwin Meyers, chaplain. James McNeal was the advisor and Spencer Hays was the sales manager.

Pi Omega Pi Feted Business Education Majors

Juniors and seniors who expect to become business majors find Pi Omega Pi very interesting and helpful. This honorary national business education fraternity, promotes interest in scholarship and professional life. It requires a 3.0 in business and a 2.5 in all other areas of study. To have informed members is the major goal.

Sigma Alpha Sigma Required Activities and 3.0

Sigma Alpha Sigma is a national honorary secretarial administration organization. Its goals are to recognize scholarship and to promote professional interest in secretarial fields.

Activities and interest in the field plus a 3.0 overall grade point is required for membership. Advisor for the group is Miss Olive Galloway.

ASSOCIATION OF CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

Fourth Grade Class Provided Program

Several phases of elementary education have been included in the programs this year of the Association of Childhood Education. At one of the monthly meetings Dr. Hoffer spoke to the group about Project Head Start. Children and teachers were seen in action when a panel made up of small children and teachers discussed "What Christmas means to Me." The problem of special education was discussed at another meeting in terms of working with the mentally retarded. A girl who had spent three years in English schools spoke on the contrasts between the American and British school systems. A fourth grade class from a Stillwater elementary school provided one of the programs for ACE. The program was similar to those given at the elementary school for such groups as the PTA.

A major project has been to work with the YWCA in their program for third, fourth, and fifth graders. Once a month ACE members worked up an informative skit or provided a religious program for the Tri-Gray Y. ACE members also helped at basketball games sponsored by the YWCA.

The officers of ACE were Jo Ellen Johnson, president; Jill Harris, vice-president; Nancy Hansen, secretary; Elma Horton, treasurer; Janet Prater, student council representative; Dr. Idella Lohmann and Dr. Vernon Troxel, advisors.

STUDENT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

National Teacher of Year Was Speaker

The Student Education Association is the pre-professional association for university students preparing to teach. Dues entitle members to receive the Oklahoma Teacher and the NEA Journal, monthly education magazines, and includes membership in OEA and NEA, the largest professional associations in the world.

Based primarily on acquainting the membership with future practices, problems and duties of teachers, the SEA is a link between members and the faculty of the College of Education. Membership is open to all students majoring in education.

This year's schedule of programs included Mrs. Lawana Trout, 1964 National Teacher of the Year, "The Ideal Teacher" from the viewpoint of a panel of grade school children, "Hows and Whys of Teacher Applications," and other informative and interesting programs. During American Education Week, the SEA sponsored a Display Mart featuring displays from various fields of education.

SEA encourages scholarship and leadership by offering a $100 scholarship to a deserving student each year. Two local members, Mary Leugemors and Karan Jo Bumpus, were president and secretary, respectively, of the State SEA. The state convention was held at OSU in April, and the two convention days included speakers and discussions.

The officers of this year's SEA are Karen Anderson, president; Judy Kirk, vice-president; Beverly Cos, secretary; Janie Smelser, treasurer; Kenneth Wiggins and J. W. Blankenship, advisors.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Trip Taken To Hissom Memorial Center

The purpose of Kappa Delta Pi is to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education. To this end it shall invite to membership such persons as exhibit commendable personal qualities and sound scholarship. It shall endeavor to maintain a high degree of professional fellowship among its members and to quicken professional growth by honoring achievement in education and it included a field trip to Hissom Memorial Center near Tulsa, an institution for the education of mentally retarded children.

Outstanding speakers talked to the group on such topics as speech correction, guidance, rehabilitation, and individual differences.

Lambda chapter also sent delegates to the national convention held in Houston, Texas, in February. A $200 scholarship is offered to juniors each year. This year's recipient was Mary Humphrey. Each year a Kappa Delta Pi Sophomore Award is presented to two sophomores in education who have the highest overall based on the first three semesters of work.

Alpha Beta Alpha Sponsored Discount Book Sale

Alpha Beta Alpha sponsored an annual paperback book sale on the second floor of the Library for its main project. The members sold only recommended-reading books and at discount prices. The money received provided a scholarship for a deserving high school senior who is planning to study library science at OSU.

Alpha Pi Mu Members Are Top in Their Classes

Members of Alpha Pi Mu, national honorary industrial engineering fraternity, are industrial engineers chosen from the top one-fifth of the junior class and the top one-third of the senior class on the basis of scholarship and leadership. Each semester Alpha Pi Mu presented the Outstanding Senior Award to a graduating industrial engineering senior.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Political Education is Vital to Nation

The OSU Young Democrats chapter was established on campus in 1949. The basic purpose of the group is to educate our young people in the methods of political organization and philosophy for an enhancement of their abilities to fulfill the obligations of citizenship. This political education is considered vital to the success of our democracy. As an objective consistent with their purpose, the Young Democrats attempt to interest, educate, and utilize college students to the maximum in this area.

The primary means of attaining this objective is the presentation of issues by noted speakers who are personally involved in the current political scene. Among the various speakers brought to the campus have been U.S. Sen. Fred R. Harris and various contenders for the Democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma, one of which was David Hall, Tulsa county attorney. Former U.S. senator and Oklahoma Governor J. Howard Edmondson was an outstanding speaker brought to the OSU campus in February. He spoke on statewide campaigns, a subject of interest to him as he obtained the largest plurality in state history in the 1958 governor's race.

Presiding over Young Democrat meetings this year have been Mike Cassity, president; Linda Zoldoske, vice-president; Linda Stringer, secretary, and Jim Wallace, treasurer.

AIAA Chapter Received Coveted Bendix Award

Speakers from aerospace-oriented facilities as close as Tulsa and as far as the Arnold Air Development Center, Tennessee, came to the OSU Student Branch of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics this year. The highest award to be received by any student branch, the coveted Bendix award, was received by the OSU branch in 1965.

AIIE Chapter Was Ranked Second in the Nation

The OSU chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers was ranked second most outstanding of the student chapters in the nation by their activities and individual honors.

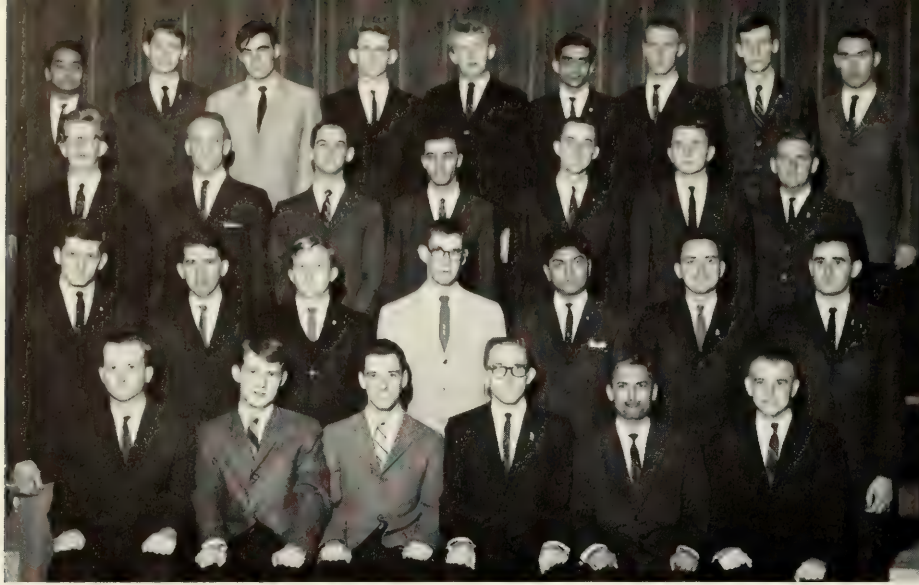

Activities included field trips to such places as a Tulsa steel company, the Boeing plant in Wichita, Kansas, and other industrial points of interest.

ASCE Featured Professional Engineer Speakers

Bi-monthly meetings of the American Society of Civil Engineers featured many ranking professional civil engineers of Oklahoma and the nation as guest speakers. Topics discussed varied from technical presentations to the importance of ethics and professionalism in the young engineer's future activities. The chapter's annual banquet in December featured the president of Central State College, Dr. Garland Godfrey, as guest speaker. The student chapter's activities were terminated in May by the annual picnic.

Chi Epsilon Recognized Excellence in Scholarship

Juniors, seniors and graduate students who were ranked in the upper one-third of their engineering classes were invited to become members of Chi Epsilon. Chi Epsilon is a national honorary society which recognizes those who excel in scholarship. Its members were enrolled in civil, architectural, and general engineering classes.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERS

New Facilities Shown by Chem E Majors

Students in the School of Chemical Engineering who enjoy social and scholastic benefits are invited to join the student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, which meets on the second and fourth Tuesdays in each month.

Some of the social highlights for the past year were the annual end-of-school picnic and party, where the students and faculty got together for informal recreation at Boomer Lake, and the more serious end-of-school banquet. The outstanding junior award was presented to Dan Forbes for being the top junior in the School of Chemical Engineering as well as in the College of Engineering.

Scholastically, the club has had guest speakers from various phases of the chemical and petroleum industries representing such diversified companies as Monsanto, Shell, Fisher Governor, Pan American Petroleum, Creslan, and Texaco. Lectures were also from prominent members of the faculty who spoke on various phases of the chemical engineer's life in school and on the job.

AICHE was active both during Parents Day and at Homecoming, when they offered coffee and tours of their new facilities.

The officers for the past year were Dale Schneider, president; Gary Heidebrecht, vice-president; Barry White, secretary; and Gerald Purcell, treasurer.

Engineering Gavel Club Had Members to Speak

Every Friday night members of Engineering Gavel Club gathered to improve their own speaking ability. The organization had no outside speakers; the three speakers at each meeting came from the club's membership. A favorite meeting was the annual ladies' night held once each semester when wives and dates were invited.

Pi Tau Sigma Conducted a Visitation Program

Pi Tau Sigma, an organization of mechanical engineering students, included in its activities a visitation program to Oklahoma junior colleges to inform interested students of engineering opportunities at OSU. Pi Tau Sigma also sponsored scholarships of $500 from Oklahoma engineering industries to outstanding mechanical engineering sophomores.

ETA KAPPA NU

Green Top Hats Distinguished Pledges

Eta Kappa Nu is an honorary electrical engineering fraternity open to the upper fourth of the junior electrical engineering class and the upper third of the senior class. Eta Kappa Nu pledges are best known on campus by their green top hats and by the crowd of members surrounding them inspecting their "goodie bags."

Among the honors achieved by Eta Kappa Nu was the first prize for the best engineering exhibit at the Engineering Exposition last year. Its activities included the annual student-faculty spring picnic and softball game highlighted by the presentation of an award to the outstanding sophomore and senior electrical engineer.

Omega chapter, chartered in 1930, represents the basic purpose of bringing into closer union men in the profession who have demonstrated high scholarship, a great capacity and willingness for hard work, and a deep interest in their chosen field. The past year had one of the largest memberships in the chapter's history. Meetings are held regularly, highlighted by guest speakers. Prominent lecturers have included representatives from IBM, Western Electric, and the Air Force weapons department.

Officers of Eta Kappa Nu were Earl Glimp, president; Delbert Duncan, vice-president; Dennis Hoffman, treasurer; and Dr. Jack Walden, advisor.

Annual Paper Contest Highlighted Year

The Oklahoma State Student Branch of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers is the national professional society for electrical engineering majors. Its primary purpose is to expand the professional horizons of its members. It serves to disseminate information on new developments and discoveries in the field of electricity and electronics.

The monthly meetings usually consist of speakers from industry and other areas that pertain to electrical engineering. Mr. L. A. Salazar from Western Electric, Andover, Massachusetts, spoke at the October meeting on the subject of lasers and masers. Cheryl Anderson was selected as the IEEE queen at the December meeting. The January meeting consisted of a panel discussion by engineers from the Tulsa section of IEEE. During February the group toured the Federal Aviation Agency and Western Electric facilities in Oklahoma City.

Members of the local IEEE chapter competed in the technical paper writing contest sponsored by the national IEEE. Last year an OSU student was a finalist. Other activities of OSU IEEE included entering an exhibit in the Engineering Exposition.

The Student Journal, which each member receives, contains both technical and non-technical subjects primarily designed for students. Other publications are made available to members who desire information on specific fields in electrical engineering.

trical engineering. One award is given each year through nation-wide competition. This award is sponsored by the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers.

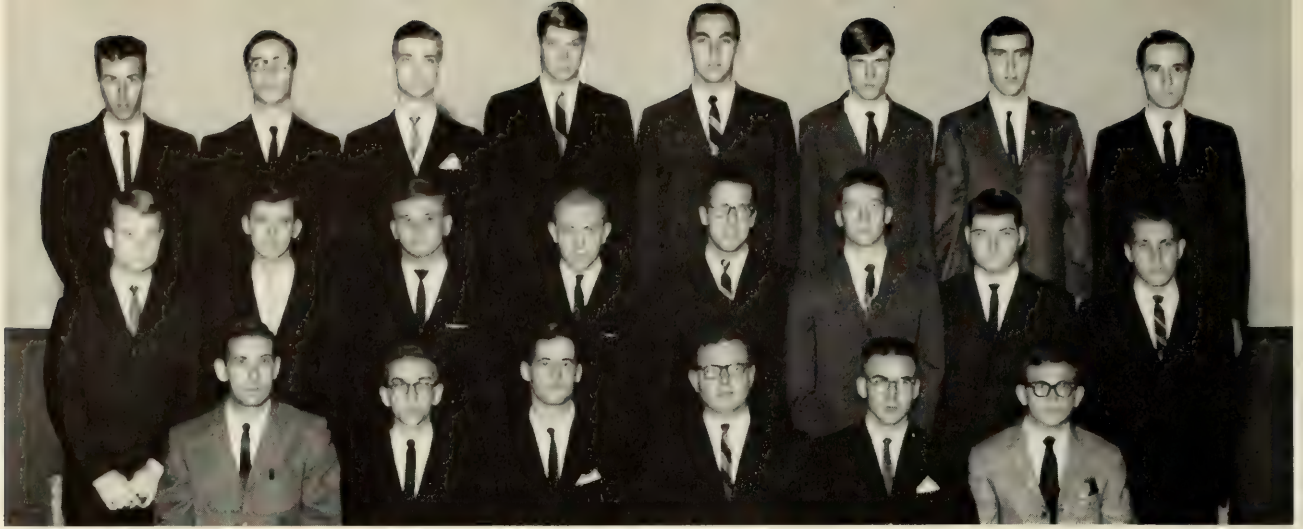

The membership for the 1965-1966 year consisted of over 200 electrical engineering majors and persons in related sciences. To be eligible for membership, a student must be enrolled in at least 30% of a full-time load in electrical engineering or related courses.

Society of Electronic Technicians Took 2 Trips

Spring semester for the Society of Electronic Engineering Technicians included two field trips. On February 15, the club went to Tinker Field to observe the new developments in electronics and to see what is to be encountered in industry after graduation. In March EET took its annual field trip to industries in Dallas, Texas.

Society of Mechanical Tech Visited Industries

To bring its members close to the needs of industry, the Society of Mechanical Technicians sponsored outstanding guest speakers at bi-monthly meetings and field trips to industries within the state. Places visited included the Cushing light plant, Phillips Petroleum Company, Bartlesville, and Transcon Freight Line in Oklahoma City.

SIGMA TAU

Outstanding Freshman Award Presented

Sigma Tau is the national honorary engineering fraternity. It was organized in 1904 for the purpose of recognizing scholarship and professional attainment. The membership of Sigma Tau consists of the upper one-third of the junior and senior engineering classes.

An engineering club for freshman and sophomore students was organized and sponsored by Sigma Tau, and an award was presented to the outstanding freshman student. Sigma Tau has also sponsored the Engineering Club at Eastern Oklahoma A&M College, Wilburton. Eastern students have been invited to Stillwater once each year to interest them in the engineering curriculum at Oklahoma State. Sigma Tau students, in return, visited the Eastern College campus to speak to transferring students. Among other activities was the teaching of the use of the slide rule.

At the last meeting in November, a queen was elected to represent the organization. Donna McElroy represented the club for the 1965-66 school year and was selected as a finalist for Engineering Queen.

Tau Iota Epsilon Issued Recognition Certificates

Tau Iota Epsilon is the scholastic and social fraternity of the Technical Institute. Certificates of recognition were given to outstanding members of the organization. An Outstanding Teacher Award was given in recognition of an excellent teacher in the Technical Institute. A plaque was given to recognize the student outstanding in grades.

Technical Drafting Club Was No. 1 in Nation

The Tech Drafting Club, now student chapter No. 1 of the American Institute for Design and Drafting, is organized to promote scholastic achievement and professional attitude among student draftsmen. At one meeting a panel discussion was held by OSU graduates on opportunities after graduation. Another panel discussed the armed forces.

KVRO

Staff Consisted of 47 Radio-TV Majors

KVRO 660 Radio provided the students of OSU the finest in "top forty" music from the KVRO 660 Survey by operating twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. "Kay" Radio is operated under the direction of the department of radio-television as a training ground for students who seek knowledge in the operation of a radio station. KVRO is staffed by students majoring in radio television and by other students interested in the broadcast media. All facets of the station operation are in the hands of the forty-seven students on the station's staff.

The KVRO news bureau continued its domination of the state-wide radio news spotlight by capturing seven United Press International awards last year and twenty such awards over the past three years. The 660 news bureau received wide recognition for its timely documentary, "The Students and the Senate," which dealt with the Student Senate-Board of Publications dispute.

The KVRO sports department carried all home football games as well as the Arkansas and Texas Tech games. Also, KVRO carried "play by play" action of Cowboy basketball and baseball.

The KVRO staff includes William M. Jack, general manager; Steve O'Neil, sales manager; Larry Smalley, program director; and Dr. R. P. Lacy, advisor.

HOME ECONOMICS CHAPTER

Membership Comes from 6 Departments

The Home Economics Chapter is a professional organization which works to promote a better understanding of the value of home economics; to provide opportunities for assuming leadership responsibilities; to correlate the work of the chapter with the state and national college chapters; and to provide a spirit of fellowship. It consists of the following six departments: family relations and child development; foods, nutrition, and institutional administration; clothing, textiles, and merchandising; home management; housing and interior design; and home economics education. The organization tries to maintain a sense of unity throughout the entire college.

The club enjoys monthly programs of a wide variety, featuring speakers, field trips, and social activities. The past year was off to a fine start with an old-fashioned ice cream social and a skit which helped acquaint new freshmen with the departmental clubs and the College of Home Economics. Succeeding highlights included a report from Karen Bone and Jo Ann Dill, who attended the National Home Economics Association convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey; reports by girls who had summer jobs related to the many fields of home economics; a Christmas party; and our spring project of contacting high school seniors interested in home economics. The year concluded in May to honor graduating seniors and award recipients.

Officers were Karen Bone, president; Jo Ann Dill, secretary; Nancy Dyer, treasurer; and Pauline Cunningham, advisor.

H & ID Club Visited Showrooms in Chicago

About twenty members of the Housing and Interior Design Club took the field trip to Chicago in March to visit the design show rooms and fabric houses and to view the architectural structures of the city. In round table discussions following the trip new ideas in interior and furniture design were presented to members of the club.

Omicron Nu Students Have Scholastic Records

Omicron Nu is an honor society for Home Economics students with high scholastic records. At this year's meetings the members, chosen from juniors, seniors, and graduate students, attended programs on research and how to work for a master's degree. Every other year an outstanding member is sent to the national conclave in Minneapolis.

CHINESE STUDENT ASSOCIATION

International Understanding Was Goal

The Chinese Student Association was formed on the OSU campus nine years ago. Since then it has strived to promote fellowship among all Chinese students on campus. Its ultimate goal is, as one of the many international groups on campus, to achieve an atmosphere of international understanding at Oklahoma State University.

Activities of the association included picnics and parties for the members and cultural events on campus. Welfare of the members, especially newcomers, was considered a part of the purpose of the association. Membership during the 1965-66 school year reached over one hundred people. Membership in the club is open to all students from China who have an interest in promoting friendship and understanding with students from all other nations.

A welcome party and the election of officers were held at the beginning of each semester. Through these activities, members, old and new, were able to become acquainted with the club and in its purposes and goals.

Serving as officers for the 1965-66 school year were Peter Chang, president; Li-Sung Pang, vice-president; Che-Ling Chung, secretary; Shin-Min Huang, treasurer, and Dennis Su, public relations advisor. Prof. Sidney Brown served the group as advisor.

INDIA STUDENTS CLUB

India Song, Poem Program Undertaken

To promote and encourage better understanding between the campus students from India and other countries has been the purpose of the India Students Club. The club also strived to promote goodwill, strengthen brotherly ties, and explain the OSU campus to students from their native country of India.

India Students Club worked toward its goal through participation in the International Talent Show, the International Exhibition, and various other functions that have taken place in the Student Union and were sponsored by the Student Union Activities Board. The club presented documentary films and motion pictures of India three times per semester. One time each semester a general get-together program was arranged by the club. The program was highlighted by songs and poem recitations given by club members in the various languages of India. All of these programs sponsored by the club members in the various lan-

The total membership of India Students Club reached 107 members, making it the largest international organization of its kind on campus.

Leaders of the India Students Club for the fall semester were Avinash K. Rangra, president; Suresh Chandra, secretary, and Ramesh Bakshi, treasurer.

ITTANAHA INDIAN CLUB

Knowledge of Tribal Cultures Gained

The continuing growth of the enrollment at OSU is reflected in the increasing number of American Indian students who come here to gain a better education.

With the desire to become educated is the need for Indians to have an outlet through which they may come to know other Indian students who share similar goals. With this purpose in mind, the Ittanaha Club was formed, not only to promote lasting friendships but to help Indian students gain a knowledge of other tribal cultures.

Membership is open to American Indian students who possess one thirty-second degree Indian blood. "In the Indian Youth is the Hope of the Indian Race," is the club motto.

Club members have taken part in the annual Homecoming parade and in the intramural sports program. A field trip was also included in the activities when the members drove to Pawnee to watch a Pawnee Indian ceremony and war dance.

Last year, the first annual Spring Pow-wow was held in the Animal Science Arena. Indians from the area were invited to participate to help the young students make the dance a success. The air that night was filled with drumming and singing in the oldest tradition of the American Indian.

Officers were Amos Black, president; Phillip Cross, vice-president, and Jan Sanders, secretary.

Organization of Arab Students Had Active Year

The club's activities were highlighted by interesting speeches, musical programs, radio programs, slides and exhibits, and Arab educational films presented to Oklahoma State University and to the people of Oklahoma.

The chapter's main objective was to foster better understanding among Arabs and American students.

Pakistan Students Celebrated Muslim Festival

The Pakistan Student Association's activities included regular meetings and parties and, the high-light of the year, celebration of one of the biggest Muslim festivals, Eidul-Azha. After the success of their palmistry stall at the Union Fair, the Pakistan students entered the International Talent Show and the Foreign Christmas program.

THAILAND STUDENT ASSOCIATION

Organizing Alumni Group Was Begun

The Thai Student Association attempted to further the knowledge of their country, their people, and their culture. During the past year cultural programs emphasizing the classical arts, the ancient heritage of Thailand and Thai people have been presented on the campus in addition to participation in the International Student Talent Show and International Art Exhibition. The Thai classical dance and folk dance were popular at the talent shows the past two years. The annual New Year's party on December 1, to which Thai students from other universities and colleges in the state of Oklahoma and friends from Oklahoma State were invited, has become a traditional ceremony. The group also enjoyed picnics and other informal gatherings. The Thai Student Association is presently encouraging the formation of an OSU alumni group in Thailand where there are already about fifty former OSU students.

The Thai Student Association was organized the fall semester of 1964 with 30 members. Last year there were 34 members who were OSU students and their dependents. Officers for the past year were Twee Hormchong, president; Tiriratana Sri-vuthana, vice-president; Pongsri Gadavanij, treasurer; Wijit Somsuan, secretary; Chirdchan Amatayakul, social chairman, and Dr. Harvey Chada and Prof. Chris White, advisors.

Kappa Kappa Psi Selected Top Chapter in Nation

Alpha chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity, was selected the outstanding chapter of 117 chapters across the nation at the biennial convention this past summer. This group, along with its sister sorority, serves as the backbone of the band and is of tremendous service in promoting morale and unity within the band.

University Men's Glee Club Was Reorganized

Professor Hoover Fisher, a former member of the University Men's Glee Club, directed the reorganization this year of the group which was also known as "The Singing Men of Oklahoma State." The singing group was composed of the men selected from all the colleges of the university. Programs ranged from classical to popular music.

WOMEN'S CHORAL CLUB

Choralettes Gave Special Performances

Women's Choral Club is a campus organization open to all university women who enjoy music and song. Major singing programs were performed at the annual Christmas Sing and the Spring Sing held in May. This year's membership was the largest in the organization's history. The year's activities ended with the Women's Choral concert held May 11.

For the second year, a smaller singing group within the chorus was established. Named the Choralettes, the girls sang at several banquets and conventions, including the Science Academy convention. Included in this group are Nancy Albritton, Gaye Clark, Sylvia Chumley, Bettye Dickson, Kerry Hickman, Sue Hunt, Phyllis Lakey, Patti Lewis, Judy Lee Nelson, Rita Owen, Rozen Patmon, Margot Purdin, Kathie Randolph, Mary Rauch, Paul Richardson, Marilyn Roads, Jan Roper, Mary Schrick, Christine Sheets, Winona Simms, Sherrel Stephens, Samme Taylor, Nancy Vicers, Connie Walter, Suanne Willis, and Lynn Woosley.

Large membership did not hamper the club's unity or harmonious singing.

Officers of the Choral Club this past year were Mary Rauch, president; Suzanne Ohan, vice-president; Kerry Hickman, secretary, and Judy Lee Nelson, accompanist. The Choral Club is under the direction of Cy Perkins.

OSU BAND

Joint Half-time Show Performed with TU

The Oklahoma State University Band had a very successful season in both marching and concert performances this past year. The year began with the annual get-acquainted picnic. Highlights of the marching season included performing a joint half-time show with the Tulsa University Band and a salute to John K. Long, composer of our "Ride 'Em Cowboys".

The most outstanding event of the marching season was the OU football game on December 4 at Norman. The formation of a large bell for the post-game ceremony of receiving, once again, the "Old Central Bell-Clapper" will go down in OSU history. Another trip for the traveling band was to Lawrence, Kansas, for the University of Kansas game that will be remembered for the necessity of departing in the darkness of 1 a.m.

Besides playing at football games, the OSU Band marched in the Homecoming parade and played at pep rallies, basketball games, wrestling matches, and other campus activities. The band's bright new uniforms aided in boosting the school spirit and general Oklahoma State enthusiasm.

A party was given for the band members before Christmas vacation. A brass choir and singers from the music department did their part to bring about the Christmas spirit on the campus by playing Christmas selections preceding the party.

Bright New Uniforms Boosted School Spirit

The concert band of eighty members played two home concerts during the second semester and five concerts on a two-day tour in north-western Oklahoma. Home concerts included outdoor programs near Theta Pond and playing at Commencement exercises. The concert wind ensemble gave two performances at the annual All-Oklahoma Band Clinic in December.

New uniforms, better rehearsal facilities, and longer rehearsal time enabled the Oklahoma State Band to have its best year in the history of the school.

Band officers were Dean Grant, president; Warren Sager, vice-president; Carolyn Kirkpatrick, secretary-treasurer, and Bryan Pollard, freshman representative.

At the annual spring band concert in front of Willard, graduating seniors in music led the band in new arrangements.

UNIVERSITY CHOIR

Auditions Determined Choir Membership

To create joy in singing and to increase stylistic perspectives and musical disciplines are the fundamental goals of the members of Oklahoma State's University Choir. Membership in the University Choir was open to the entire student body, with auditions being held twice a year prior to the beginning of each semester.

A two-day tour in February to present concerts to schools in Sand Springs, Broken Arrow, Bixby, Sapulpa, and Okmulgee was one of the high points of this year's activities. Later in the spring the choir performed Beethoven's "Ninth Symphony" with the Oklahoma City Symphony, under the direction of Guy Frasier Harrison, on April 5, 1966. The performance took place in Oklahoma City.

A third major activity of the University Choir was the annual Spring Choral Concert held on May 3, 1966. Other activities included performances in the Commencement Musicale, appearances at two meetings of the Oklahoma Music Educators, the Autumn Festival of Fine Arts, the Messiah Christmas Program, and many banquet programs held on campus throughout the year.

The conductor of the University Choir was professor Hoover Fisher. The officers this year were Suzanne Chapman, president; Diana Daugherty, secretary-treasurer; Barry Epperly, assistant director, and Kay Weibel, accompanist.

Presented this year at the Aquatic Club annual program was "Street News", a presentation of different routines depicting the many scenes encountered on any street. Regular and time-consuming practice through the year produced a polished production. Routines and special numbers range from solos to small groups to the all-cast finale.

OSU Bowling Team Won Men's Big 8 Trophy

The OSU Bowling Team started the year with the Men's Big 8 Traveling Trophy and the honor of being first in Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska Tournaments, first in Big 8 Tournament, and second in National Tournament. One of the men, Dave Duncan, was on the all-star team at Nationals. Gayle Clapp of the women's team attended WIBC Nationals in Oregon and ranked first in scoring with 169 in the Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska region. Top scorer in Big 8 men's division was Mike McCreary, with 192.

PE Majors and Minors Attended State Convention

The OAHPER convention in Oklahoma City highlighted the fall semester. Also, a tour was taken of the physical education facilities at Classen High School.

A variety of speakers included Miss Colvin and two former members who spoke on practical experiences in teaching. Kathy Dunn received the PEMM scholarship.

Sailing Club Members Try Their Hand on Sloops

The right wind, a blue sky, and Lake Carl Blackwell provide for the Sailing Club of OSU a perfect day for leaving the campus and setting sail. Two jib-headed sloops and three gaffrigged "Scampers" were sailed by all members for regattas, frostbiting, racing, instruction, and pleasure cruising. Instructional meetings were held regularly.

FLYING AGGIES

OSU Group Is Ranked No. 2 in Country

Courtesy cars going from the airport to the Student Union and back again were provided by members of Flying Aggies on Saturdays of home football games. Cars were run on a tip system, and were a major source of the club's income. The annual Penny-a-Pound Ride was held this year on December 12, 1965. Flying Aggies were responsible for flying the football team and cheerleaders to some of the out-of-state football games.

The biggest event of the fall semester was the Midwinter Air Meet, held November 4, 5, and 6. Schools from all over the midwest area, and from practically all over the United States, were represented at the meet. The power-off spot landing first place award was given to Randy McCoy of OSU. The Lee Alder award for the outstanding male and female Flying Aggie were presented to Jim Kelln and Carolyn Vaughan.

The Grover Loening award is presented to the flying group which has contributed most to aviation. OSU's Flying Aggies have received this award for the past nine years. It is ranked the number two flying group in the country, with ranking based on intercollegiate points. The national female pilot championship is held by Jo Petropoli of OSU.

Officers for the fall semester were Wendal Vaughan, president; Paul Frith, vice-president; Sally Morton, secretary, and Sharon Fisher, treasurer.

WOMEN'S RECREATION ASSOCIATION

Greeks and Independents Enjoyed Sports

The Women's Recreation Association, sponsors of women's intramural sports at OSU, strived to bring women's athletics into the circle of college life through competitive sports in both Greek and independent divisions. WRA sponsored such sports as volleyball, tennis, table tennis, basketball, swimming, softball, archery, and badminton. In addition to the women's intramural program, activities included a co-recreational volleyball tournament, an activity night, and, for the first time, the presentation of a scholarship to two WRA members. The recipients were Rita Alexander, junior physical education major, and Barbara Hill, sophomore history major.

Living groups and individuals competed for top honors such as the sportsmanship trophy or sports trophy given in the spring at the annual Women's Recreation Association Honors Banquet. Living groups or individuals were judged on a maximum number of points collected for first, second, or third place in each sports event. The highlight of the WRA year was the presentation of the traveling trophies to the sorority, pledge, and independent groups who accumulated the highest number of points in intramural sports.

Members of WRA were recognized at the Honors Banquet in May through presentation of the "O" awards, outstanding senior awards, and outstanding official awards.

Boys took ROTC, and girls took physical education courses, such as bowling. These courses were supervised by the HPER department of the school, while extra-curricular and intramural women's athletics were judged and regulated by the Association.

Active Sports Became a Part of College

OSU's chapter is one of 15 participating colleges in the Oklahoma Athletic and Recreation Federation for College Women. It hosted over 200 college women for the South Central Regional Conference in 1964. National conventions are held in odd years and the regional conventions are held in even years. This year WRA sent representatives to Denton, Texas, for the regional conference. The next national conference will be held at the University of Wisconsin.

Officers included Judy Orbison, president; Lynn Oberlender, vice-president; Carol Crow, secretary; Jean Cocks, business manager; Judy Shriver, publicity chairman, and Miss Ada Van Whitley, advisor.

Starting an annual series of WRA scholarships, Miss Whitley presented them to Rita Alexander and Barbara Hill.

OSU KARATE-DO CLUB

Beginning Classes Offered Each Semester

The OSU Karate-Do Club is a relatively new club on campus. Started in 1964, the club has gained a great deal of interest from many of the students. Last year the club won the 1964 All-Oklahoma University Championship held at Oklahoma University. This year the OSU club sponsored the 1965 Southwest University Championship.

The club offered beginning classes at the first of each semester. Here, new members were indoctrinated into the club and began working on basic techniques. New members were usually allowed to take part in demonstrations and tournaments during their second semester of classes. There were approximately 75 members, 15 of whom were girls.

The "gi" uniform worn in order to give freedom of movement to the body. The color of the belt designates rank, beginning with white, purple, green, brown and black. When tournaments are held fighters are matched according to belt rank.

Present day Karate has branched into three divisions—a physical art, self-defense and a competitive sport. To its serious exponents, Karate is something more—a philosophy or a means of contributing to the maturity of its participants.

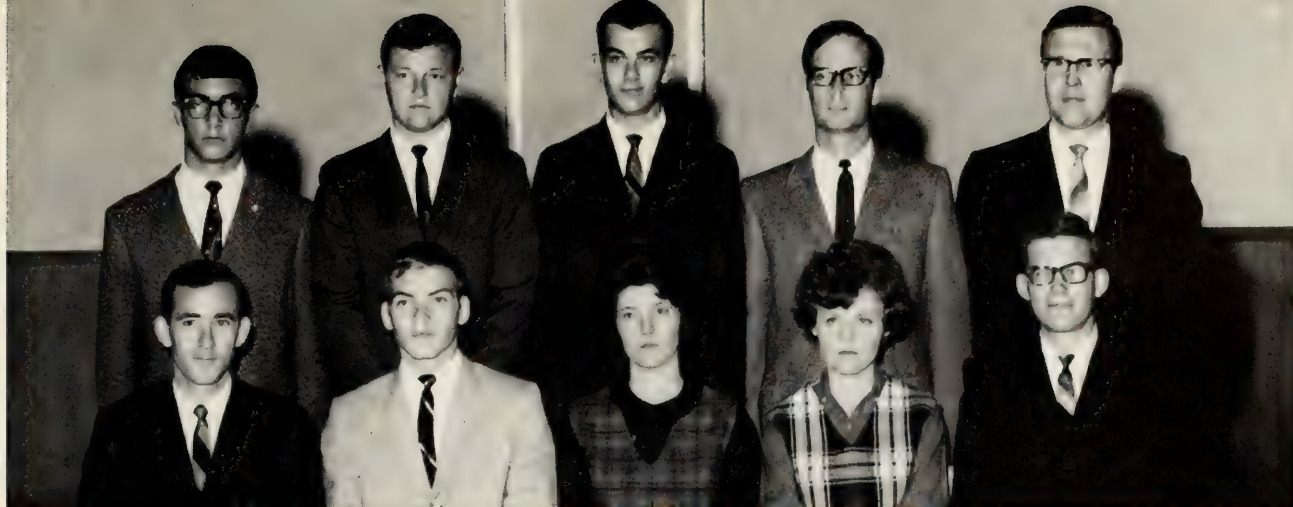

The 1965-66 officers were Dennis Duval, president and instructor; Dewey Williams, vice-president, and Mike Goins, treasurer.

Student Affiliates of American Chemical Society

Through guest speakers, field trips, and other activities, the Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society attempt to inform undergraduate members of developments in all fields of chemistry as well as the positions available for the graduate. The goal of the society is to create a better understanding of chemistry.

Phi Lambda Upsilon Helped Chemistry Research

Phi Lambda Upsilon was founded to further research in chemistry. The honorary chemical society consists of both graduate and undergraduate students, as well as faculty members in chemical fields. The club enthusiastically promotes high scholarship and original investigation in all branches of pure and applied chemistry.

CAMPUS CRUSADE

Students Prepare for Christian Service

Campus Crusade for Christ is an interdenominational student Christian movement which began in 1951 at UCLA. Since then it has expanded to many of the leading campuses across the nation and to 13 other countries.

The primary purpose of Campus Crusade is to communicate the claims of Jesus Christ and their relevancy to the collegians of this generation.

This purpose is carried out through "College Life", a weekly meeting in which business and professional men and students relate their personal experiences in the Christian life. Speakers have been Russell McKnight, manufacturing sales representative, Dr. Jack Hough of Oklahoma City, and Senator Cleeta John Rogers.

In December, John and Lynne Flack, who travel to college campuses throughout America speaking in fraternities, sororities, and other living groups, were on campus.

The special weekend speaker for the fall College Life conference was Ralph Alexander, who is working toward his doctorate in Semitics and Old Testament. He has completed one year of study at Hebrew University in Jerusalem on Biblical Archaeology.

Four-week leadership training classes were conducted for students who desire that their Christian commitment become more consistent.

Campus Crusade director is Toby Blalock, and assistant director is Marianne Strumas.

Campus Crusade is a non-denominational national and local organization of college students that is devoted to a study of Christian religions. Meeting weekly, the group heard faculty members, local students relate their own life with Christ.

CHI ALPHA

Group Attended Fall and Spring Retreats

Chi Alpha started off the year with a membership drive in the Student Union. Reverend Lee Shultz, national secretary for Revival Time, was the guest speaker.

OSU members participated in a joint retreat with the Chi Alpha chapter in Norman. The spring retreat held at Siloam Springs, Arkansas, was attended by chapters from Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma. Four weekend evangelistic revivals were held during the year.

Weekly meetings were held at Bennett Chapel. Both the meetings and panel discussions were open to all.

Much of the chapters efforts were centered around fund raising projects for the purpose of a chapter house. Activities such as car washes and a bean supper were held with hopes of having a new house within a year.

Efforts were also made to establish an alumni organization in Stillwater.

Chi Alpha, the collegiate organization of the National Christs Ambassadors department of the Assemblies of God, serves as a link between the college students and the Assemblies of God churches in Stillwater. It meets the four-fold emphasis of worship, training, fellowship, and service.

Officers for the past year were William Dawson, president; Laurie McGrouty, vice-president, and Charlotte Braswell, secretary.

GAMMA DELTA

Chapter Helped on International Project

Gamma Delta is an international organization of Lutheran students with the purpose of preparing the student for Christian service and responsibility to his community. To further this goal, OSU's Beta Sigma chapter developed a program centered around issues which confront the individual today. Community service programs included the sponsoring of a play group for many grade school children, Evangelism programs, and campus Lutheran vespers each week. Meetings included panel discussions on the role of today's young adults in America, a Christmas drama, "The Visit of God", enacted by the students, current films, and fellowship.

Extending their purpose, Beta Sigma contributed to the international project, the Lutheran Prince of Peace Corps. This organization, with headquarters in Chicago, trains college age people to go into intercities and work in slum areas. By working with the schools and welfare centers there, the students are given a chance to meet and help the underprivileged. Some Beta Sigma members participated in this program and were greatly impressed with its scope and achievement in human relations.

Officers of Gamma Delta at OSU were Dave Kunneman, president; Randy McCoy, vice-president; Sharon Godden, secretary; Kathryn Schuette, treasurer, and Dave Ingroff, minister of the youth.

Kappa Phi Celebrated Its Fiftieth Anniversary

Kappa Phi is a service oriented organization for Methodist and Methodist-preference college women. This year Theta chapter, along with thirty-two other chapters across the country, is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their founding at the University of Kansas. Homecoming's "Refresher 75" was co-sponsored by Kappa Phi.

Sigma Theta Epsilon Tutored IOA Ranch Boys

A year-long service project was taken on by Sigma Theta Epsilon, service organization for Methodist-preference men. Boys from the Individual Opportunity for Achievement Ranch in Perkins were brought to OSU for visits and were tutored by club members. At Homecoming Sigma Theta Epsilon set up a booth to serve hot coffee.

BSU EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Activities Calendar Was Varied and Full

Activities are abundant at the Baptist Student Union with a fall retreat at Camp Redlands, a spring retreat at Roman Nose State Park, a state BSU convention in Tulsa, and a missions conference in Fort Worth, Texas.

Also members participated in a banquet for international students, sponsored an International Tea, and won first place in the non-living groups division of Homecoming decorations.

Events on the social calendar were the Winter Carnival, the Round-Up Party, the Witch Hunt, and the spring picnic. Work Days were held to raise money for summer missions.

To all college students the BSU offered vespers at 6:30 on Monday, Tuesday Thursday, and Friday evenings.

A wide variety of speakers included Clyde Clayton, state BSU director, Dr. David Berkeley, Dr. James Scales, Larry Hansen, Ray Pruitt, and summer missionaries.

Three OSU students held state offices: Myra Rainey, secretary; Bill Gentry, Evangelism, and Judy Stephens, missions.

Leaders for the past year were Marvin Applewhite, president; Shirley Flanagan, vice-president; Myra Rainey, secretary; Kerry Bessemer, treasurer; John Scales, director; Reverend Boydston, pastor advisor; and Dr. Milton Usry, faculty advisor.

Sigma Tau Delta Revised 1965 Soliloquy Format

Major project for Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, is sponsorship of the publication and distribution of Soliloquy, the campus literary magazine. The format of Soliloquy was revised the first edition, and this year the magazine was further expanded by the production of two issues a year. Issues consist of students' work, with selection principally based on originality. Sigma Tau Delta meetings are held in professors' homes where chief literary masterpieces are discussed.

Theta Sigma Phi Matrix Table Highlighted Spring

A small group with a lot of potential, describes Theta Sigma Phi. Co-sponsors of Varsity Revue, the Theta Sigs put close to a semester's work into the planning and coordi-

American Institute of Architects Designed Cards

Christmas cards designed by members of AIA were sold for a money making project. Part of the proceeds were set aside for contribution to a scholarship fund.

Many of the speakers were from the various departments within the school. In the spring a field trip for the purpose of studying architecture was taken.

Beta Chi Sigma Aided Grads in Job Placement

Beta Chi Sigma, building construction society, is a professional organization which is open to students enrolled in the construction technology curriculum. It is designed to provide its members a broader education by means of lectures and field trips. The opportunity is opened to participate in intramural sports as a club. After graduation members are aided in placement in industry.

Various social functions are also provided for members. A 2.5 grade average is required for membership in Beta Chi Sigma.

PHI DELTA MU

International Honor Society Petitioned

Phi Delta Mu is the Oklahoma State University pre-medical sciences honor fraternity. It is open to all medical science students with a 2.5 grade average. The fraternity strives to aid the student in his studies by offering programs in medicine and by providing a means by which the student can express his medical and professional interests.

Presently, Phi Delta Mu is in the process of acquiring a charter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, the international pre-medical honor society. It will be in conjunction with the present fraternity, but will act as the honor society for the more ambitious students who meets its intellectual and leadership qualifications. This will not only benefit the medical science students but it will also benefit the university, due to the national recognition it will receive.

This year the club sponsored various speakers, trips and films for the advantage of the members. Dr. Philip E. Smith, associate dean of the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine, spoke to members in October about medical school and its requirements.

Officers who served the club this past year included George Thompson, president; Neal Suthers, vice-president; Perry Taaca, secretary; John Rea, treasurer; Dr. Bryan P. Glass, advisor.

Med Tech Society Had Hospital, Clinic Speakers

The Medical Technology Society, founded in 1963, aims to further interest in medical technology and microbiology and to keep students in these fields informed on various educational and professional opportunities. Speakers from hospitals, clinics, laboratories, and pharmaceutical companies speak at the society's monthly meetings.

Little Sisters of Minerva, Girls' Auxiliary of SAE

The girls who were dressed in white blazers and black skirts and were selling programs at the basketball games were the Little Sisters of Minerva, girls' service auxiliary of Sigma Al-

STUDENT ENTERTAINERS

Girls Gave Show to All Oklahoma Bases

This school sponsored organization provided student employment opportunities, and developed student talents and confidence through public performance, while furnishing entertainment for community civic clubs, schools, and churches. The increasing demand suggested the opportunity of these groups.

As their part in the war effort, the student entertainers furnished an all-girls show free of charge to every military installation in Oklahoma. OSU is indebted to the outstanding students who have supported this worthy project. The girls felt that since the men of the armed forces were doing so much for others that this was a way to express their appreciation.

Oklahoma State University's Student Entertainers have been rendering a community service for 29 years.

Many former entertainers are holding lucrative positions in show business today. Through this group much valuable experience can be obtained. Any Oklahoma State University student may learn as he earns by traveling with the Student Entertainers.

Officers of the Sigma Epsilon Sigma chapter for the past year were Chet Willey, president; Suzanne Inciardi, vice-president; Jacque Foster, secretary and treasurer, and Ashley Alexander, faculty advisor.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

1966 Republican Speakers Visited Campus

"Preparation" and "education" are two words to describe the 1965-66 Oklahoma State University Young Republicans Club. Preparation applies specifically to preparing for the 1966 November elections. Young Republicans got first-hand information about possible Republican candidates for governor and senator from the candidates themselves. Most of the Republican "hopefuls" visited the OSU campus and spoke to the Young Republicans, expressing their personal views and describing their own qualifications.

Education is a never-ending function of the Young Republicans. Prominent Republicans from around the state explained the workings of our state government and showed how a person can serve his party and government well.

Two state Young Republican conventions and one national convention enabled members to participate actively in writing party platforms and in electing state and national officers. A well-informed and capable citizen is the goal of this education.

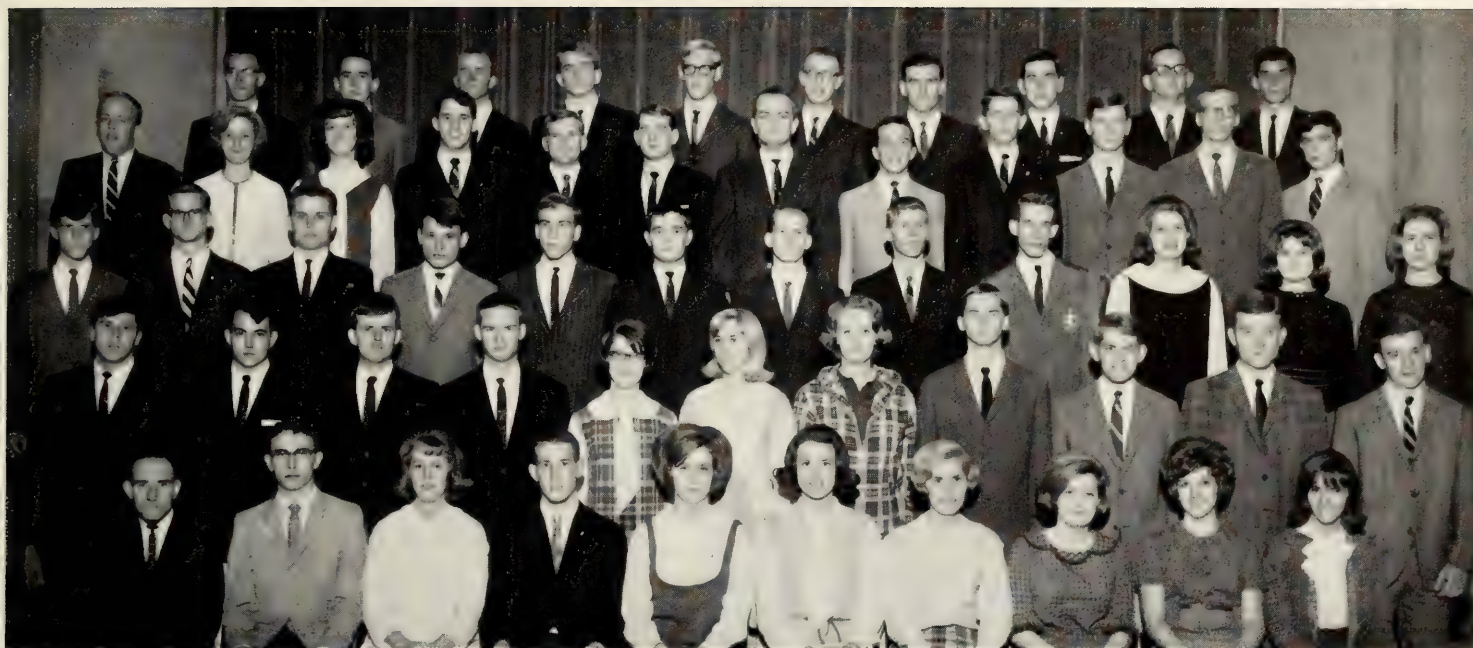

The OSU Young Republicans Chapter, in addition to being the largest organization on campus, is the largest in the state. It attempts to work hand-in-hand with the senior Republican party in all aspects of Oklahoma politics, from precinct work to the State Republican Convention. Many of the club's former members hold high positions in the senior party, such as Bob Bird, second vice-president of the state organization. A few of the speakers who visited the club this year were Edward Mat-

Pi Alpha Mu Took 4-day Field Trip to Chicago

Pi Alpha Mu, an honorary advertising fraternity acquaints students with the fast moving pace of the advertising world. On a 4-day field trip to Chicago, students toured a metropolitan newspaper and ad agency. Pi Alpha Mu also sponsored a 7-man panel seminar with representatives from three Oklahoma City agencies.

The major project was the publication of a Fall and Spring Sports Spectacular. Part of the proceeds were presented to the journalism school in the form of a $300 scholarship.

Sigma Delta Chi Co-Sponsored Varsity Revue

Working with the Stillwater Chamber of Commerce, the Student Industrial Arts Association repaired toys at Christmas that were given to underprivileged children. The organization took several field trips during the year to study different industrial arts processes. SIAA entered their own teams in intramural competition.

Pi Mu Epsilon Promoted True Math Scholarship

The promotion of true scholarship, particularly in the field of mathematics, was the purpose of Pi Mu Epsilon. To be eligible for membership students must have completed six hours of math and be enrolled in three more, for a total of 9 hours beyond calculus. A 3.5 in math courses and a 3.0 overall was required of all members.

Oklahoma Tech's new 300-man dual-wing dormitory provides additional housing facilities for the increasing student population.

Tech Students Put Theory Into Practice

The type of training offered at Oklahoma State Tech, provides men and women with knowledge and skills not only to have the technological know-how but the experience of putting theory into practice.

More than 20,000 students have studied at Tech during its 18 years of operation. The school is a branch of Oklahoma State University. Its sprawling campus has 17 acres under roof, housing classrooms for 33 different skills. Each course was established at the request of an association or industry.

Tradition at Tech has been abandoned for practicability. Only skills and theories are taught that will provide graduates with salable skills in the actual work-a-day world.

Critical need for technicians in the refrigeration and air conditioning fields draws an increasing number of men to Tech.

Working on diesel equipment becomes valuable skill as students progress from engine principles to actual work in customer service.

The new $302,902 classroom building at Oklahoma State Tech features the most modern in electronic equipment.

Modern instructional equipment prepares electronics graduates at Tech for transition into industry.

Young women at Oklahoma State Tech are offered artistic courses leading to potential careers in commercial art.

Pursuing knowledge for careers in the foods service industry, culinary arts and baking students produce prize winning confections.

All types of equipment found in industry are employed in the modern automotive shops at Oklahoma State Tech.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

Section Was Contender for Bendix Award

The Student Section of ASME was one of the most active student technical societies at OSU. An interesting variety of programs, field trips to industrial and technical institutions, a spring picnic, cash competition in technical paper contests and annual participation in the OSU Engineering Exposition were a few of the rewarding activities which ASME members enjoyed. Monthly programs and industrial visitations were planned to entertain and educate mechanical engineering students of all interests—aeronautical, petroleum, design, and power.

ASME was awarded second place in student exhibit competition at the 1966 Engineering Exposition. The OSU section was also a contender for the "Bendix Award," presented annually to the outstanding ASME section in this region. Members may compete in technical paper contests at regional and national conferences of ASME.

Through this variety of activities the members of ASME benefited directly from a technical organization with these two main objectives: to promote fellowship among engineering students and to further engineering practices.

CHAPTER SEVEN

RESIDENCES

Cowboy Week was new and different this year, and when each residence was asked to adopt the theme for a while, the Theta's took part wholeheartedly.

Personal servitude has been abolished for a long time. But the pledges were always happy to do favors for members any time of the day or night.

Fraternities and Sororities

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

OSU Host Big 8 Panhellenic Convention

The Panhellenic Council, with two representatives from each of the eleven sororities on campus, has as its national aims the attainment of cooperation between Greek living groups and university rules and authorities. Working with a sponsor from the faculty, the dean of women, Panhellenic seeks to further the interests of Greek women in a scholastic atmosphere. With IFC, Panhellenic coordinates activities for the Greek living groups.

Activities of the Panhellenic groups were quite varied. The Big 8 Greek convention was held at State this year with Panhellenic as hostess. Scholarship awards were offered to the sorority with highest grades on campus. During the Christmas season, Panhellenic sponsored a project to send Christmas cards and small presents to American soldiers in South Vietnam. Spring reception saw the delivery of several awards from Panhellenic to the sororities. With IFC, the council helped plan Greek Week and the annual Spring Sing involving all the Greek groups. Panhellenic also sponsored Jr. Panhellenic Council, made up of representatives from sorority pledge classes.

One of the prime concerns of Panhellenic is the supervision of formal fall rush. Rush booklets are produced and distributed to all rushees during the summer. Each year, rush rules are revised and voted upon by all the sororities. Rules and procedures during rush are supervised by Panhellenic members.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

Exec Council Attended NIC Convention

The goal of the Interfraternity Council at Oklahoma State is to promote public relations and to project the contributions of the individual fraternities to the campus and the community. IFC is composed of all fraternity presidents and one elected representative from each of the twenty-five houses, and it governs and enforces all regulations controlling the activities of the houses in their relation with the campus.

This year many worthwhile service projects were carried on by the member fraternities and by the council itself. The personal possessions of Frank Eaton, "Pistol Pete", and the National Interfraternity Council's World's Fair Exhibit were displayed in the Union. The Junior Iron Man Award offers a stimulus for pledge classes to work on many service projects, such as cleaning the campus after an election. The main activities sponsored by IFC were Greek Week, the All-Campus Art Show at the Sigma Chi house, Spring Sing, and the Spring Leadership Workshop.

The executive council traveled to Washington, D.C. in December to attend the NIC Convention. Many new ideas and goals were evaluated at this conference. Members of the exec council were president, Gale Wilkerson, Delta Tau Delta; vice-president, Mike Christ, Sigma Nu; secretary, Jim Blazer, Sigma Phi Epsilon; treasurer, Phil Romero, Phi Kappa Tau; advisor, Darrel K. Troxel.

Jr. Panhellenic Gave Christmas Party for the Aged

Junior Panhellenic, consisting of two representatives from each sorority pledge class, worked with campus Panhellenic to promote better understanding among sororities. Women cooperate in activities in which the Greek system participates.

The girls enjoyed a coke party with JIFC, and a Christmas program for the aged. Promoting better relations with independent women, a party was held in the Union. All pledge classes attended and brought, as their guests, unaffiliated friends.

Junior IFC Promoted Interfraternity Relations

Comprised of fraternity pledge class presidents and one delegate, the Junior Inter-Fraternity Council strove to promote better relations among themselves, thus maturing toward fraternity ideals. The officers for 1965-66 JIFC were president, Steve Kuykendal; vice-president, Lynn Surratt; secretary, Joe Spencer; treasurer, Gary Cottongim.

Women Sponsored Leadership Workshop

Planning and guiding the activities of the women's residence halls is the job of the Women's Residence Hall Association. Presidents and representatives from the ten living groups comprise the membership of the organization. Eight elected officers serve to coordinate activities among the women's groups, the campus, and the men's living groups.

Women's Residence Hall Association and the Men's Residence Hall Association co-sponsored the Residence Halls Week in the early spring with such activities as a picnic, exchange dinner, games day, a leadership seminar, and a hootenanny. A training program for newly-elected officers and prospective officers was held in May, and a scholarship banquet for women with a 3.0 grade average was planned. The all-campus Christmas dance held in the Student Union Ballroom was planned by WRHA in cooperation with MRHA. Women in residence halls competed for a scholarship offered every year by the Women's Residence Hall Association.

Annette Truman headed the officer cabinet of WRHA as president this year. Diana Daugherty was vice-president, Linda Olsen served as secretary and Kathy Farnam was treasurer. Planning entertainment was Diana Montgomery, social chairman, while Sharon Barbee edited the newsletter. Martha Merritt served in the Student Senate.

MEN'S RESIDENCE HALL ASSOCIATION

Watermelon Feed Highlighted Year

Men's Residence Hall Association is comprised of 3,000 men living in the residence halls and new Single Men's Apartments. The council is made up of hall presidents, a delegate at large from each hall and five executive officers. The purposes of MRHA are acting as the governing body for the men's halls and coordinating the activities of the residence halls at Oklahoma State University.

MRHA stressed scholarship through presentation of trophies to the halls with the highest grade point average. The first semester honor students were feted with an Honors Banquet.

New projects were enjoyed by many. The school year began with a watermelon feed and dance. Football season was highlighted with bus trips to out-of-town games. OSU spirit was really boosted with the orange Cowboy hat sale. The association showed films in the Student Union Theater during Religious Emphasis Week.

Joining with the Women's Residence Hall Association, the men held an all-campus Winter Wonderland dance. They also co-sponsored National Residence Halls Week.

Highlighting the year was the selection of Men's Residence Hall Association Queen, Judy Freeman. Association officers were president Mike Johnson; vice-pres. Joe McKaskle; sec. Ron Osterhout; treas. Jerry Reynolds.

CHAPTER EIGHT

CLASSES

Terry Denton, mild-mannered student politician for a great mid-western university, took full advantage of the annual Senate-sponsored Gripe week.

The browsing room was designed to be a very comfortable room for those who like to get away from it all, and many times this was a quick forty winks.

CHAPTER NINE

ADS AND INDICES

The new Platter Shop, with its unique advertising, was just one addition to the new Union. With artists like Streisand, who could resist buying albums.

With its new facilities the Union is no less than an adventure land. For vivacious students, getting to know the Union can be quite an experience.

STRIVING FOR PERFECTION

For over Fifty years Oklahoma Natural Gas Company has been striving for that nearly unattainable state . . . perfection. From an humble beginning in 1906 we have been serving the people of Oklahoma and now have over 2,000 employees, many working the clock around . . . with one thought in mind . . . to give the best possible service at the lowest possible price. A century of progress in the oil industry has seen many innovations which have made the search for and the production and distribution of oil and gas the third largest industry in the United States. Oklahoma Natural Gas Company will continue to contribute to the growth and improvement of the industry and will continue to strive for . . . perfection. ♡

Dear People . . .

Though I was editor, I can't take full credit for the book. There were a handful of people that my hat goes off to. First and foremost, to Mr. and Mrs. J. T. White of Dallas and California, without whose help and cooperation their son would have not been here. Then to the girls, Cathleen Yordi, associate, Jennifer Lamb, assistant, and LC (Lawanda Connally), secretary, who helped me throughout the year. The Student Publications Department was great, too, with help and advice from Mr. E. L. Woodson, director, and Mrs. Pam Rogers, secretary. As an engineer, I would have been lost, journalistically, had it not been for the technical advice of Miss Gene McRae and Mr. R. C. Walker of Southwestern Engraving Company in Tulsa, Mr. Bill Bywater of Economy Advertising Company in Iowa City, Iowa, and Mr. Hal Payne of Durand Manufacturing Company in Chicago.

We started to work in September with the appointment of the editorial staff and the hiring of LC. We took pictures in the ballroom, helped by the pledges of Pi Kappa Alpha. We checked in, filed, and numbered almost 14,000 pictures between Thanksgiving and Christmas. With the girls and Terry Denton, we stayed four days into the Christmas break for that. Then we hit the typewriters, and stayed into semester break to meet a copy deadline. This time we were helped by the whole Phi Psi colony.

To the section editors I give my heartfelt thanks. These people took it upon themselves to get and write copy, schedule pictures, and type up everything to be sent in. These were: leaders, Terry Denton; beauties, Skip Greer; publications, Bill Elder; athletics and ROTC, Barney Lehmbeck and assistant George O'Reilly; organizations, Anne Cox and Connie Moyers; residences, Janet Williams and assistant Barbara Lynch; index, Nancy McDaniels; and distribution, Ron Scribner.

We also had innumerable people to come in to work on staff—filing, typing, running errands, getting cokes and sugar cookies, and other odd jobs. They were too numerous to mention, but I must thank the Pikes, Kappas, and KD's that were in a big majority a lot of the time down here.

We would have been nothing without pictures, and I wish to thank the staff photographers, Barry Blackman, Bob Dimery, and Barry Truel. Mr. Paul McCrary of the University Photo Service helped us out greatly on many of the residence features and half the organizations. Osborn's Studio took the individual pictures for the classes and residences sections, and the other half of the organizations. Mr. Bob McCormack of McCormack's Studio in Tulsa shot the REDSKIN Beauties. Mr. McCrary, Barry Blackman, Dick Darling, and Mr. George Stewart of Stewart's Photo Lab in Oklahoma City took the color shots in the opening section. Mr. Royce Craig of the Tulsa Tribune took the Aerial shot of the campus for the end sheets.

And so, people, I give you REDSKIN 1966.
